AWAIT CALL TO RANSOM WIFE

AWAIT ACTION OF ROOSEVELT ON INFLATION

Market Hint Causes Price Rises.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—As stock and grain markets had another booming day, mystery deepened in the capital today as to President Roosevelt's motive in making known at this time his belief that prices must go higher.

There was no doubt anywhere that the rises in the markets were caused directly by disclosure of the President's attitude. After substantial boosts yesterday, grains went up today with rises ranging up to 3⅝ cents; stocks advanced 1 to 4 points; cotton was up $1.50 a bale; bar silver went to a new high of 53⅝ cents an ounce.

Attitude Undisclosed.

This was reflective of speculators' ideas that Mr. Roosevelt intends to resort to further manipulations of the currency in order to gain still higher prices. But the President has not disclosed his attitude on this score. He has given private assurances to bankers—at least the bankers thought they were assurances—that he contemplates no immediate changes in his monetary policy.

So there was quite a mystery all over the capital today as to why the President's views on prices should have been made known yesterday.

Senator Robert J. Bulkley [Dem., Ohio], a member of the banking and currency committee, was a White House visitor today and after spending a quarter hour with the President sounded off to reporters with an opinion that foresaw the possibility of further devaluation of the dollar.

Hits at Devaluation.

"I think," he said, "that further legislation may be necessary to devalue the gold content of the dollar to raise the price level. You cannot dismiss the possibility of this devaluing of the gold dollar."

The Ohio senator indicated the possibility that Mr. Roosevelt may use his existing power to bring the gold value to 50 cents, as compared with the old gold standard dollar. At present the dollar value is 59 per cent of the old.

But there is no support for such action to be gleaned from reliable sources in the monetarian brain trust. Prof. George F. Warren, the Cornell agricultural economist whose scheme for dollar devaluation was followed by the President, spent an hour with Mr. Roosevelt this afternoon. He declined to comment on any monetary matters, but it was reported he acquainted the President with the results of his agricultural studies in Europe.

Seeks Post for West.

As for Mr. Bulkley, it was learned that his chief purpose in seeing the President was to promote his defeated colleague, Representative Charles West, as a candidate for appointment as director of the budget. Mr. West is a New Dealer who was beaten in a race for the Democratic nomination for senator from Ohio.

There have been reports that the President is disturbed by England's action in withdrawing support from the pound sterling. The pound has been sagging of late in relation to the dollar, and if it drops much lower it may have an adverse effect on the foreign trade of the United States. This brought a suggestion that Mr. Roosevelt may be putting out a reminder to England that he is as ready as England might be to engage in a monetary contest.

Reports English Progress.

Prof. Warren was induced to comment on conditions abroad.

"In England," he observed, "conditions are quite cheerful. There is a lot of building construction under way in that country. England is the one bright spot in the European situation at the present time. The whole of the continent is not making as good strides."

Asked if he thought France would go off the gold standard, he replied, "I wish I knew myself."

W. Walker Williams of Seattle, Wash., retiring president of the Mortgage Bankers' Association of America, left the White House today after a conference with President Roosevelt expressing an opinion that the President desires to have the government get out of the lending business as soon as private agencies can carry the burden of the mortgage business.

Hamburger Too Cheap; He Changes Name to Hamburg

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 11.—(AP)—On the petition that he was made the butt of gibes and jokes because "of that conglomeration of chopped meat for persons of meager means," Wilbur Hamburger today was granted the right in Superior court to change his name to Hamburg.

JUGO-SLAVS RIOT AGAINST ITALY IN FOUR CITIES

Mob Shouts 'Down with Mussolini!'

BY DAVID DARRAH.

In at least four cities mobs struck blindly at their country's neighbor and principal enemy—Italy—not knowing nor seeming to care whether the responsibility for the murder of their monarch was actually Italy's. In other communities Croatians, one of Jugo-Slavia's dissident minority groups, suffered from the rising fury on the strength of evidence which indicates the Marseilles assassin may have been a Croatian.

Stone Italian Consulate.

And in one town—Subotica—copies of newspapers published in Hungary, another neighbor and also regarded as an enemy, were seized and burned by a shrieking crowd.

Sarajevo, where the world war was ignited in 1914, was the scene of one anti-Italian demonstration. Rioters stoned the Italian consulate. Then they moved on and smashed the windows in the Croatian society building. It was reported here tonight that the postoffice also had been bombed.

One of the most serious outbreaks occurred at Ljubljana. The Italian consulate was stormed and the consular secretary was beaten by the mob. Police rescued the Italian before he was seriously injured and escorted him home through crowds which yelled epithets against Italy, Premier Mussolini and all other things Italian. One report, which reached here from Vienna late tonight, said an Italian store had been partially destroyed by a Ljubljana mob.

Cry "Down with Mussolini!"

The same kind of a demonstration occurred at Zagreb Tuesday night, but the news was suppressed until today.

On that occasion, before many of the circumstances of Alexander's death were known, a crowd gathered before the Italian consulate, shouting: "Down with Mussolini! Down with Italy!"

A police cordon protected the consulate from damage.

Tonight it was feared another demonstration against the Italian consulate at Zagreb was brewing. Heavy guards, however, made any attempt to storm the building appear hazardous. A Croatian store in the main square was attacked. It did not exhibit the king's picture, and the mob retaliated by smashing its display windows and their contents.

At the town of Split huge crowds gathered and took their spite out on several Italian ships by attacking the vessels. Several ships were damaged. In Osiek a mob sacked the plant of a Croatian newspaper.

Acts to Curb Disorders.

With the tide of popular anger rising, the new regency governing the country took steps to snuff out dangerous anti-Italian outbreaks tomorrow and during the tense days preceding Alexander's burial. Orders were given for troops to assist police, if necessary, in keeping order.

As the grief stricken kingdom entered a six months' period of mourning today, both houses of parliament sat as a national assembly and proclaimed their loyalty to the new titular head of the Jugo-Slavs, boy King Peter II., who is enroute to Belgrade from Paris with his mother, Queen Marie, and his grandmother, Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania.

Appearance of Scholar.

"I promise to uphold the constitution and will do everything to justify my position and not betray the faith of my people," he said. "I think you have not made a mistake in me."

The prince, a mild mannered young man with the mien of a scholar, presents a contrast to the military bearing of the late king. He is popular in Jugo-Slavia.

The cabinet placed its resignation at the disposal of the regency, but it was rejected. The parliament meanwhile decreed that the assassinated monarch should hereafter be referred to as "King Alexander I., heroic and

MUTE'S DRAWING IDENTIFIES HER AFTER 5 MONTHS

Racine, Wis., police harked back yesterday to the "picture writing" of primitive days to identify a woman, about 55 years old, who has been in their custody—nameless—since last July 6.

On that day she was found on a highway near the Milwaukee county line. The woman, they soon discovered, was a deaf-mute.

But deaf-mute sign language experts who were called in were unable to make her understand. Nor was the woman able to write her name and address for the officers. Week after week she stayed at the jail and all efforts to identify her failed.

Yesterday Deputy Sherif Russell McIlrath gave her paper and pencil again and the woman began to draw pictures. She drew a sketch of an elevated railroad, a double deck bus, and a cemetery with a house near by.

"It looks like Irving Park in Chicago," exclaimed McIlrath.

Policeman Michael Hanrahan of Chicago was called to Racine, and he and McIlrath drove the woman to Irving Park. In a short while the correct house was found and the woman was identified as Miss Helen Bailey, who had been living in the "house near the cemetery" at 5315 Melrose street with her sister.

Having been born in Hungary, Miss Bailey could not write English nor understand the sign language current in this country.

2 POLICE KILLERS ARE EXECUTED IN COUNTY JAIL

Alonzo McNeill, 29 years old, and George Walker, 20 years old, both Negroes, died in the electric chair at the county jail a few minutes after midnight for the murder during a holdup last April of Policeman John Officer, also a Negro.

Last minute appeals for executive clemency failed. Gov. Horner, in refusing a petition for commutation of sentence, said the evidence showed that Policeman Officer was in uniform and acting in the performance of his duty at the time of his death.

Policeman Officer was slain on April 13 in William Friedman's shoe store at 302 East 43d street. He was killed during a battle with five Negro holdup men who had taken $200 in the place. The three others who were involved with McNeill and Walker are serving terms in Joliet penitentiary. None of these three fired at the policeman, the evidence showed.

Three Vertical Unions Voted by Federation

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 11.—(AP)—The organization of workers into single unions embracing whole industries, as distinguished from craft unions limited to particular trades, was decided upon today by the American Federation of Labor.

In a move to "meet the demands of new industrial conditions," the federation instructed its executive council to issue charters for the creation of national and international unions in the automotive, cement, aluminum and other mass production industries.

The council also was ordered to inaugurate organization campaigns in the iron and steel industries.

Triumph for Lewis.

The convention action was a triumph for John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, whose big organizations is one of the few industrial unions now existing in the United States.

Although the issue had been heralded as a controversial one that would produce sparks of conflict on the floor, not a negative voice was heard when the convention voted after a short discussion.

In rapid fire operations the federation also went on record in favor of pensions for the aged, for mothers of dependent children and for sickness and unemployment benefits.

Vote to Combine Boycott.

It quickly voted to continue a boycott against German goods because of the asserted oppression of German trade unionists and of the Jewish people "until the tyrannical governments of Germany and Italy are wiped out."

A plea that capital and industry be drafted in the event of another war, made by James C. Van Zandt of Altoona, Pa., commander-in-chief of the veterans of foreign wars, was cheered by the convention.

Van Zandt said his organization favored a pension system for veterans based on length and type of service.

The powerful hand of Lewis was seen everywhere in the activities which put the federation behind the industrial or vertical union idea for mass production industries.

A year ago the federation convention thrust aside the issue, and even before today's action was taken, some of the big leaders, including President William Green himself, were reported unsympathetic toward it.

Lewis came here with words of praise for Green. The powerful United Mine Workers leader, holding 3,000 of the convention's 26,000 votes, supported Green in yesterday's jurisdictional battle over the building trades department. And Lewis was on the floor answering every question raised against this proposal.

The plan as adopted contemplates "policies which will fully protect the jurisdictional rights of all trade unions organized along craft lines."

The convention disposed of a block of 10 social insurance resolutions with one vote. This vote turned down a heterogeneous group of proposals running the gamut from unemployment benefits to health insurance.

STORK LEAVES 3 LITTLE FISHES AT HARVEY HOSPITAL

The stork paid the most impressive visit to the Ingalls Memorial hospital in Harvey last night that he has made in the entire eleven years of the hospital's existence.

Triplets were born to Mrs. Thomas Fish, 23 years old, of 15240 Paulina street, Harvey. It was the first set of triplets ever born in the hospital, and made a total of four children in the Fish family. The other is Thomas James Fish, 2½ years old.

The triplets—as yet unnamed—are two girls and a boy.

Hunt 2 Union Heads in Bus Murders

Taber Indicted with Kehoe and Alleged Aids

Bearing capiases charging two murders, detectives from the state's attorney's office and deputy sherifs last night started a search for William Taber, secretary of the street car men's union since 1902, and Joseph J. Kehoe, recording secretary of the same union for twelve years. They were among fourteen men named earlier in the day in two murder indictments growing out of State's Attorney Courtney's investigation of violence in the strike called against the Chicago Motor Coach company on Aug. 16.

Since the beginning of the strike 184 passengers have been injured, three policemen hurt and two murders committed, Mr. Courtney said. Windows have been smashed and acts of vandalism committed against 840 buses of the company.

Two Hurt in New Attack.

The two latest injuries occurred last night when an unknown person hurled a bottle through the window of a west bound bus at Princeton avenue and Garfield boulevard. Paul Baron, 21 years old, of 5604 South Whipple street, and Miss Julia Sable, 30 years old, of 5548 South Whipple street, were cut about the face by flying glass. Another bus driver reported a bottle hurled into his bus also, but there were no injuries and no police investigation was made.

As the search for Taber and Kehoe began Mr. Courtney for the first time revealed details of the evidence against those named in the indictments. He charged that Ralph Stoltzmann, president of the union which called the strike against the bus company, had made admissions to him amounting to a confession.

Stoltzmann's union is local 1022 of the Amalgamated Associatio of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employés of America. Taber is international secretary of the Amalgamated union as well as secretary of the street car local.

Tells Basis of Charges.

Kehoe and Taber, according to the revelations made by Mr. Courtney, paid out money to sluggers hired to institute a campaign of terror and vandalism on the west and south sides and participated in conferences in which acts of violence directed against bus property, employés and passengers were planned. Neither indictment charges that Kehoe, Taber, or Stoltzmann participated directly in any of the acts of violence.

The union officials, however, are charged with being principals to the actual murders on the theory of the law that one who aids, abets, or encourages a felonious act from which death results is just as guilty as the actual killer. The state will proceed on the theory that a conspiracy existed among the defendants, and that any one participating in the planned violence as charged is guilty of the two deaths which resulted from vandal attacks in the strike.

Dispatcher and Woman Killed.

The two deaths involved in the indictments, which were returned before Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan of the Criminal court soon after they were voted by the grand jury, are those of James Kelly, a bus company dispatcher, and Mrs. Mary Kennard, 65 years old, of the Hyde Park hotel.

Kelly was slugged on Sept. 27 while riding on a Cicero avenue street car, dragged from the car and shot to death. He was on his way home from work. Mrs. Kennard died the same evening, three hours after she was struck in the head by a steel ball bearing hurled through a window of a south side bus.

Those indicted yesterday in connection with the Kelly death, with the exception of Taber and Kehoe, had been named in a previous murder indict-

STOLL FAMILY PREPARED TO PAY KIDNAPERS

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—An early contact with the kidnapers of Mrs. Berry V. Stoll, 26 years old, possibly within the next few hours, was made possible early tonight when police and federal agents withdrew from the estate and the family issued a statement requesting complete isolation.

Shortly after the investigators were seen leaving the home, William S. Kammerer, a spokesman for the Stoll family, made the following announcement:

"The family of Mrs. Berry V. Stoll is urgently requesting the police and all friends and all parties interested to leave them in complete isolation so that they may be free for contact. We plead for a message from Mrs. Stoll tonight."

Tonight a posse combed Warren county after a Smith's Grove man had reported that he saw a woman who looked like Mrs. Stoll in a parked car with two men. He said the two men "ducked" as he came by.

First Aim Is Safety.

Earlier, at a conference between leaders in all branches of the investigation, it was agreed that federal agents and the police would subordinate their work to the task of establishing contact with the kidnapers and coöperate in any manner to insure the safety and return of Mrs. Stoll.

During this conference George Stoll, brother-in-law of the victim, issued the first formal statement to come from the family during the day. It said:

"The family is so very anxious to expedite negotiations for the return of Mrs. Stoll that they prefer not to give out any information."

A factor that lent credence to the belief that a contact was imminent was the presence during the afternoon of a telephone company repair truck at the Stoll home. It was thought that new lines were being placed to facilitate any attempt on the part of the kidnapers to communicate with the family.

Name Lawyer Intermediary.

The naming of Kammerer, a prominent Louisville attorney, an intimate friend of the Stolls, as intermediary, was another development of the day.

During the morning Fowler Woolet, caretaker, accompanied by two or three persons, was seen to make a careful search of the premises, especially along the fence lines. This led observers to believe they were searching for a note.

The conference between the heads of the three different investigating groups—city, county, and federal—and the representatives of the press during the afternoon brought about an agreement that no development that might endanger the safety of Mrs. Stoll would be made public. Mr. Kammerer, whose life was saved some years ago by William A. Stoll, brother of Berry, spoke to the group, bringing out vividly the idea that Mrs. Stoll's safe return was the only interest that should be studied at this time.

Search All Resorts.

Twenty-eight hours after the kidnaping investigators admitted that very little progress had been made toward solving the mystery, although a careful search was made of all camps, resorts and other possible hiding places in this territory. The investigation had not advanced to a point where it could be determined whether the kidnaper had accomplices.

One of the best clews was given by Mr. Stoll's maid, Mrs. Ann Woolet, wife of the caretaker. Although bound to a chair, she managed to work her way to a window, from which she saw the automobile used by the kidnaper.

Police had details of an encounter between a Bardstown road garage man and a well dressed stranger who sought directions to the Berry V. Stoll residence at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, shortly before the abductor went to the residence.

H. C. Kottke related his experience with the stranger at police headquarters, then looked for several hours through the rogues' gallery in a vain effort to identify a picture of his caller.

Gives Wrong Directions.

The man, using good English and correct manners, entered his garage and asked for directions to Lime Kiln lane, Mr. Kottke said. Misunderstanding the name for a moment, Mr. Kottke said he gave him directions to another street, but suddenly realized he was in error.

Mr. Kottke then suggested that if the stranger would tell him whom he wished to see it would be easy to give him directions after he found the address in the telephone book.

"I want to see Berry V. Stoll," Mr. Kottke quoted the stranger as saying. Mr. Kottke said he looked up the Stoll residence in the telephone book and realized he would be unable to give the stranger directions to reach the Stoll residence without making some inquiries on his own account.

Kottke said he offered to call the Stoll residence and ask for directions to reach it.

"No, don't do that," Mr. Kottke said the stranger quickly responded.

The garage man then said he called the Bader grocery store at Harrod's Creek, obtained directions to reach the Stoll residence, and transmitted them to the stranger.

By this time it was 2:30 o'clock, and the visitor politely thanked Kottke and walked out. He entered an automobile and drove south on Bardstown road.

Kottke said no one around his place noticed the make or license numbers of the automobile, but regretted it when the kidnaping news came out.

Dressed in Dark Suit.

The stranger was dressed in a dark suit with a brownish hue, Kottke said. He was about 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighed nearly 150 pounds. He had a ruddy complexion, appeared to be of Latin extraction, and his accent denoted residence in the north.

Louisville became, during the day, the concentration point for federal, state, county, and city investigations of the case. J. Edgar Hoover, chief investigator for the department of justice, personally directed his agents from Washington and promised to come to Louisville if it seemed advisable.

Gov. Ruby Laffoon, in Frankfort, kept in telephonic communication with city officials. Adjt. Gen. H. H. Denhardt, head of the Kentucky National Guard, and Capt. Noel Jones, ranking officer of the state militia, arrived in the city during the afternoon. They both proffered the help of their two organizations.

What was believed to have been an effort on the part of the kidnapers to contact the Stoll home was reported to have occurred during the early morning hours. A man's voice was heard at the other end of the wire, but before anything definite was said the connection was broken.

Will Show Maid Pictures.

Commonwealth's Attorney Merrit O'Neal, taking an active interest in the case, said his men were working on what they believed an important lead. He planned to submit photographs of known criminals to Mrs. Fowler, the maid, for inspection.

William E. Morrow, secretary of the Louisville board of trade, announced that the board had offered all of its facilities to the Stoll family. William A. Stoll is president of the board and his father, C. C. Stoll, a former director. Mr. Stoll and Col. George N. McKeown, whose son, J. P. McKeown, was a member of Mr. Stoll's infantry unit at Fort Benjamin Harrison in 1917, studied the roster listed in an army service publication. The list of members of the company, together with group pictures of the soldiers, was inspected on Mr. Stoll's suggestion that the kidnaper might be a former army man.

U. S. Orders Labatt Kidnap Suspect Sent to Canada

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Acting on grounds frequently used in deportation cases, the United States today ordered David Meisner, wanted in Canada for questioning in connection with the kidnaping of John Labatt, brewer, sent back to the dominion. The labor department ruled Meisner to be in this country illegally. Meisner is held at Detroit.

Kidnaped Woman's Kindred Linked with Lincoln's Life

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Close ties bound Abraham Lincoln to the Speed family, whose daughter, Alice Speed Stoll, was still the victim today of the nation's latest sensational kidnaping.

One of her ancestors, James Speed, served as attorney general in Lincoln's cabinet during the latter part of that President's second term. Lincoln paid many visits to Farmington, the beautiful mansion built by Judge John Speed, which still stands on the Bardstown road in Louisville.

There Lincoln was an associate of the sons of John Speed, James and Joshua, great-uncles of Mrs. Stoll. It has long been believed by many that it was at Farmington that Lincoln met Mary Todd.

Gave Statue of Lincoln.

The statue of Lincoln that stands in the rotunda of the Kentucky state capitol at Frankfort was the gift of the late J. B. Speed, grandfather of Mrs. Stoll. It was the work of A. A. Weinmann, New York sculptor, and when the statue, which cost $40,000, was unveiled Nov. 8, 1911, Mrs. Stoll, then three years old, and a cousin, John Speed, pulled the silken cords that dropped the flags from before it.

The ancestors of Mrs. Stoll, wife of Berry V. Stoll, oil company executive, have been identified with Kentucky from pioneer days. They were active participants in the political life of the commonwealth.

The friendship between Lincoln and the Speed family dated from the day Lincoln as a young lawyer drifted into the general merchandise store then kept by Joshua Speed at Springfield, Ill. Lincoln was looking for some cheap furniture with which to equip a room for himself while waiting for practice.

Helps Lincoln Get Started.

As Lincoln did not have the price for even the cheapest set, Joshua Speed offered him the use of the room that he occupied above the old store, and they became friends.

During the ensuing years Lincoln paid many visits to Farmington, Joshua's family home. Frequently he rode into Louisville on horseback to sit in James Speed's office and chat with him about slavery and the questions of the day. When Lincoln became President of the United States he expressed a desire to have his closest friend, Joshua F. Speed, as a member of his cabinet.

Joshua Speed felt, however, that his post of duty was at home in Kentucky, where tremendous efforts were being made to hold the state within the Union. Speed turned Lincoln down many times.

Finally Enters Cabinet.

One bleak November day in 1864, when James Speed sat with his feet before the fire in his office in Louisville, a telegram was handed him from Lincoln saying Edward Bates of Illinois had resigned as attorney general of the United States, and the position was offered him. The call was sudden and unexpected, but as James wrote to his mother, "It looks to me much like leaving my old home and lifelong friends forever, yet in a great crisis like this we must fling behind us all such considerations."

Speed served as attorney general until after Lincoln's assassination, and then resigned as he could not agree with President Johnson's policies.

Grandfather of Mrs. Stoll.

William Pope Speed, the brother of James and Joshua, was born at the Farmington homestead. His second wife, Mary Ellen Shallcross, was the mother of James Breckinridge Speed, Mrs. Stoll's grandfather. James Breckinridge Speed, after serving in the Union army, entered business in Louisville. There he became one of the prominent citizens and philanthropists. His second wife, Mrs. J. B. Speed, who lives on Ormsby avenue here, founded the J. B. Speed museum in his memory.

Mrs. Stoll's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Shallcross Speed, have continued James B. Speed's philanthropy. Mrs. William Speed recently has been devoting herself to the building up of Collegiate school, a preparatory school for girls in Louisville.

OFFICIALS TEST KIDNAP STORY OF VERMONT YOUTH

Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 11.—(AP)—The strange case of a young man, about 21 years old, who said he was kidnaped in Chicago at the age of 4 and brought to a Vermont farm, has been under investigation by state and county authorities for several months. That became known today.

The young man told officials that before he was kidnaped he rode in automobiles, was attended by servants, and had a luxurious home. He said he remembered being picked up on a Chicago street by a man and a woman and taken on a train.

The young man says he cannot recall his real name. The man regarded by the youth as his foster father told officials he and his wife were passing through Chicago, en route to Vermont, when they learned of a woman who wished to find a good home for her son. He said possession of the boy was acquired without adoption or other proceedings.

That man's wife, now living in the west, apart from her husband, has stated the boy legally was adopted. The young man's name is Jensen, but he says that's not his real one.

Surging Ocean Topples More California Homes

Newport Beach, Cal., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Sweeping into the streets and over the Southern Pacific railway tracks, huge ocean surges did further damage to property in the west Newport Beach area today, causing several houses to topple to where they may at any moment slide into the sea. The boardwalk was undermined and in some sections swept away. One hundred feet of railroad track was undermined.

Woman Accuses Hollywood Designer of Beating Her

GETS 8 MONTHS FOR THREAT.

Joseph Pitts, colored, 21 years old, 3006 Prairie avenue, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to eight months in the Bridewell yesterday by Judge Frank M. Padden for threatening Policeman Charles Nork with a revolver.

TWO CONVICTED IN CONSTABLE'S "TORTURE" RIDE

Edward Konowski, alias Casey, and Edward Piranio, alias Frank Estes, two members of the "circus gang" of Cicero, who tortured and shot Constable John Griffin, 23 years old, of Proviso township, were found guilty late yesterday of assault to murder. A jury in Judge Donald S. McKinlay's Criminal court returned the verdict after deliberating less than an hour.

Judge McKinlay wasted no time listening to motions for a new trial. He sentenced both men immediately to 1 to 14 year terms in the penitentiary, the maximum provided for the crime. Konowski's sentence was made to run consecutively with a previous robbery conviction. He will first have to serve the robbery sentence of 1 year to life and then the 1 to 14 year sentence.

Face Further Charges.

Assistant State's Attorneys Richard Devine and Leslie Curtis, in charge of the prosecution, said they will pile up other sentences against the men before they allow them to go to the penitentiary.

Konowski and Piranio are both under indictment in other robbery cases and the prosecution will attempt within the next two weeks to convict them under the habitual criminal act.

Because of the viciousness of the attack on Constable Griffin and the attempt by the gang to poison a state's witness in the county jail, the prosecutors said they will not stop prosecuting the two men until they have piled up enough sentences against them to insure their permanent imprisonment.

Griffin Shot 8 Times.

Constable Griffin was beaten with a blackjack and then shot eight times after he had arrested Edward Deveau, who is now a fugitive, for a minor automobile violation. Thinking the constable dead, the gangsters dragged him into an automobile and drove around for an hour or more while they debated whether to throw his body in the drainage canal or to bury him in the woods. It was finally decided to bury him.

While the assailants went to get some shovels to dig the grave Griffin struggled into the driver's seat of the automobile and made his escape.

A week before the case was scheduled to start to trial, Harold Clifford who assisted in the attack on the constable and who had agreed to turn state's evidence, was sent poison sandwiches in the jail. Clifford escaped serious illness because he was not hungry, but one of his cellmates died and three others became severely ill when they ate the food.

FRAUD CHARGE DROPPED.

A charge of obtaining merchandise under false pretenses against Joseph Kocovinski, 2849 West 25th street, licensed by the Federal Surplus Foods corporation to operate a clearing house for relief foods, was dismissed yesterday for lack of evidence by Judge Donald S. McKinlay.

HUNT KIDNAPER OF GIRL, 7, GOING HOME FROM N. YORK SCHOOL

New York, Oct. 11.—[Special.]—A general alarm for an elderly, gray haired man who dragged 7 year old Theresa Cullen of Brooklyn, into a large green sedan and sped away with her this afternoon, has been sent out by Brooklyn police headquarters.

The child was kidnaped while on her way home from the parochial school of the Fourteen Holy Martyrs on Central avenue. Her younger sister, Marie, 6 years old, was with her, and it was from her that the police learned of the abduction.

According to the story told by Marie, the two little girls left the school shortly after 3 p. m. and started to walk to their home. At the corner of Cooper street and Central avenue the green sedan drew to the curb alongside them and a gray haired man stepped out. Marie said he offered them candy, grabbed Theresa by the arm, pulled her into the car, and sped away.

BUCKET SHOP TRIAL OF SEVEN GOES TO JURY

Unable to reach a verdict after an hour and a quarter of deliberation, the jury debating the fate of seven men charged with conspiracy to operate bucket shops was locked up for the remainder of the night at 2 o'clock this morning by Judge Walter J. La Buy.

Both state and defense completed their closing arguments after the regular adjournment time of court, but a delay developed when a dispute between opposing counsel arose as to what should be included in the judge's charge of the jurors. The jury finally got the case at 12:45 a. m.

Just before the final arguments began the defendants' lawyers waived their opportunity of putting in a defense because of Judge La Buy's ruling that the books of Crowley, Doherty & Co., through which the prosecution intended to show the juggling of stock, were not admissible as evidence.

MERGER OF PARKS UPHELD 2D TIME; BOARD GETS BUSY

State High Court Refuses to Rehear Contest.

The Illinois Supreme court yesterday denied a rehearing of its opinion upholding the constitutionality of the Chicago Park Consolidation act. The decision removed the last obstacle to immediate action by the Chicago park board of five members created under the act on May 1.

Chicago voters approved the consolidation plan, which merged the cumbersome system of 22 separate park boards under one government, by a vote majority of three to one in a referendum on April 10. Then Attorney Floyd Thompson, retained by the small parks, joined with State's Attorney Courtney in a suit to test the constitutionality of the act.

The Circuit court ruled the act valid and was upheld by the State Supreme court in a decision handed down on Aug. 23. Dissatisfied with this ruling, Attorney Thompson sought the rehearing.

Opens Way to Back Salary Payment.

Yesterday's decision denying the rehearing, makes possible payment of $1,700,000 in back salaries to 3,000 employés of small parks. It also allows the new park board to put into effect the municipal code for the consolidated parks under which the 22 units will be welded into a centralized system.

Duplicated salaries and positions in the 22 systems will be automatically eliminated with resulting economy, a single accounting system is to replace the multiple bookkeeping, and trafic rules and other regulations will be made uniform in parks throughout the city.

Another result of the Supreme court ruling, it was pointed out yesterday, is to give new life to the plan to obtain approximately $7,000,000 from the government for completion of the outer drive bridge over the mouth of the Chicago river. In an unexpected move late in July Secretary of the Interior Ickes, head of the Public Works administration, withdrew an allotment of $6,887,000 for the bridge. The reason given was that the Lincoln park board was unable to offer security that would meet legal and financial requirements.

Bridge Financing Now Possible.

The Supreme court decision, it was held yesterday, places the consolidated park board in a position to issue its own bonds and finance the bridge with government aid.

Payment of the $1,700,000 in back salaries will be brought about within the next ten days, it was believed yesterday by Robert J. Dunham, president of the new board. The consolidated board had filed a tax levy and issued enough warrants for payment of the employés a month ago, but this move was halted by the petition for a rehearing in the Supreme court. The pay day will reach employés of all parks save those of the south parks system, which had money enough to pay employés in full.

Parks which have refused to turn over books, assets, and records, as ordered by the newly created board shortly after May 1, will be forced to do so under the Supreme court ruling. The request already has been complied with by the South, West, Lincoln, Irving, Old Portage, Jefferson, North Shore, Calumet, and Ridge avenue districts.

Police to Be Consolidated.

The board also will be enabled to set up a new civil service system for all parks and to make plans for gathering the police forces of different parks into one. While it is too early to estimate the economy possible under the unified system, Mr. Dunham pointed out yesterday, the board is now able to go ahead with active plans for refunding principal on maturing bonds and for reducing tax levies. He also said that the board may now officially consider the problem of what is to be done with the grounds of A Century of Progress at the close of the Fair.

"I am gratified to hear that the petition for rehearing was denied in the park consolidation case," Mayor Kelly said when told of the decision. "The unified park system is now a fact in Chicago. The new board, directed by Mr. Dunham, may now embark on a comprehensive program for park improvement."

Members of the board of the Chicago park district, besides President Dunham, are Harry W. Joseph, Martin H. Kennelly, Miss Bessie C. O'Neill, and John R. Nash. The appointments of Joseph, who is to serve four years, and Kennelly, who is to serve three years, are permanent. Miss O'Neill and Nash were appointed temporarily in order that the consolidation act might receive a thorough legal test. They have agreed to step aside when permanent appointments are made.

DIES 5 MINUTES AFTER HUSBAND WINS A DIVORCE

Less than five minutes after her husband had won a divorce Mrs. Goldie Morris, 54 years old, 4943 Sheridan road, died of a heart attack yesterday in a room adjoining the court of Superior Judge C. V. Ridgely in Gary.

Her husband, Henry, 56 years old, a Gary real estate salesmen, sued for divorce on the ground of cruelty. The testimony was in when Mrs. Morris complained of feeling faint. She was assisted to an anteroom and Judge Ridgely awarded the divorce. Mrs. Morris' lawyer, Abe Hyman, went to tell his client the news. While he spoke Mrs. Morris died. Mr. Morris took charge of the body and notified their only son, Jerome, in Grand Rapids, Mich.

DEATH CROSSING SUBWAY DELAYED BY LEASE TANGLE

State Ready; Dispute Delays Work.

The construction of a subway for Waukegan road under the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad at the southern edge of the village of Glenview, twenty miles northwest of the loop, has been delayed and may be delayed further, it was learned yesterday, by a real estate transaction involving property needed as right of way for the improvement.

The present grade crossing at this site has been the scene of many collisions between automobiles and trains. Twenty-four persons have been killed there in the last seven years. Two persons have lost their lives while the state has been trying to effect a solution of the real estate transaction.

Lease Is Controversial Factor.

A vacant field southwest of the intersection is owned by Mrs. Mable I. Anderson and family. Last March 16 a strip of frontage on Waukegan road was leased for three years to Ernest L. Duck, an attorney at 105 West Monroe street. The state appraised the additional right of way it will need for the subway, and Mrs. Anderson was offered the appraisal price for the strip required. She couldn't sell, however, because of the lease.

"I'm acting for a client whose name I am not at liberty to disclose," Attorney Duck said yesterday when asked about the deal. "I was amazed and distressed when I learned a few days after the lease was signed that this property was needed for the grade separation."

The first announcement of the projected grade separation was published on Oct. 19, 1933, five months before the lease was signed.

Acted in Good Faith, He Says.

"With my client, we acted in good faith in this transaction, unaware that the subway was contemplated," Attorney Duck said. "We wanted the property for a roadside fruit and vegetable market. It is a good site for such an enterprise, because trafic is slowed down at this point for the dangerous railroad crossing.

"Having learned of this much needed public improvement, my client is willing to cancel the lease. But, of course, he is entitled to compensation for the expense and trouble he has been put to. His damages are accruing daily, as he is deprived of prospective profits from the fruit and vegetable stand.

"Mrs. Anderson and her attorney have refused to deal with me in the settlement of my client's claim. They act as if they thought they were tricked into this lease that bars them from selling right of way to the state."

The grade separation is one of the highway projects to be financed from the $17,500,000 "easy money" allotment to Illinois under the first public works administration appropriation and approved by the United States bureau of public works last fall. The estimated cost of the improvement is $150,000.

Lease Is Only Difficulty.

Other right of way acquisitions and easements are needed for the subway, but the state has met with no difficulties outside of the Duck leasehold. Under the present outlook, the state will have to file condemnation proceedings against Mrs. Anderson. The attorney's claims for damages will then become a private controversy between the lessee and lessor.

In the meantime, this crossing with heavy railroad trafic intersecting heavy motor trafic at an oblique angle, remains the most deadly crossing in the metropolitan area.

Six persons were killed there in 1933. The latest victims were Pernell Spillbutt and Michael Giosh, who were killed in an accident in which seven others were injured on Aug. 10 of this year.

ZEPPELIN SERVICE BETWEEN EUROPE, U. S. PLANNED BY ECKENER

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, said today that a regular North American-German Zeppelin passenger service is under consideration by United States officials.

He left here today for New York, saying:

"The purpose of my trip is to discuss a regular service between America and Germany. I hope my wish will be fulfilled at last and that we will come to terms. This air line would enable us to use helium for our new Zeppelin, still under construction."

He indicated that the proposed service would consist of two German and two American Zeppelins.

WOMAN ADMITS ARSON; FAINTS AT 1 TO 5 YEAR TERM

Bettey Fisher Sentenced with Husband.

CRIMINAL COURT.

George A. Malley, embezzlement, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; Frank Linsky and George Weinman, confidence game, sentenced to 1 to 10 years, by Judge Walter P. Steffen.

John Jezior, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Willie Gordon, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years; Joseph Kaput, Fred Fisher, John Szymczak, and Joseph Zuck, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years; John Knopp, receiving stolen property, sentenced to 1 to 10 years, by Judge John C. Lewe.

Mrs. Betty Fisher, 42 years old, pleaded guilty to a charge of arson before Judge Harry B. Miller in the Criminal court yesterday and was sentenced to one to five years in the penitentiary. At the same time her husband, Max, involved with her in the burning of their former residence at 2127 Division street on April 20, 1933, pleaded guilty to knowledge of the crime and was sentenced to six months in the county jail.

Mrs. Fisher fainted when Judge Miller pronounced the sentence. She was revived in the judge's chambers.

The Fishers brought to seven the total of defendants in trials growing out of the million dollar arson ring who have entered guilty pleas, shortening so far to a matter of a few weeks what appeared at the start to be a long program of arson cases on Judge Miller's calendar.

Linked to "Arson Queen."

Mrs. Fisher, who with her husband operates a restaurant at 2441 Division street and lives at 2236, became involved in the arson ring investigation through a confession of Mrs. Bertha Warshovsky, the grandmother "arson queen." Formerly good friends, the two women early in 1933 discussed possibilities of raising money for the Fishers by burning their home, which was insured for $1,500, according to Mrs. Warshovsky.

Mrs. Warshovsky's confession said that she engaged her son-in-law, Jack Brown, to fire the place for $150, explaining when he balked at the low figure that this was a "friendly" fire at a reduced price.

Settlement Still Pending.

After the fire neither the Fishers nor Brown collected. The insurance settlement is still pending.

Defendants who have pleaded guilty so far in the arson trial series and their sentences are: Nick Basuris, owner of the Metropolitan Press, 3811 North avenue, one year; Abe Blank, public insurance adjuster, one year and $2,000 fine; Rudolph Pisani, incendiary, one to two years; Sam Fraga, owner and editor of El Nacional, Spanish newspaper at 737 South Halsted street, one to five years; and Sam Roman, one to five years.

Reprimand Victim

DONALD HECK.

Because his mother had reprimanded him for buying an automobile without her permission, Donald Heck, 18 years old, 7939 Vernon avenue, shot and killed himself last night in his home.

The boy, who was said to have paid $30 for the car, was a student at Normal Junior college.

The youth's body was found by the mother, who heard the shot. She notified police, and after they had determined that the shooting was suicide she told them of the reprimand.

"A man came around to my home this morning," she told the Burnside police, "and said his car had been damaged in an accident by one owned by my son. He wanted me to pay for the damages.

"That was the first I had known about Donald having an automobile, and I reprimanded him for not having told me that he had bought it."

Falls from Horse During Hunt; Breaks Collar Bone

John Andrews King, 165 North Green Bay road, Lake Forest, suffered a broken collar bone yesterday when his horse fell with him in the regular Thursday hunt at the Mill Creek Hunt club in Milburn. He was taken to the Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest. In the same hunt, Mrs. Kimball Salisbury, 1415 Astor street, received minor bruises when her horse failed to clear one of the jumps and fell.

FLUSH "PRETTY BOY" FLOYD IN IOWA GUN FIGHT

Trio Flee North for Minnesota.

McIntyre, Ia., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Encountered by state agents on a farm near here this afternoon, a man identified as Charles ["Pretty Boy"] Floyd, Oklahoma's notorious outlaw, and two companions battled with the officers, escaped in a Ford V-8 bearing the Iowa license number 41-875, and tonight were the objects of a man hunt by police of two states.

Trapped in a blind road two miles west of the farm, where they had been surprised by Deputy Sherif Owens of Howard county and State Agent Haight, the fugitives turned around and drove out, only to encounter the officers. A burst of machine gun fire answered the agents' signals to halt and the police responded with revolvers.

Expected to Seek Twin Cities.

Neither outlaws nor officers were struck by the bullets as the fugitive car plowed through safely and headed south. The gunmen, however, were expected to turn north on the road heading to the Twin Cities.

The tip as to the outlaw's whereabouts came from a farmer living near here, who said one of the companions had bragged that the leader was Floyd. The state bureau of investigation was notified and Haight sent here.

He and Owens stopped at a farm house a mile south of here this afternoon, and upon entering, Owens recognized a man sitting inside as Floyd. Disregarding calls to halt, Floyd jumped up, called to two men who were husking corn in a neighboring field, and the three ran to a car and drove off, with the officers giving chase. Identity of Floyd's companions is not known.

Licenses Are for Stolen Car.

License plates on the fugitive car were found to correspond with those of a Buick car stolen at Britt, Ia., several weeks ago. This checks up with the story that the outlaws had been in this vicinity for nearly two weeks, staying at several farm homes. The men, although dressed in overalls, when surprised today, were declared to have had plenty of money and to have spent much of the time hunting pheasants, despite the fact that the season is closed on the birds. The man identified as Floyd was known as "Ed" by those who had talked with him.

Federal officers were expected tonight to take charge of the investigation.

Summon 50 Witnesses.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Moving swiftly to bring to early trial the persons implicated in the slaying of five persons at the Kansas City Union station June 17, 1933, the federal government today prepared summonses for 50 witnesses to appear before the grand jury Oct. 21.

Randall Wilson, assistant United State district attorney, said the indictments to be returned will charge conspiracy to obstruct justice in the attempt to free Frank Nash, escaped federal prisoner who was being returned to Leavenworth penitentiary.

Four officers and Nash were killed by machine gun fire as they were entering an automobile in front of the Union station.

Meanwhile the government continued to press its vigorous search for Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, southwestern gunman, and Adam Richetti, his companion, who were named yesterday by the department of justice as two of the actual slayers.

SABER DUEL ECHOES HEARD IN DIVORCE SUIT OF THE PRINZES

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Echoes of the German saber duel fought recently between Leroy Prinz and a mysterious "Baron Wilhelm" were heard in divorce court today when Mrs. Agnes Prinz filed a suit for divorce against the ex-Northwestern university athlete, ex-Chicago night club operator, ex-American war flyer, and ex-adventurer.

Mrs. Prinz complains that her husband, who now is a director of movie dance choruses, "has a penchant for fighting" and that he practiced saber dueling for days around the house, much to her fright, concern, worry and discomfort. She also complains that after the duel with the mysterious "Baron," who is a German war veteran working in Hollywood movies, Prinz returned home with his face hacked, constituting mental cruelty.

The Prinzes were married in Mexico in October, 1926, and have one child, Dolores Lee Prinz, aged 6. They separated last Aug. 17.

DERAILED TRAIN PLUNGES INTO A CREEK IN IOWA

Guttenberg, Ia., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Four persons were killed and 22 injured, eight seriously, here today when a two car passenger train plunged off the track and down a 15 foot embankment into a creek bed.

The train, run by the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific, was overdue in Guttenberg. It was rounding a curve when the engine leaped the rails, the tender snapping loose and imbedding itself in the right of way. The combination baggage and mail car and the passenger coach, made of wood, splintered as it plowed after the engine.

Engineer Charles Strazinsky, 66, and Fireman Frank Mann, 55, both of Dubuque, rode the engine to their death as it rushed 200 feet on the ground beside the rails before dropping into the creek and overturning. The engine boiler exploded, scalding the engineer. The fireman was pinned in his cab and burned.

The other two killed were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ruprecht of Dubuque, passengers. They were crushed in the wreckage of the day coach. The list of injured included five high school students who ride daily to classes in Guttenberg.

NEWSPAPER, EDITORS FINED FOR CONTEMPT IN CALIFORNIA COURT

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 11.—(AP)—The Chronicle Publishing company was fined $500 and Editor Chester Rowell and Managing Editor W. D. Chandler of the San Francisco Chronicle were fined $250 each by the California Supreme court today on a finding of guilty of contempt of court.

The contempt charges developed from the Chronicle's publication a month ago of an article saying the Supreme court had decided to grant David Lamson, convicted wife slayer, a new trial.

Court officials, announcing the Chronicle decision, said there would be no decision today on the Lamson appeal but indicated it might be given tomorrow.

WOUNDS WIFE HE THOUGHT A WITCH AND KILLS SELF

Tony Kindin, 50 years old, 6214 South Narragansett avenue, critically wounded his wife Mary, 48 years old, with an ax yesterday, then ended his own life with the charge from a shotgun.

Police learned that Kindin, who once was confined to the psychopathic hospital, believed his wife a witch and thought she was trying to poison him. Mrs. Martha Obradovic, 6146 South Narragansett avenue, told police that Kindin had confided in her that his wife "was always telling his fortune with cards in which the queen of spades—the symbol of death—appeared."

"I'm going to take care of her," Mrs. Obradovic quoted Kindin as saying, "before she takes care of me."

The tragedy was discovered yesterday in the home after neighbors went there after hearing the sound of a shot. The Kindins were on the relief rolls and had no children.

JUDGE TALKS AS EX-BUTLER ZAUG RALLIES AROUND

Vanderbilt Suit Gathers New Dignity.

New York, Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Charles Zaug, who wears a suit of repressed black of a cut affected by bankers when the late George F. Baker Sr. was a youngster, lent a touch of decorum and urbanity today to the Vanderbilt-Whitney legal battle for the custody of 10 year old Gloria Vanderbilt.

Zaug appeared before Supreme Court Justice John F. Carew as Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt's ex-butler. Zaug answered every query of Herbert C. Smythe, chief counsel for Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney.

Discusses Admirable Zaug.

"Did Zaug say anything about serving champagne to Mrs. Vanderbilt before breakfast?" a reporter asked the justice.

"The testimony hasn't got that far yet," the justice replied.

"Did he testify to anything that might tend to corroborate the story told by Marie Caillot, Mrs. Vanderbilt's French maid?"

"Not yet," said the justice.

The only other witness of the day was Theodore Beasley, Mrs. Vanderbilt's former chauffeur. Beasley drove the Vanderbilt car Sept. 21 when little Gloria was taken—"spirited," her mother says—to the studio of Mrs. Whitney in Greenwich Village.

Talks of Night Clubs.

Under cross-examination Beasley testified, Justice Carew related, to driving Mrs. Vanderbilt to many cabarets, theaters, and night clubs.

Asked whether she was at any time accompanied by A. C. Blumenthal, Beasley said that was correct.

"Beasley spoke," said the justice, "of driving lots of other men with Mrs. Vanderbilt—men, I may say, of unquestioned respectability."

"What about any testimony relating to what went on while Beasley was driving Mrs. Vanderbilt about the city?"

"I didn't hear anything," the court replied.

The justice said he believed Beasley testified about having driven Mrs. Vanderbilt to Mrs. Whitney's home to see little Gloria. Beasley was discharged by Mrs. Benjamin Thaw, Mrs. Vanderbilt's sister, the former Consuelo Morgan, soon after Sept. 21. He said since then he has been on half pay, the money coming from the trust fund left Gloria by her father, the late Reginald C. Vanderbilt.

Former Convict Seized as One of 'Siren Robbers'

Theodore Scudieri, 1211 South 58th court, Cicero, an ex-convict, was seized at the home of his sister, Mrs. Minnie Giordano, 1710 North Damen avenue, yesterday by Sergt. Timothy O'Connell of the Chicago Lawn police. Scudieri had been sought as the member of a band of robbers which with a siren equipped automobile have robbed some fifty visitors to the city on southwest highways during the last few months.

SECRETARY ICKES 'SEPARATES YATES FROM THE SERVICE'

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Paul C. Yates, executive assistant to the governor of the Virgin islands, was "separated from the service" today by Secretary Ickes.

Mr. Ickes said he had received a letter from Mr. Yates stating that he was enclosing his resignation, but that "hopeful search of the envelope failed to reveal the document," and left him with "no resignation to accept."

Although Mr. Yates had been ordered to return to Washington to face "written charges of disloyalty, insubordination and gross inefficiency," Mr. Ickes said today that he did not know whether Mr. Yates was in fact returning to the United States or not, or whether, if so, he would get a hearing in Washington.

"He was appointed administrative assistant for public works," Mr. Ickes said. "But on his own showing, he has been spending his time running around the islands making trouble for Gov. Pearson. With the exception of the first paragraph, referring to his resignation, all the rest of his letter to me consisted of charges and complaints against the governor and his administration."

NOTED ACTRESS CRITICALLY ILL AFTER OPERATION

Glendale, Cal., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Lucille La Verne, veteran stage and screen actress, was reported in a critical condition tonight at a hospital where today she underwent a major operation. Two surgeons expressed doubt she would recover.

Miss La Verne's most recent film appearance was in a mother rôle in "An American Tragedy." She was perhaps best known for her work in "Sun Up" on the stage. She was hailed for her unusual work in "The Merchant of Venice," played both in London and in Los Angeles. She is a native of Tennessee.

She is suffering from a cancer.

ACCIDENTAL POISONING FATAL.

Mrs. Grace Desmond, 38 years old, wife of Policeman William Desmond of the Chicago Lawn station, died last night in the Holy Cross hospital from accidental poisoning. She drank a glass of cleaning fluid which she had mistaken for water.

PLEA TO FORGIVE CAROL SPURNED BY KING GEORGE

Queen Marie Fails to Aid Reconciliation with Helen

LONDON, Oct. 11.—(AP)—All hope of reconciliation between King Carol of Rumania and his former wife, Princess Helen, was abandoned today when it was learned King George had refused the pleas of Carol's mother to intervene.

The Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania left for France yesterday, accompanying Jugo-Slavia's new 11 year old King Peter.

Object of Her Visit.

One of the main objects of Marie's visit to London was understood to have been to pave the way for a reconciliation between Carol and Helen. To accomplish this the queen felt the British monarch must first be won over, so that Carol and Helen might both be invited to the wedding of the duke of Kent and Princess Marina at London next month.

This, Marie believed, would result ultimately in a reunion between Rumania's king and his divorced consort.

King George, however, was understood to have maintained a stern attitude toward Carol, frankly telling Queen Marie that her son, by continuing to maintain his friendship with Mme. Magda Lupescu, is not only undermining the Rumania dynasty but causing his country irreparable harm and casting discredit indirectly upon other royalty.

Calls Carol's Act Scandalous.

The king was said to have taken occasion to assert that Carol's harsh treatment of Helen, for whom the British ruler is known to have a high regard and deep sympathy, was nothing short of scandalous.

Marie, it was reported, made no attempt to defend her son, but remarked to King George that a monarchy with a bad king is better than no monarchy at all.

Throughout the conversation Queen Marie was said to have been deeply affected, shedding tears as she told King George of her own situation and the plight of Rumania in the light of the anomalous situation created by King Carol.

Auto Prospect Takes Car and Neglects to Return

INSULL HITS BACK AT PROSECUTION FRAUD WITNESS

Lamont Cross-Examined by Stuart Counsel.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Through Mr. Lamont, for 14 years an employé of Halsey-Stuart as assistant treasurer and controler, the government built up its charges of fraud step by step, and through the same accommodating witness the defense began to try to tear down this structure.

Attempt to Justify Claims.

Mr. Lamont's cross-examination was conducted by Attorney Charles S. Lounsbury, representing Harold L. and Charles B. Stuart, C. T. MacNeille, and F. K. Shrader — all officials of Halsey-Stuart—and was directed at showing that on the basis of the market in 1929 and the book values of stock at that time, the Corporation Securities company was justified in its representations to the public.

One point on which a difference of opinion developed was whether Corporation Securities, an Insull investment trust, began business early in October, 1929, and made representations of assets which it did not have, or whether it was officially launched on Nov. 1 of that year, after $30,000,000 in cash had come in from the public stock sales.

Payment for the stock, it was brought out by Mr. Lounsbury, was not called for until Nov. 1.

Places Circular Before Jury.

The prosecutor, Leslie E. Salter, placed the major points in the case before the jury during the day, bringing in letters showing how the market for Corporation Securities was handled, the discussion over dividend payments, which the government claims were unjustified, and the all important circular to the public on which the indictment is based.

The cross-examination began at 2:30 p. m. Mr. Lamont said that Halsey, Stuart & Co. had been in business since 1904 and was still in business, occupying four floors of the Rookery building. The defendants had been with the company many years.

The witness then related the secret purchase of Middle West Utilities stock by Halsey-Stuart in the summer of 1929, preparatory to the formation of the Corporation Securities. The actual cost of the shares was $13,000,000, he said. The market value later placed the value at $23,000,000, but the stocks were turned in at cost.

The same was true, he testified, regarding Insull Utility Investment company shares, purchased at $3,000,407, valued later at $15,000,000, and turned in at cost.

An indirect reference was made to the "blue sky" letter introduced by the government, when the witness was asked if it was the custom for investment trusts to expose their portfolios, as it would be necessary to do if they were listed on the exchange. The witness said it was not the custom.

Defense Offers Lone Exhibit.

Defense exhibit No. 1, a lone opponent to the 2,500 government exhibits piled on the neighboring bookshelves, consisted of the weekly balance sheets of the Corporation Securities company. Several of these were audited and approved by an outside auditor, it was brought out. When asked if the sheets on which this witness had made the estimate of a dividend of $1.42 a share for the new trust company were properly made and if this was a proper estimate, Mr. Lamont replied:

"It was."

The estimate of new money, amounting to $22,000,000, needed for 1930, the witness said, included $11,000,000 in commitments for stock and $2,000,000 for payment of dividends on preferred stock.

Asserts Defendants Invested.

It also was brought out through Lamont that not only he himself had invested money in the Corporation Securities units but that all the defendants in the Stuart group, including C. W. Sills, had also made purchases in this stock which they were offering to the public.

The records showed that Mr. Lamont invested $1,875. He later sold at a loss. The others, however, still have their stock. They "went down with the ship," as one of their attorneys expressed it. Mr. MacNeille purchased $4,650 worth of stock; Mr. Shrader, $37,500; Sills, $199,875; C. B. Stuart, $225,000, and H. L. Stuart, $75,000.

Report Revised Frequently.

The government brought out yesterday through the same witness that the first annual report of the company was revised several times, the first version showing a loss of $174,000 and the final one showing a gain of $630,000.

When asked about this Mr. Lamont said that the difference in the two reports was due in part to the difference in dates of the two reports and that accounting principles was another factor.

One of the most important papers introduced, according to the prosecution, is a letter to Fred H. Scheel, manager of Utilities Securities company, by MacNeille of Corporation Securities. In the circular to the investing public it was stated in a general manner that the resources of the company consisted of substantial blocks of stock of Middle West Utilities, Insull Utility Investments, and also Commonwealth Edison, Public Service of Northern Illinois, and Peoples Gas, Light, and Coke company.

Mostly Holding Company Stock.

The exact holdings in these companies, according to the MacNeille-Scheel letter, which was written March 20, 1930, show the great bulk were stocks of the other Insull holding companies, with the Edison and utility stocks making up only a fraction of the total.

The total book value holdings of Corporation Securities on March 14, 1930, according to this confidential information to Mr. Scheel, were $94,803,348.

On April 2, Mr. MacNeille in a letter acknowledged receipt of an agreement of March 31 relative to the purchase from Insull, Son and company, and Corporation Syndicates, Inc., a subsidiary of Corporation Securities, of 1,250,000 shares of common stock of Corporation Securities company.

Agree to Protect Market.

In the agreement referred to, according to another letter given to the jury, the "Corporation Securities company of Chicago will protect the market on its allotment certificates between $69.50 and $70 per unit until you complete the sale of the 1,250,000 shares common stock of Corporation Securities which you are purchasing, but in no event for a period exceeding 90 days and provided in so doing that it is not required to purchase in the aggregate over 100,000 units."

The question of dividend payments by Corporation Securities was the subject of several exhibits. On March 20, 1930, Mr. MacNeille in a letter to H. L. Stuart in the New York office said:

"I read your telegram regarding the payment of dividend on common stock to Junior." He stated that he had taken the matter up with Mr. Insull, who had cabled that he would prefer not to pay a dividend for a year, but would consent if you and Mr. Martin Insull agreed that it was the thing to do.

Consult Martin Insull.

"At Junior's suggestion I called Mr. Martin Insull and read the telegram to him, and he very frankly said that he did not agree with you. . . .

"To sum up Mr. Martin Insull's ideas, he does not think we can get the distribution we want without paying a dividend on the common stock. He thinks the amount it is proposed to pay is conservative and is fully justified under the circumstances."

After further discussion in which it was decided that dividends on common stock were necessary to interest the public a statement was prepared as "proposed publicity" by Mr. MacNeille.

A dividend would be paid of one and one half per cent on the common stock, it was announced. The date of this was March 26. On the next day the prospectus offering 1,250,000 shares of Corporation Securities was finally approved. This was offered to the public on April 2.

TWO UNION HEADS INDICTED IN BUS MURDERS HUNTED

Name Taber, Kehoe and 12; Vandal Reign Bared.

ment which will be dropped in favor of the new indictment. The defendants on this charge, besides Kehoe, Taber, and Stoltzmann, are Earl Renner, John Bretschneider, Joseph White, Albert Semple, William Semple, Edward Nacki, alias Randall, and John [Red] Lefevour. This was the crew known, according to Prosecutor Courtney, as the "west side sluggers."

In the Kennard death those indicted, besides Taber, Kehoe, and Stoltzmann, are Ralph G. Layton, Lloyd Slee, Barney Butler, and Wayne Hoover. This group, which the prosecutor charges operated under the leadership of Slee, was known as the "south side slugging crew." The grand jury, in charging that Mrs. Kennard was murdered, disagreed with a coroner's jury verdict which gave the cause of her death as heart disease.

Not only were union funds used to finance the sluggers, Prosecutor Courtney charged in a formal statement, but money was taken from the union treasury to keep some of those now under arrest in hiding in Manistee, Mich. After telling of the chance arrest of the defendants Albert Semple and Edward Nacki by a detective bureau squad under Sergt. Dan Healy, following the killing of Kelly, the prosecutor traced his investigation and its results from then to the present time.

Tells How Vandals Worked.

"From our first arrests we learned that Earl Renner went to Carmen's hall [the union headquarters at Ashland avenue and Van Buren street] early in the strike," said Prosecutor Courtney. "There he met Stoltzmann and Kehoe, according to his [Renner's] confession, and arrangements were made with them to commit certain acts of violence against the buses. The men in Renner's crew, according to their own confessions, hurled bricks through bus windows regardless of the passengers therein. For these acts they were paid $10 a man per night."

Four of this crew — the Semple brothers, Bretschneider, and Renner — had no interest in the strike other than in the money they were paid for the acts of violence they committed, Mr. Courtney said. None of the four was a bus striker or street car employé.

Renner Asked to Meet Slee.

"During the early part of the strike the Renner group was asked by Kehoe, according to their statements, to meet 'Big Bill' Slee, operating head of a south side crew of vandals," continued Mr. Courtney. "The west side gang twice went to the south side to aid Slee. Stoltzmann and Kehoe arranged these visits.

"Slee at the time was organizing a slingshot gang on the south side. The pellets used were ball bearings about the size of green olives. The duty of this gang was to ride in automobiles and by use of the slingshots hurl ball bearings at buses, breaking windows, injuring passengers and bus drivers, and scaring the public off the buses."

Charges Vandals Got $8 a Day.

The south side gang, Mr. Courtney said, was made up entirely of members of the street car local 241.

"These officials [Taber and Kehoe], together with Stoltzmann, arranged for and did pay money for the violence," said the prosecutor. "The members of this crew were paid $8 a day plus expenses. During the period the crew received $950 to recompense them for the time they took off from work."

Mrs. Kennard's death was caused by a ball bearing fired by two men, Mr. Courtney said. He refused to reveal their names. Immediately after her death the crew disbanded and went back to work with the exception of the two leaders, who fled to Manistee, Mich. These two men, Slee and Hoover, were arrested by Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney, and Detectives James Shields and John McLaughlin.

Relates Stoltzmann's Admissions.

After explaining the rumor prevalent for several days that Renner had retracted his confession involving Stoltzmann, Prosecutor Courtney told of the admissions made by Stoltzmann. Renner, the prosecutor said, at first tried to protect Kehoe because of an old friendship, but later involved Kehoe in his supplementary confession.

"Stoltzmann in his statement denies that he paid Renner any money, but admits paying money to Slee," continued Mr. Courtney. "Stoltzmann admits he knew Renner was out to do violence. He admits he met Renner through Kehoe. He admits he gave Renner names of persons to be slugged.

"Stoltzmann further admits he knew Slee was engaged in acts of violence on the south side and that he was present at a time Renner was introduced to Slee by Kehoe, when it was suggested that Renner go to the south side to help Slee."

Says Bond Arrangements Made.

Stoltzmann's admissions, as related by Mr. Courtney, regarding his connections with Slee came before the arrest of the south side crew and the solving of the death of Mrs. Kennard, according to the prosecutor. Mr. Courtney said he also can prove that Kehoe and Taber made arrangements before the calling of the actual strike for bondsmen for those who might be arrested for acts of violence or vandalism.

Among those involved in the activities of the south side crew, who were not named in indictments but are still in custody, are James Tunney, vice president of the bus local; Lawrence Stevens, Bernie Grace, and Henry Kohl, all street car employés; Louis Patton, Thomas McVardy, Martin Loughney, and John Sexton, bus strikers. They all appeared before the grand jury as witnesses.

Mr. Courtney said the investigation is not completed. Some of those held as witnesses may be named, he admitted, in a later general conspiracy indictment. They can then be held as witnesses for the murder trial and in return for their testimony be given either a light sentence or immunity for their minor crimes.

Leads Up to Blue Eagle Loss.

The bus strike was called some time after Stoltzmann, a gold star [honor] employé of the bus company, ran for office in the Motor Coach fraternity, the company union, and was defeated. Stoltzmann then joined the newly formed bus local of the Amalgamated union. He was later discharged by the Motor Coach company along with a number of other company employés.

The discharged men appealed to the regional labor board, asserting they were discharged because of union activities. The company insisted that the men were dismissed for inefficiency alone. The regional board ruled that the company had violated section 7-A of the NRA, which gives employés the right to determine who shall represent them in collective bargaining with their employers.

The bus company's Blue Eagle was revoked by the NRA after the national labor relations board upheld the finding of the local board.

MOTOR OFFICIALS END PARLEY; ASK UNIFORM LAWS

The American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators yesterday ended a three day conference at the Belmont hotel with the adoption of a resolution urging all states to conform to the so-called uniform motor vehicle code. This code includes a drivers' license law and a financial responsibility law, such as the general assembly at Springfield will consider next January, and a compulsory mechanical inspection law.

George Wellington of Rhode Island was elected president of the association and Lew Wallace of Iowa was reelected secretary and treasurer.

IDENTIFY TWO SUSPECTS IN 10 HOTEL HOLDUPS

Seized by police as they fled from the robbery of a drug store in the Allerton hotel, 707 North Michigan avenue, last Monday, two men have been identified in ten recent hotel robberies netting a total loot of about $1,300.

They are John Mason, 29 years old, whose address the police have not determined, and Jack B. Stacey, alias Daily, 28 years old, 4917 Kenmore avenue. Arrested with them as they entered their automobile with $78 taken from the drug store was William Spencer, 27 years old, 626 Waveland avenue, thus far not implicated in other robberies.

3 Dramatic Specials
from The Store for Men
. . . for Columbus Day!

The Store for Men is as famous for value as it is for style—that's a definite fact! And here are three reasons that prove that point. In our clothing sections, today, we've assembled values that are outstanding from the standpoint of style and tailoring; in our accessories departments we've taken highlights that will save you dollars if you purchase at these out-of-the-ordinary prices. By all means, don't miss these values we've planned for this great Columbus Day week-end!

For High School Men!
A Special Group of
TOPCOATS
$24.50
(The suits all have two trousers)

Even with only one pair of trousers they'd be remarkable values, so with the extra pair the value is definitely out-of-the-ordinary. Plenty of Freesway back styles as well as single and double-breasteds. The topcoats are of a natural shade of polo cloth and come in a neat, double-breasted, full-belted style.

FIRST SKIRMISH ON EXTRADITION TO HAUPTMANN

Habeas Corpus Hearing Delays Action.

New York, Oct. 11.—[Special.]—A hearing will be heard in the Bronx County Supreme court at 11 o'clock Monday morning to decide whether Bruno Richard Hauptmann shall be extradited to New Jersey to stand trial for the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr.

This was decided today by Supreme Court Justice Ernest E. L. Hammer after Hauptmann's counsel had obtained a writ of habeas corpus preventing immediate extradition. The decision went against the New Jersey authorities, who wanted the question settled without delay.

In order to make the way clear for the New Jersey authorities, County Judge James M. Barrett of the Bronx, in agreement with District Attorney Samuel J. Foley of the Bronx, adjourned Hauptmann's trial, scheduled for today on the charge of extorting $50,000 ransom from Col. Lindbergh in a Bronx cemetery a month after the kidnaping.

Wife to Testify.

James M. Fawcett, Hauptmann's attorney, asserted that the prisoner's wife, Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, and others would establish an alibi for him at Monday's hearing, testifying that he was in the Bronx on the night of the kidnaping. He added that about fifteen witnesses would be called by the defense, including several from New Jersey who would attack the credibility of witnesses for the prosecution.

If the court rules in favor of extradition on Monday, Hauptmann's counsel announced last night, an appeal will be taken to the Appelate division and then to the Court of Appeals if necessary. The case will be "fought to the finish," it was emphasized.

Appearing in court for the fourth time since his arrest last month, Hauptmann's facial expression had not changed a bit. He was still the stolid, silent, sullen man who has resisted all efforts to break him down and force him to confess.

Is Temporarily Free.

For a moment, after the extortion case was adjourned and his bond vacated, Hauptmann was technically a free man in court, but actually he was surrounded by uniformed policemen and detectives. Then he was rearrested on the extradition warant charging him with being a fugitive from justice in New Jersey on a murder charge and was returned to his cell in the Bronx county jail.

District Attorney Foley announced that on Monday the argument for extradition would be made by Attorney General David J. Wilentz of New Jersey and that the Bronx authorities would merely "sit in."

The petition for the writ was argued behind the closed doors of Justice Hammers' chambers. When the conference was ended newspaper men were permitted to enter. Justice Hammer said he had been asked by the officials for both states and by Mr. Fawcett to make known the result of the conference.

"The writ of habeas corpus was presented," said Justice Hammer, "and counsel for the prisoner asks that it be made returnable on Monday. At my request Mr. Wilentz and Mr. Foley came to my office to confer as to the date and time of the hearing.

"The state of New Jersey pressed for an immediate hearing. I felt that the request of Mr. Fawcett was reasonable and should be granted. The writ is returnable on Monday at 11 a. m. in special term, part 1, of the Supreme court. I expect to preside, having been so assigned."

May Ask "Foreign" Jury.

Mr. Fawcett said later that if the extradition fight went against his client, and if he had reason to believe that he could not get a "fair and impartial" trial in Hunterdon county, he would ask "that a foreign jury be asked to pass on the guilt or innocence of my client."

"That is," he explained, "a jury comprised of residents of some city removed from the neighborhood of the crime."

"Does Hauptmann deny that he was in New Jersey at or about the time of the commission of the crime?" the lawyer was asked.

"He does," said Mr. Fawcett.

HOPES TO SOLVE SCHOOL STRIKE DURING HOLIDAY

William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, will seek a solution for the Morgan Park High school strike today while the situation is temporarily relieved by the closing of all of the public schools for the celebration of Columbus day. The superintendent hopes to have all the 2,000 pupils, who walked out Monday in a protest against alleged overcrowding, back in classes early in the week, but no possible solution had presented itself last night, he said.

Meanwhile, leaders of the parents, who are supporting the pupils in their walkout, announced last night that they will hold a third mass meeting in the Ridge park fieldhouse tonight to consider the next move.

A delegation of parents yesterday appeared before Mayor Kelly to ask him to request the board of education to reopen the Shoop branch of Morgan Park High school. The transfer of students from the Shoop branch to Morgan Park precipitated the strike, the parents said. Mayor Kelly declined to intervene in board affairs.

Policeman's Bullets Halt Fleeing Theft Suspect

A shoplifting suspect attempted to escape while being led from the detective bureau at 1121 South State street yesterday, but was halted by several shots from the revolver of Policeman Theodore Olson. The prisoner was Manuel Floriz, 42 years old, who had been arrested in the Sears-Roebuck store at State and Van Buren streets. As he was being led from the police building to a waiting patrol wagon, he suddenly flung his topcoat in Policeman Olson face and fled. At the 12th street viaduct the prisoner halted and submitted to capture after Olson had fired several shots.

EXPECT THRONGS TO ATTEND FAIR OVER WEEK-END

Low Fares Lure Crowds; Weather Mild.

Prospects for continued mild weather and prevailing one cent a mile excursion railway rates into Chicago are expected to draw a heavy attendance at the World's Fair today, tomorrow, and Sunday, Fair officials said yesterday. This will be increased, they said, by the consciousness of Chicagoans and visitors that only three week-ends remain in which to see the great Exposition.

Railroads leading into Chicago from the east and the Ohio river region, members of the Central Passenger association, are expecting substantially heavy travel into the city, according to C. A. Fox, chairman of the association.

Big Travel from East.

"The cleanup excursion rates of one cent a mile applicable to individuals traveling on coaches, were put into effect by the eastern lines for the first time last week-end," he said. "The ideal weather and the nearness of the final closing of the Fair caused a substantial influx. The railroads are expecting an equally good travel into Chicago this week-end."

These excursions allow visitors to return as late as Wednesday and will begin bringing visitors from the east today, continuing to Sunday noon.

Bargain Tickets Help.

Many out of town visitors purchase the Fair's bargain book of tickets, sold only outside of Chicago at points of departure.

Yesterday's attendance rose sharply over that recorded on most week days of the last fortnight.

PAGEANT MARKS COLUMBUS DAY AT FAIR TODAY

A colorful pageant at the World's Fair, commemorating the landing of Columbus, will be today's principal event in a city-wide observance of Columbus day. A flotilla of gayly decorated yachts will accompany a replica of Santa Maria from the Naval Reserve armory to the Lagoon Theater at 1 p. m. and the discovery of America will be enacted.

Capt. Edward A. Evers, commander of the Fourth naval reserve area, has assigned the cutter Rush to escort the Santa Maria in the aquatic parade. Navy guns will boom an admiral's salute in honor of the Italian navigator as the boats leave Navy pier.

Mayor Kelly will lay a wreath at the foot of the Christopher Columbus monument in Grant park this morning, assisted by a committee of prominent Italian-Americans. Parks were expecting good crowds and it was announced by the Chicago Zoölogical gardens at Brookfield that visitors will be admitted free of charge.

Chicago schools were dismissed yesterday afternoon in observance of the holiday.

200 of State's Employes in County Organize Club

More than 200 state employés working in Cook county met last night at the Medinah-Michigan Avenue club to organize the Capitol club, a social group. The organization will sponsor bi-weekly meetings at which heads of the various state departments will explain their work to the employés of other departments. Officers of the new club are: President, J. M. Braude; vice president, Leonard D. Karcher; treasurer, Will L. Jones, and secretary, Hal E. Reading.

Australia Seizes Japanese Ship's Crew for Poaching

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 11.—(AP)—A Japanese ship was seized by Australian authorities in New Guinea yesterday and her crew of 25 was arrested on charges of shell poaching. Should Japan protest the arrests possible complications are foreseen.

THRONG HONORS PULASKI, HERO OF REVOLUTION

Ceremonies commemorating the 155th anniversary of the death of Count Casimir Pulaski, brigadier general in the American revolutionary army, who was fatally wounded in the battle of Savannah in 1779, were held last evening in the rotunda of the United States courthouse. A throng attended the rites honoring the memory of the Polish champion of freedom.

Anthony Czarnecki, United States collector of customs, placed a wreath on the Pulaski memorial tablet in the rotunda. Speeches were made by Mayor Kelly and other public officials. The consuls general of Poland, France and Czechoslovakia also spoke.

Choral numbers were provided by the Bohemian Workingmen's Singing Society, Lyra, and the mixed Polish choir, Filarecki. Amplifiers carried the speeches and music to all parts of the building. The drum and bugle corps of the Van Buren and the James J. Zientek posts of the American Legion sounded taps.

Fair Will Give 5,000 Lost Articles to Charity

Five thousand lost articles, such as sweaters, coats, and caps, which have been turned in to the World's Fair lost and found department will be given to charity after the Fair closes, officials announced yesterday. More than 10,000 articles of wearing apparel were handled by that department in the first three months of the Fair. Only half of them have been claimed.

EDITORS CONVENE FOR A. P. PRESS PROBLEMS FORUM

200 Delegates from 32 States Attend.

Representing newspapers in thirty-two states, more than 200 delegates attended the opening session of the Associated Press Managing Editors' association yesterday at the Edgewater Beach hotel. The meetings will conclude tonight with the first banquet of the organization.

The delegates, who were joined by foreign and local editors of the various branches of the Associated Press, were convened in the morning by Oliver Owen Kuhn of the Washington Star, who is general chairman of the executive committee.

A. P. Heads Extend Greeting.

Greetings were extended to the delegates by Frank B. Noyes, president, and Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press. During round table meetings in the morning and afternoon, papers on various topics connected with the newspaper business were read by representatives of the press service, and discussions of them were led by the editors.

Luncheon Guests of Publisher.

All of the delegates and the news service men were entertained at a luncheon in the hotel by Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE. The only speaker at the luncheon was Mayor Kelly, who extended a welcome to the visitors.

Because of a change in plans, it was announced that the banquet, which had been originally set for last night, would be held this evening at the hotel.

COLLEGIATE SESSION

More initiative in launching original research into new styles of newspaper makeup and less copying of the big city dailies was urged on the college press of the nation yesterday by Prof. Victor R. Portmann of the University of Kentucky, executive secretary of the National College Press association. Prof. Portmann addressed the joint session of the National College Press association and the Associated Collegiate Press association in the Bismarck hotel.

"A college newspaper," Prof. Portmann said, "should be a research laboratory for experiment. The time has come for the college press to stop juvenile attacks on authorities and college rules and assume a more mature viewpoint."

Before the convention was convened the delegates were guests at a luncheon given by D. F. Kelly, and heard speeches by Mayor Kelly and press association representatives.

Held to Jury on Charge of Mailing Extortion Letter

Frank Jumaga, 33 years old, a casual, was held to the federal grand jury by United States Commissioner Walker yesterday on a charge of sending an extortion letter through the mails. He was arrested Aug. 27 as he was picking up a decoy package near the Civic Opera house, placed there by police after a threatening letter had been sent to Charles D. Frey, 1486 North State parkway, demanding $2,000.

Court Quizzes 6 on Suits Periling Quick Phone Rebates

Judge Evan A. Evans of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday sent for three attorneys and their clients and asked them to explain why they filed petitions which might delay payment of a $20,000,000 refund to telephone company subscribers. The company said it was ready to start the payments next Monday and would disburse $4,000,000 to Chicagoans before Christmas, if not hampered. The refund was ordered by the United States Supreme court.

Attorneys Ray I. Suekoff, W. A. Lieberman, and A. N. Rothbard had asked leave to file garnishments against some of the telephone subscribers. Their clients held Municipal court judgments against persons they believed would benefit from the telephone refunds, they stated.

Plead Cost Excessive.

A. D. Grote, chief accountant for the telephone company, said that under the machinery set up to make the refunds, if the company had to stop and see if the clients of the attorneys had checks coming, it would cost $70,000. It would necessitate examining 45,000,000 telephone slips, he said.

In ordering the refund machinery set up, Judge Evans, Judge Will M. Sparks, and Judge James H. Wilkerson, sitting en banc, had enjoined the filing of garnishments against the refunds. The attorneys asked that this injunction be set aside.

Judge Evans first questioned the attorneys as to how they happened to file the claims. Then he questioned the clients. James Hruby, 1956 West 56th street, the client of Attorney Suekoff, said he thought he was suing for his own refund. The other clients said they had no way of knowing if their debtors had refunds due.

File Suits on Chance.

The attorneys said they were acting in the hope that the "judgment debtors" would have telephone refunds, but under questioning by the court they said they had no way of knowing if the persons named were actual beneficiaries under the phone refund order.

Attorney Benjamin F. Goldstein, who with two other lawyers represented the city in the telephone rate litigation, said that if one claimant were permitted to halt the refunds there would be scores of other lawyers flocking to do the same thing, and the mandate of the Supreme court could not be carried out.

Attorney George I. Haight, associated with Goldstein in the rate litigation, also argued against the garnishments. Judge Evans will give his decision later.

ADVISES AGAINST SONSTEBY AIDS' PAY INJUNCTION

Master in Chancery Fred Bernstein of the Superior court yesterday made a report recommending that no temporary injunction be issued in the taxpayer's suit of Mrs. Tressa Sicilia, 834 Milwaukee avenue, against Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court. The suit, which was filed by Attorney David Silbert, charged that the chief justice had illegally employed assistants with yearly salaries totaling approximately $29,000.

Attorney Silbert asked a temporary injunction restraining the city from paying salaries of the questioned employés until the case is settled. Master Bernstein held that decision in the suit depended on an interpretation of the phrasing of the Municipal court act and that a more complete hearing is necessary. He also pointed out that the taxpayer is protected from city officials' illegally paying salaries by the bonds filed by those assistants.

The master's report is to be presented to Judge Joseph Sabath of the Superior court next week.

SIGN FIRM HEAD INJURED BY GANG WIELDING BATS

David R. Ross, 28 years old, owner of a sign company at 808 Barry avenue, was seriously injured yesterday in a mysterious attack made on him and three of his employés engaged in removing a sign at North Ashland avenue and Augusta boulevard.

Ross said that four men drove up while he and his men were at work and wanted to know what they were doing. Ross explained, and without further ado the four attacked Ross and his employés, wielding baseball bats.

The three employés, none of whom was seriously injured, are Robert Judson, 26 years old, 3040 West North avenue; Gunard Nelson, 30 years old, 3107 North Racine avenue, and James Constine, 32 years old, 169 West Chicago avenue. Ross was unable to explain the assault, declaring he had never had labor trouble.

PLAN RELIEF SURVEY TO LIST THOSE WHO CAN SUPPORT SELVES

A survey to determine how many relief families will be permanently dependent on some kind of public aid will be started next week, Willifred S. Reynolds, executive secretary, said yesterday.

The main object of the survey is to learn which of the state's million relief "clients" are capable of being employed, and to provide information as to their training and former experience. The study also will gather all other available information regarding them.

The information will be used in guiding the commission's work relief program and in estimating future relief needs. There has been discussed the possibility that the government might adopt separate methods of meeting the needs of the employable "clients."

knightly unifier of Jugo-Slavia." It was recalled that King Peter I., Alexander's father, was known as "the Liberator."

The destroyer Duburovnik, which is returning with the king's body from Marseilles, is due to arrive at Spalato Saturday noon. A storm is delaying the progress of the warship, it was reported tonight. The cortège will move from Spalato to Zagreb and thence to Belgrade. It is expected to reach Belgrade Sunday—that is if the Duburovnik arrives as scheduled.

The funeral train, it was announced, will stop four hours at Zagreb. It is probable ceremonies will be arranged there. The train will continue from Zagreb to Belgrade at very low speed and will stop at many towns to give the people an opportunity to see their king for the last time.

The body will lie in state at Belgrade for two days and will be buried at Opdenak beside King Peter I., probably on Tuesday.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Evidence of police negligence in Marseilles is shown in the news reels of the assassination of King Alexander which reached London today after French authorities had tried to suppress them. The films show the king from the moment he left his warship in the harbor until he lay dying from the assassin's bullets.

Apparently photographers and onlookers were allowed to swarm up to within a few feet of the king and Foreign Minister Louis Barthou of France as they entered their car. The police, with their backs to the crowd, stood idly at intervals of at least 20 feet as the car crawled through streets to the spot where the assassin was waiting. A platoon of cavalry trotted ahead as an escort, but the only close range protection visible in these films was provided by two horsemen riding a considerable distance behind.

Germany Bans Films.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 11.—Germany today prohibited the showing of motion pictures of the assassination of King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia and Louis Barthou, French foreign minister. The official statement explained the films were banned "for reasons of international tact."

JUGO-SLAVS PLAN 3 SERVICES HERE FOR SLAIN RULER

A King Alexander memorial committee was appointed yesterday to arrange Chicago services in honor of the slain monarch. While all arrangements were tentative, pending instructions from the Jugo-Slav legation at Washington, it was decided that services will be held at three churches next week.

According to Edward P. Skubic, chairman of the committee, who is national commander of the American Jugo-Slav legion of war veterans, services will be at the Serbian Greek Orthodox church, 1905 Fowler street; at St. Stephen's Roman Catholic church, 22d and Lincoln streets, and at the University of Chicago chapel.

The participation of units of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and of various notables including Mayor Kelly, will be invited. Meanwhile the French consul, Rene Weiller, said he had been unable to plan services for Foreign Minister Barthou because he had not been told what kind of ceremonies would be held in Paris.

FIND BODY NEAR RAIL TRACKS. The body of Paul Stange, 62 years old, 9235 Ewing avenue, a boilermaker, was found yesterday on the New York Central railroad right of way near 103d street. Apparently he had been killed by a train, police said.

French Police Jail Two as Plotters in King's Murder; Prisoners Admit They Are Terrorists

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 11.—Repercussions of the most sensational assassination the world has witnessed since the one at Sarajevo continued to shake France today. Outstanding developments of the day were as follows:

Minister of Interior Albert Sarraut formally submitted his resignation to Premier Gaston Doumergue because of the general indignation over the failure of the police to give King Alexander adequate protection. This opens a cabinet crisis and the formation of a brand new Doumergue government is inevitable.

Before resigning Sarraut announced the dismissal of two of the third republic's highest officials — Director Berthoin of the Surete Generale [secret police], and Prefect Jouhanaud of the department Bouches du Rhone, in which Marseilles is located. They are the two men who shared the ultimate responsibility for police measures in preparation for Alexander's arrival.

Royalists Stage Demonstration.

Public resentment against the whole police system, which has been increasing month by month, began to show signs of exploding. Before the news of Sarraut's resignation was published, a royalist demonstration against him got under way on the boulevards. Police feared another epidemic of rioting was going to break out. At the same time war veterans issued an ominous manifesto. They warned the government their patience was at an end and that they would take matters into their own hands if a drastic cleanup did not get under way at once.

Two alleged accomplices of the slain assassin were arrested at Thonon les Bains, near the Swiss border. A third, who got away from the police last night, was being hunted in the forest of Fontainebleau near Paris. Police, without giving any details, announced that the two Croats seized at Thonon les Bains have admitted an organized terrorist plot against Alexander.

Arrested in Raid.

The two men were arrested at 4 o'clock this morning in a hotel at Thonon les Bains on Lake Geneva just as they were trying to leave France by boat for Switzerland. After long and close questioning the prisoners admitted they knew Petrus Kalemen, the assassin of King Alexander and Foreign Minister Louis Barthou of France. Police failed by a hair's breadth to catch the third suspect, also reported to be a Jugo-Slav, who escaped them twice at Fontainebleau, whence the two others bought tickets for Evian on Lake Geneva.

The two men were arrested in a surprise raid by secret police. They possessed passports bearing the names of Wladislav Benes and Yaroslav Novak. Both confessed the names on the passports were false.

Benes' passport gave his age as 31 and place of birth as Zara. Novak's age was given as 34 and place of birth Gorizia, which is 22 miles north of Trieste. Both towns formerly belonged to Austria-Hungary, but now are in Italy. They are located near that part of the Jugo-Slav kingdom where hatred of Alexander and his Serbs is most fierce.

Police believe the two men belonged to the same gang of terrorists as Kalemen, and that they intended to try to kill Alexander in Paris if Kalemen had failed at Marseilles.

Suspect Sarajevo Plot.

French and Jugo-Slav police suspect the same sort of plot as that at Sarajevo had been laid to kill Alexander. The assassins at Sarajevo first used a bomb which failed. Then they fired revolver shots which killed Archduke Franz Ferdinand and his wife and touched off the world war. It was the usual tactics of Balkan terrorists.

Benes admitted he had stopped at the same hotel in Paris as Kalemen. He wore the clothes and carried the cheap wallet purchased in the same Paris department store where Kalemen bought the clothes he was wearing when he assassinated the monarch and the French foreign minister.

No Passport Issued.

This and the fact Benes admitted stopping at the same hotel as did Kalemen is considered sufficient to establish complicity. Other evidence is the fact that the passports are forgeries. The men claimed they were issued by the Czechoslovakian consulate at Trieste.

Kalemen's passport, which also was a forgery, showed it was issued from a Czechoslovakian consulate, but at Zagreb. The Czechs declare no such passport was issued.

The passports of both suspected accomplices bore visas showing departure from Italy via Como and entry into Switzerland by way of Chiasso Sept. 26. This was two days before Kalemen entered France at Vallorbe. But neither passport bore a French visa.

Arriving at Thonon les Bains early this morning, the men went to a café to wait for a boat to cross Lake Geneva for Lausanne. A detective, looking for suspects, trailed them to the hotel and there they were arrested.

Police Grill Prisoners.

They were taken to the nearby border town of Annemasse for questioning.

In the middle of the examination one of the prisoners heard the word Bellegarde, the name of a French town, named. He thought it was Belgrade and said:

"Don't send me there! I'd sooner have my head cut off."

When a photograph of Kalemen was exhibited to them they admitted they knew him and had talked to him in Paris, but persistently denied they had participated in the assassination.

The suspect who escaped twice at Fontainebleau is believed to be the same Sylvester Chalny who stopped with Kalemen at a hotel at Aix-en-Provence, some 20 miles from Marseilles, on the eve of the crime.

Takes Taxi at Paris.

The suspect took a taxi from Paris to Fontainebleau yesterday. The fact that he spoke no French aroused the suspicion of the driver. He also gave a 15 cent tip for a nickel drink in a café. This, too, aroused the suspicion of a waiter, who, with the taxi driver, informed the police.

The suspect was found at the station where he had bought a ticket for Evian. There he was questioned by gendarmes, who took his passport. With a backward jump he broke away from a gendarme and escaped.

The police gave chase, but he escaped. He was hunted all night. Early today police entered the summer house of an estate and saw him. The fugitive fired and fled into the forest with the police shooting at him. The suspect was still at large tonight.

Girl Dies of Wounds.

The police today placed the total deaths in the Marseilles assassination at five. They stated Policeman Galli, who was reported dead, still lives. The victims besides Alexander, Barthou, and the assassin, are a woman bystander, and Yolande Farris, a 14 year old girl, who died from bullet wounds today.

The body of Barthou arrived in Paris this morning from Marseilles. The dead foreign minister was placed in the clock room of the Quai d'Orsay where so much diplomatic history has been made in recent years. There until Saturday at noon, the public will be admitted.

The first to pay their tribute to Barthou today were his ministerial colleagues. The foreign minister's funeral will be held Saturday afternoon. Premier Doumergue will make the only speech at the public ceremony at Place des Invalides. There will be a religious service later in the Church les Invalides.

ITALY AND SERBIA NEAR BREAK FOR FIFTEEN YEARS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Erupting often during the last 15 years, the bad feeling that dates back to the very birth of the south Slav kingdom often has had Europe's workers for peace on tenterhooks.

Time after time the two nations—economic and political rivals in the Balkans, military and naval rivals in the Adriatic sea—have seemed poised to launch themselves at each other's throats.

Mussolini Pessimistic.

Only last Saturday, at Milan, Benito Mussolini told 500,000 persons:

"There are no great possibilities for bettering our situation with our neighbor to the east [Jugo-Slavia]."

The world war, starting at Sarajevo in Serbia, hoisted that nation into the ranks of the great powers as its peace treaties brought together in the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes some 15,000,000 persons, most of them southern Slavs, and extended the area to three times that of present day Austria.

Ethnic principles — the effort to bring all southern Slavs into Jugo-Slavia—dictated the new kingdom's borders, but compromises were necessary and the resulting Slav melting pot, having large and dissenting minorities under its rule, failed to melt properly.

Serbs Build Strength.

Nevertheless, Jugo-Slavia was big and powerful, its Dalmatian coast furnished strategic advantages that promised control of the Adriatic sea and King Alexander forthwith began whipping its army into shape and building up its navy.

That worried Italy, already vexed over what Jugo-Slavia got out of the world war as Jugo-Slavia was peeved over what Italy got.

Italy lamented that she let go the Dalmatian coast, that long, narrow strip of territory with its many harbors stretching down along the Adriatic to Albania, and that she allowed comparatively weak Serbia to combine with Montenegro, absorb the Austrian provinces of Croatia, Herzegovina, and Slavonia and hence grow strong.

Jugo-Slavia mourned concessions to Italy along her northern frontier, the loss of Fiume, Zara, and the islands of Cherso and Lussin, and the substitution of her influence in Albania by Italy's.

Hatred Kept Alive.

An accord negotiated at Nettuno, Italy, concerning treatment of the Italian minority in Dalmatia was never ratified by the Jugo-Slav government, and thereafter hundreds of incidents—border shootings and bitter demonstrations in each country against the other—have kept hatred alive.

In 1930 Italy executed five persons of Serbian origin. A howl of rage went up in Jugo-Slavia, where they immediately were popularly proclaimed "martyrs."

An alleged "prayer of hate" against Italy in Jugo-Slav churches, attended by officials, drew diplomatic protest from Italy in 1931, as did destruction of the historic lions of St. Mark at Trau, Dalmatia, in 1932.

Shows Leaning to Croatia.

While condemning Jugo-Slavia in general, Italian papers during the last decade, nevertheless, showed proclivities for Croatia, Jugo-Slavia's northern quarter, which they termed "Latin in sympathy," and their receptivity to rumors of revolt in Croatia led to bitter charges in the Jugo-Slav press that Italy was plotting with the province to revolt.

Still another factor directing Slav suspicion toward Italy is the oft-recurring report that Mussolini has his finger in plans to restore the Hapsburgs in Austria and Hungary.

This report got added credence, in the minds of Slavs at least, in March of this year when Italy, Hungary, and Austria signed one political and two economic tri-partite pacts, and later when the engagement of Princess Maria of Italy to Archduke Otto, Hapsburg pretender, was unofficially announced.

Row on Arms Shipments.

Suspicion of an Italian desire to restore the old Austria-Hungary empire, with possible re-absorption of some of the "succession states," led to accusations that Italy was shipping arms into Austria and Hungary and, early in 1933, to the verge of war.

War seemed to threaten again in July when Italy rushed 100,000 troops to the Austrian border during Austria's abortive Nazi revolt, and Jugo-Slavia hurried soldiers up to the Italo-Jugo-Slav boundary to glare menacingly across at the Italians.

Jugo-Slavia warned "hands off Austria," and Italy announced determination to intervene if necessary, but Austria managed to put down the Nazis and Italy's troops withdrew. A sore spot left behind was concentration of Nazi refugees in Jugo-Slavia.

Next point of issue came last month when Rome protested strongly to Belgrade the "virulent anti-Italian" campaign of Jugo-Slav papers, which, it was charged, had cast slurs on the bravery of Italy's troops. Coincident with this were predictions that Jugo-Slavia might counter-protest Gen. Italo Balbo's recent visit to Dalmatia and his reputed "irredentist" expressions there.

The Carolina Homespun
To reach the source of these homespuns, whose strength and good looks have become legendary, we have to go back generations — direct to the looms of hardy Carolina mountaineers, who knew just what it took to make a homespun able to take a rough-and-tumble backwoods life. Then as now only the finest wool went into them—the result a year-around suiting; one that is next to impossible to wear to a shine; one that drapes very nearly as freely and softly as fine flannel. $34.50.
The Shirred Sports Back
We're showing this new shirred back jacket suit roughing it in a well groomed way of staunch tweeds that are obviously the work of talented weavers. Even Jeeves, a connoisseur of tweeds, is deceived by the absence of the peat aroma. Aside from that, it's a tweed that looks as though it would thrive on abuse, and a suit of it heads the list of practical and smart ideas not to be overlooked in this fall's suit line-up. Small over checks and Donegal type tweeds—others of plain and patterned cheviot. $34.50.

BOY KING STARTS FOR HOME UNDER GUARD OF GUNS

500 Police Form Escort at Paris Station.

BULLETIN.

BELFORT, France, Oct. 12.—(Friday.)—(AP)—The train carrying young King Peter of Jugo-Slavia to Belgrade passed through here, bound for Basel, at 3:15 a. m. Only officials were allowed on the platform as the heavily guarded special express passed on to Switzerland.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 11.—A bewildered lad of 11, looking prematurely old in the long trousers of an English schoolboy and a mourning armlet hastily sewed on his gray topcoat, drove up to Gare de l'Est tonight. He promised once more to remember that kings do not cry and stepped out of an automobile onto the station platform.

While thousands watched the boy who until two days ago was Peter to his playmates and today is Peter II., king of Jugo-Slavia, gravely and with head erect walked to the waiting train and climbed aboard.

He trudged between 500 gardes mobile who stood shoulder to shoulder with hands on pistol holsters. Paris established the most elaborate police guard in recent history to protect the boy from any harm.

Carload of Detectives.

A carload of special detectives was attached to the train. At each end were freight cars filled with police. At the throttle of France's newest and best locomotive was the railroad's chief operating official himself.

France was taking no chance that the fate of Peter's father should be his.

This was a trying day for the 11 year old boy.

Standing in the royal car with bewildered gravity before the train departed, he received a long line of old gentlemen with red ribbons on their coats. Their faces were solemn masks. In his childish and unsteady voice Peter gave answers he had been told to give to the formal phrases of "Monsieur le Presidents," or "Monsieur le Ministres."

Two Queens at His Side.

At his side were two women in deep mourning. One was Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania. The other was Queen Marie of Jugo-Slavia. Until 9 o'clock tonight they were just his grandmother, who was trying to comfort his childish grief, and his widowed mother whom he is supposed to help by being strong.

But at this moment they were two queens and they wore the same solemn masks as the old men with the silk hats.

This was the first time Peter had ever worn a king's mask in public. Perhaps he could not have held out very long, but the official farewells were brief. At 9:16 p. m. silk hats rose in the air and the locomotive began to puff. King Peter said good-by to his childhood and started off on a long journey across Europe to fill the world's uneasiest throne—the throne of his assassinated father, Alexander, fighting ruler of a fighting people.

He was in one coach with his mother. His grandmother, Queen Marie of Rumania; his aunt, the Princess Ileana of Rumania, and her husband, Archduke Anton of Hapsburg, entered another. A third private car held Gen. Henri Petain, minister of war, and other high officials who will represent France at King Alexander's funeral.

Mournful Greeting for Marie.

This morning an enormous crowd, kept far back by hundreds of policemen and soldiers, gathered at Gare de Lyon to give a mournful greeting to Alexander's widow.

President Albert Lebrun got off and entered the queen's car to pay his respects. Dowager Queen Marie then entered her daughter's car, helped her to dress and comforted her.

The two queens left the station escorted by mounted republican guards and drove to the Jugo-Slav legation. There Queen Marie saw her son and sovereign. She told him in a mother's words of the death of Alexander.

CALLS KING'S SLAYING START OF UPRISING FOR CROAT FREEDOM

The assassination of King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia is the thing for which 6,000,000 Croats in that country have longed, and it marks the start of the uprising for freedom on the part of these people in Jugo-Slavia. That statement was made yesterday by Dr. Branimir Jelich, who recently arrived in Chicago, and yesterday assumed command of the secret headquarters here of the Defenders of Croatia, or Hrvatski Domobran.

All the leaders of this movement are under death sentence, including its international head, Dr. Ante Pavelic, now in Switzerland, Dr. Jelich pointed out, but they are now seeking moral and financial aid in the fight for freedom among 1,000,000 Croats in the United States and Canada.

"The Croats have been forced into a revolutionary movement as a means of survival," Dr. Jelich said. "Nothing in the world can stop our fight for freedom. We will never consent to remain under Jugo-Slavian control, which means Serbian control.

"The Serbs have fought our religion, which is Roman Catholic, trying to force us into the Orthodox church. We have fought with all pacifistic means and gained nothing. So we must change our tactics."

CROATS YERN FOR INDEPENDENCE, LEADER INSISTS

VIENNA, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Croatia's four and one-half million people will never be content with anything less than absolute independence of Jugo-Slavia, August Koshutich, leader of the outlawed Croat Peasant party, said tonight.

The former member of the Jugo-Slav cabinet, who has traveled and lectured in the United States, predicted that the death of King Alexander would ameliorate the dictatorship under which Jugo-Slavia had been ruled since 1929. Asserting Serbs nevertheless would continue to dominate the government, he declared Croats would never join Italy or Austria but would "settle our own problems without help or interference."

Serbs now rule Jugo-Slavia to the almost complete exclusion of Croats and Slovenes, Koshutich asserted.

"The Croatians have no love for Italians," he declared, "nor do we desire to return to our old master Austria and Germany. We are willing to remain partners with the Serbs and Slovenes in a federal state and will even accept a king provided he doesn't exercise autocratic power as did Alexander, but we don't want to be vassals of Italy or any other country."

VETERAN ENGINEER DIES.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—George M. Kraft, retired Chicago and Eastern Illinois engineer died here today. He was a veteran railroader.

ITALY CONDEMNS ASSASSINATION OF SERB RULER

Mussolini Eyes Rioting in Jugo-Slavia.

ROME, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Italy's official press tonight was clearly ready to repudiate the assassination of King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia, no matter who his assassin was, as Benito Mussolini closely watched developments in Jugo-Slavia growing out of the tragedy.

Riots at Ljubljana and Sarajevo, directed at Italy, caused no great concern here, and the press regarded with profound repugnance and disapproval the deed at Marseilles.

Although Italy has openly sympathized with Croatia, Jugo-Slavia's northern quarter, in its differences with Belgrade, the tone of official press utterances indicated clearly that condemnation of the assassination would not be spared even though the killing was plotted by Croats.

To Disclaim Responsibility.

If it should be true that accomplices of the assassin were born on territory now Italian, as dispatches from France indicated today, Italy nevertheless will disclaim responsibility for the tragedy.

The cities of Zara and Gorizia, given on passports of two men jailed in France as their birthplaces, formed part of the Austro-Hungarian empire at the time the prisoners were born, the foreign office pointed out today.

Furthermore names given by the men were Slavic and the Czechoslovakian consul general at Trieste denied that the passports were issued there, as they appeared to have been.

Italy first looked with favor on Croatia's aspirations in 1929 when Belgrade took severe measures to repress Croats. Friendship for the Croats grew steadily thereafter until Belgrade felt constrained to send Serbian elements to the Italo-Croatian border to act as buffers.

Sought Friendly Relations.

Italy felt Croatia sooner or later would recover its autonomy, it was believed, and hence her purpose was the far sighted one of establishing friendly and neighborly relations which in the future might lead to active economic collaboration.

Such relations would prove a boon to the Italian territory lying along the eastern coast of the Adriatic which is sadly in need of an economic hinterland.

Furthermore, Italy has several claims in Dalmatia which she has never been able to settle favorably with Jugo-Slavia, but which might be worked out with an autonomous, friendly Croatia.

A close check was being kept by the government tonight to see whether more displays of anti-Italianism followed today's demonstrations.

There was no official confirmation here of reports of anti-Italian demonstrations at Belgrade and Zagreb, but reported unrest among the Jugo-Slavs themselves was watched carefully for fear the slaying of the dictator-king might lead to civil warfare.

SAN FRANCISCO WILL OPEN NEW WATER SYSTEM

Go-Getters Will Celebrate Inauguration Oct. 28.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—San Francisco is going to have a party. Los Angeles may be the first city of the state and all California may be going to the demnition bow-wows with Socialist Upton Sinclair on Nov. 6 but San Francisco is going to have one last fling on Oct. 28. It's going to be a water party, celebrating the inauguration of San Francisco's new water supply, but only wine [California] will be served.

Twenty years ago the California go-getters of that day, amateurs though they were compared with their successors, procured from congress the right to pipe to San Francisco the waters of 459 square miles of watershed in the northern part of Yosemite National park, 155 miles away. That was the beginning of San Francisco's 100 million dollar Hetch Hetchy valley water supply which will gush into the city mains with appropriate ceremonies on Oct. 28.

Ickes Will Be Guest.

Principal guest of honor will be Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior and public works administrator, who to the bonanza given the city by the last previous Democratic administration added the finishing touch of a 3½ million dollar PWA allotment to aggrandize the project, with the compliments of the current Democratic administration.

Sharing the honors will be Senator Hiram Johnson of California [Rep., Bullmoose Dem.], whose presidential aspirations were perennially managed by Mr. Ickes and whose ability to procure PWA money for his state has not been noticeably embarrassed by that close relationship. Senator Johnson will be a tolerant observer of the celebration of the fruits of his predesessors go-getting, which pale into insignificance when compared with his own feat of getting Los Angeles a water supply from the Colorado river by means of the 165 million dollar Boulder dam, constructed by the federal government. Before he went to Washington and showed them how to do these things the argonauts of 1914 thought they were pretty smart to get from Uncle Sam the privilege to spend San Francisco's own money in the erection of the Hetch Hetchy dam.

City Owns Dams.

They were not so dumb at that, for San Francisco owns the dams creating its water supply and will be able to reimburse itself for the entire cost many times over from the revenue from the sale of water power. In fact, the city already has recovered about 20 per cent of the outlay before the completion of the project.

Although the 155 miles of tunnels, aqueducts, and pipe lines are just being completed, the dams were constructed and waters impounded on a vast scale a decade ago. From the water power so developed San Francisco has derived a revenue of 2 million dollars a year. The city disposes of the power through the Pacific Gas and Electric company, biggest public utility in the state. At first it was called a sale of power to the private utility, but when it was pointed out, with sundry threats of court proceedings, that such sale is contrary to the provisions of the grant, it was discovered that it was not a sale at all, merely a "distribution" of the power to private consumers, with the Pacific Gas acting as agent of the city.

Plans to Sell Power.

Ultimately the city, I was informed by a water department official, aims to sell current directly to consumers by means of its own transmission lines.

The entire Hetch Hetchy project is a vast one, involving the gigantic O'Shaughnessy dam in the Yosemite, forming the Hetch Hetchy reservoir, with a capacity of 67 billion gallons of water, and a series of lesser dams, reservoirs, 64 miles of tunnels, pipe lines, power houses, and transmission lines.

Mr. Ickes granted the 3½ million dollars of PWA money to enable the city to add 85½ feet to the O'Shaughnessy dam, bringing the total height of the structure to 430 feet and increasing the capacity of the reservoir to 117 billion gallons. The city will not need the additional capacity for another 50 or 75 years, but with $900,000 of the 3½ millions an outright gift from the federal government the bargain was too tempting to be resisted.

Entire River Diverted.

Incidentally, one result of the project is the diversion of the Tuolumne river from its natural watershed. This diversion has been viewed with complacency by a federal government which cracked down on Chicago for diverting Lake Michigan water from the St. Lawrence to the Mississippi watershed.

The big mistake made by the California go-getters of 1914, from the viewpoint of latter day artists in that line, was in agreeing to make certain payments for the privileges obtained. But these mistakes have been largely corrected and the bonanza is now virtually flawless from the Californian viewpoint.

Thus the grant by congress provided that San Francisco should build and maintain certain scenic and other roads in Yosemite park. For a long time the city failed to fulfill this part of the bargain, and the late Stephen Mather, director of national parks, became very unpopular in San Francisco by demanding fulfilment.

Finally Builds "Road."

Grudgingly the city built what the act denominated a "wagon road," but which under Mather's dictation became a motor highway costing $300,000. City hall still echoes with the wails over that expenditure.

After Mather had passed out of the picture, the city, toward the end of the Hoover administration, induced the interior department to waive further construction of roads in consideration of a payment of 1¼ million dollars in five instalments.

PWA allotments to California aggregate about 60 millions. In addition there is the RFC loan of 72 millions for the San Francisco-Oakland transbay bridge, the piers of which are nearly complete.

G. O. P. CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR ASSAILS SINCLAIR EPIC PLAN

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 11.—(AP)—In his first outright political speech since the primaries, Acting Gov. Frank F. Merriam, Republican nominee to succeed himself, launched a counter offensive tonight against his two opponents, Upton Sinclair, Democratic nominee, and Raymond L. Haight, Progressive.

"Human misery should not be made a laboratory for experimentation by even the most well meaning of theorists," he said.

"We are gradually evolving a new social and economic order, and in this process of growth and evolution it is essential that government adapt itself to the changing needs of the people. But this does not mean—and in California at this time I am sure it will not mean—a drastic overturning of all that is solid, substantial and productive.

"Our economic situation is not sufficiently strong to long withstand mischievous and destructive meddling. Our social ills cannot be cured by creating class distinctions and class hatreds."

CODE FOR HOTELS IS UNDER ATTACK AT CONVENTION

New Orleans, La., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Hotel men, meeting here in the annual convention of the American Hotel association, applauded attacks today made on the hotel code. They are preparing to carry their appeal straight to President Roosevelt.

Frank A. K. Boland, general counsel of the association, asserted:

"The code is legally unenforceable."

Boland advised hotel men to give no information to the labor compliance board, "before demanding the details of any complaint which may be the basis for such demand." He urged avoidance of any statement of compliance "which, in fact is a proposed written confession of guilt."

"In this connection," he added, "I would like to comment on the publicity that has been given by the enforcement authorities to their action in taking away Blue Eagles from those who, they have contended, are not complying with code provisions. Much of this publicity is misleading and coercive. It is intended to subject the business of the particular concern to the possible dangers of a boycott at the hands of the public."

HINTS DR. FRANK COURTING FAVOR FOR PRESIDENCY

Newspaper Comments on Dean Garrison Case.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 11.—(AP)—The Madison Capital Times said today that refusal of President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin to permit Dean Lloyd K. Garrison to remain in Washington as head of the national labor relations board is being interpreted in university circles as a gesture from Dr. Frank for the Republican presidential nomination in 1936.

The Capital Times said this comment is being widely circulated on the campus, especially among faculty members.

Favors Liberal Leader.

The newspaper said it understood Dr. Frank feels the Republican party is in need of a "liberal" candidate, yet not a "dangerous" liberal, and believes he is in a position to qualify.

Mr. Garrison is dean of the university law school and went to Washington on a leave of absence.

Dr. Frank said today that his position with respect to Dean Garrison is solely in the interest of the university.

"In August," he said, "I received a letter from President Roosevelt, urging me to permit Dean Garrison to remain as head of the labor board for a year.

Replies to President.

"I replied to his letter and explained that it is more difficult to replace an administration head such as Dean Garrison is than it is to fill the place of a professor or instructor.

"It was my belief that we could not spare Dean Garrison from the law school for a year. I never received any answer to that letter and President Roosevelt never has communicated with me on the matter since that time."

Asked for a statement regarding the newspaper story, Mr. Frank said he had no comment to make. He added that if he took the time to answer all speculation appearing in the press he would have no time for anything else.

DUKE D'OLMO NOW 103; HAS SERVED 4, BURIED 3 KINGS

ROME, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Duke Borea D'Olmo, who has served four kings and buried three, celebrated his 103d birthday today and the 93d year of his service to the house of Savoy.

Duke Borea, now prefect of the palace of King Victor Emmanuel, is regarded as one of the greatest experts of Europe's royal courts. He received congratulatory messages today from aristocrats in many countries.

Duke Borea entered court life at the age of ten, becoming a page of King Charles Albert of Savoy. He successively served Victor Emmanuel II., Humbert I., and Victor Emmanuel III. He made the funeral arrangements for three of them.

In every city from coast to coast people are having October Ale parties. In every tavern they are having October Ale festivals. And wherever crowds are gathering they are singing the "Brown October Ale" song.

And that's a big point in the psychology of a nation. The people are singing again. Wherever you run into crowds, you hear the voices roaring out:

"So laugh, lads, and quaff, lads, 'twill make you stout and hale,—"

And once again Drewrys has come to the rescue of a tired and weary nation.

Drewrys is the only October Ale now brewed in America. It has been stewing in its own juices for many moons.

For October Ale is more than just a name. In England they have laid down this particular ale for a thousand years, early each year to be ready for the fall. It is rich amber in color, heavy in body, deceitfully mild and mellow in flavor, but, oh lady! don't drink too much! In America we have followed the English and Canadian formula, even to the warning!

BEST NEW DEAL FEATURES G O P'S, AVERS SENATOR

Vandenberg Fights for "Liberalized" Party.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—The New Deal is being expounded in Michigan's senatorship contest in a style all its own. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican, tells his audiences that the two best things in the New Deal recovery program to date have come not from the brain trust but from Republican sources.

First of these, he sets forth, is the federal bank deposit insurance which has served to build up confidence. He was author of this measure, passed in the face of White House opposition.

Second is the Hatfield-Wagner bill for railroad retirement pensions, co-author of which was Senator Henry D. Hatfield, Republican of West Virginia, rated as one of the best minds in the senate.

Seen as 1936 Possibility.

Vandenberg is a Grand Rapids editor and is sometimes mentioned as a Republican presidential possibility in 1936. His friends say some eastern Republican senators have taken an exaggerated idea of the senator's trend toward New Dealishness. Some in the G. O. P. have been saying Vandenberg is doing an adagio dance on some New Deal aspects.

The senator himself says he is for whatever good things are in the New Deal and against all bad things, such as regimentation and price fixing, and abdication by congress of its constitutional powers. He says he is for a new order rather than a New Deal, and that government must accept a larger social responsibility than prior to 1932, but it must be based on private enterprise and free from state socialism.

In his speeches he is praising some parts of the Roosevelt program, and is assailing hammer and tongs the NRA, the professoriat, and the failure of "Pollyanna brain trusters" to restore the confidence upon which business and industry must base full recovery.

Urge "Liberalized" G. O. P.

The view many Vandenberg men express is that the Republican national party itself has to be "liberalized" in its party organization and accept "larger social responsibility." It is one item on which they are hammering away in the campaign.

Against Senator Vandenberg is running Frank A. Picard, Democrat of Saginaw, former head of the Michigan liquor commission. He has a colorful personality, comes from an old family, and is a great mixer.

As a lad Picard trained as an acrobat and later played football. Bands play "The Man on the Flying Trapeze" as the Picard campaign hymn, just as it used to be "The Sidewalks of New York" for Al Smith and "Happy Days Are Here Again" for President Roosevelt. It's all worked into the campaign speeches.

"The man on the flying trapeze always lands on his feet," Picard tells his audiences. "My opponent is trying to do a balancing act, and trying to carry water on both shoulders, he is going to find himself all wet. He is the greatest yes and no man in the senate."

Vandenberg Answers Often.

Senator Vandenberg jumped for this and speared it. He is now slamming it back at his rallies.

"The man on the flying trapeze," says Vandenberg, "says I am a 'yes and no' man. He's absolutely correct. I say 'yes' to things that are good and right even though they bear the Democratic label. And I say 'no' to things that are indefensible. That's precisely what I am, a yes and no man.

"My opponent calls himself 100 per cent for the New Deal administration—with cotton in his ears, blinders on his eyes, another rubber stamp, another ditto mark, a 'yes man.'

"I believe in social responsibility in government without socialism. One thing done in the last year and a half that has proved a success in promoting confidence by the American people is the creation of federal bank deposit insurance.

People Now Sleep Nights.

"People with money in the bank can now sleep nights. We have invoked the social responsibility of government without invasion of the fields of socialism in any respect.

"Here is a perfect example of the value of yes and no, for bank deposit insurance, which now proves a great boon towards recovery, became effective in spite of the New Deal. The President addressed a letter demanding it be eliminated from the Glass-Steagall bill. Bank deposit insurance became a law against the opposition of the New Deal, and I take pride because I wrote that bank deposit insurance amendment myself. The big showdown will come in the next congress."

"Now Mr. Farley, Democratic national chairman, discovers deposit insurance is popular. So he made a speech claiming it was the product of the New Deal, because the Democratic national platform at Denver back in 1908 said something about it.

"I supported the Hatfield-Wagner bill for railroad retirement pensions, which typifies the social responsibility of government in writing a formula for some degree of protection for labor in its mature years. The co-author of this bill is a Republican, Senator Hatfield, one of the greatest brains in the senate. Here we have two notable Republican contributions to the New Deal.

"I insist on 'no' to the effort to regiment business under the codes, which forces coal dealers in Grand Rapids at the approach of winter to charge more for a ton of coal than they unanimously asked permission to charge, and jails a pants presser for pressing a pair of pants for 10 cents less than NRA decreed.

Stop Tonics from Treasury.

"The only way we can get recovery is to quit relying on the public treasury for tonic and upon Washington for the hypodermic and instead create confidence. There is just as much unemployment as 18 months ago, so President Green of the Federation of Labor reports.

"No one is critical of emergency use of tonics. But are we in the way of getting anywhere? We cannot live forever on the hypodermic. If we were buying prosperity with these vast expenditures no one would worry, but 10 billion dollars will be the expenditure from the federal treasury for the two years ending next March. I am not criticizing emergency expenditures for relief, but am just laying down the physical fact we are near the end of the reservoir. We must speedily devise a way to take the burden off the treasury and give business its chance at recovery.

"Private enterprise is straining at the leash for opportunity to go to work if allowed. The forces of recuperation ought to be given a chance to operate. The uncertainties must be removed."

City Liquor License Appeal Group Holds First Meeting

The Chicago liquor license appeal commission, headed by State Senator Harold Ward, held its first meeting yesterday in the city hall. Other members are Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes and Milton J. Foreman. Seven cases were scheduled for hearing but five establishments withdrew their appeals. The only important case was that of the Torch club at 226 East Ontario street, which appealed from the city's refusal to issue a license. The place was closed by police on the opening night on the ground of unseemly conduct. This case was taken under advisement.

Misplaces Wrist Watch; Thinks She Swallowed It

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Miss Tarzana Nichols, a trapeze performer appeared at a hospital today and asked for an X-ray examination because she believed she had swallowed her wrist watch, missing since Sunday. Miss Nichols said she occasionally places valuables in her mouth at night for safe keeping. She said she thought of the timepiece, when she had pains in her stomach today. The X-ray failed to show the watch.

HISTORIC STORY OF ROGERS PARK TOLD IN PAGEANT

The story of Rogers Park, from the time that Philip Rogers, a native of Ireland, purchased the first tract of land along the lake in 1838 for $1.25 an acre, to the present day, was depicted last night in the Drama of Rogers Park, held at the Loyola university stadium.

The pageant, which was viewed by several thousand spectators, was preceded by a three mile parade, which included bands, floats, and various civic and fraternal groups. Mayor Kelly was in the line of march, and made a brief address at the stadium.

Miles E. Barry was general chairman of the celebration, assisted by Lee Ross, while W. C. Calvert and Police Captain Patrick Harding were in charge of the parade.

In the pageant the growth of the district, from the time it was merely a little settlement in the wilderness along the lake, far from Chicago proper, was depicted in a series of tableaux.

One scene recalled the fact that Rogers Park had a great fire as devastating to that community as was the 1871 conflagration to Chicago. That was 22 years after the Chicago fire, but like Chicago, Rogers Park survived to rebuild on a greater scale than before.

Grant's Granddaughter Regains U. S. Citizenship

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Princess Julia Cantacuzene-Speransky, born in the White House in 1876, today took the oath of American citizenship. She lost her citizenship in 1889 because of her marriage to Prince Michael Cantacuzene-Speransky of Russia. The princess is a granddaughter of President Grant and was born during his administration.

1½ MILLION VOTES EXPECTED NOV. 6 IN COOK COUNTY

Interest Keener than in 1932, Say Experts.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Election experts, who based their calculations on the final registration figures of last Tuesday, predicted yesterday that nearly a million and a half votes will be cast in Cook county on Nov. 6.

Official figures of the board of election commissioners showed that there are 1,710,475 Chicagoans entitled to vote on that day. That is much higher than the figure for the presidential election of 1932, which was 1,498,314. Revision Saturday night and the operation of suspect notices thereafter may reduce this year's total of eligibles by some 200,000, but the remainder will still be above the 1932 figure.

Expect Few Erasures.

In the country towns in the county, with a few precincts still to hear from, the total registration is placed at 260,444. Few erasures are expected here since this was a general, or completely new registration in this territory.

If these conjectures are correct, there will be about 1,750,000 residents of Cook county eligible to vote in November. In the most recent off year like the present one, which was 1930, there was 75 per cent of the registered vote cast. In the presidential year this jumped to 95 per cent.

Analysts believe that, while public interest three weeks from next Tuesday will not reach the peak it did two years ago, it will exceed that of four years ago and, on that basis, estimate that between 80 and 90 per cent of the registered vote will be cast.

Voters' Interest Keen.

"For an off year," said John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the election board, "these registration figures are the highest ever recorded and indicate the intense interest of the voters in the election."

With this prospect of a big turnout, both the Republican and Democratic organizations are turning themselves more than ever to closeup work among the voters in the wards and the suburbs. Neither is making any broad public appeal for the independent vote.

In what was considered something of a class for Democratic campaign orators, Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher yesterday addressed a luncheon for the party's candidates at the Hotel Morrison.

Stake All On Roosevelt.

His advice, although not delivered in that form, was to stake everything on President Roosevelt.

The big Republican occasion of the day was the opening of Hotel Sherman headquarters for James P. Ringley, nominee for sherif. Service men, because of Ringley's standing among them, were particularly numerous, among them being two former state commanders of the American Legion, Ferre C. Watkins and Charles W. Schick. Also present were Milton J. Foreman, Oscar E. Carlstrom, former attorney general, and two former commanders of the Cook county council of the Legion, Edward Clamage and Edward F. McGinnis.

CHICAGO BOYS AMONG STUDENTS HELD FOR 'PRANK'

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Ten University of Illinois undergraduates, on a foray last night for wood supplies for the homecoming bonfires, ran into a cordon of state police and farmers.

Today two students were still picking buckshot from their skin. With their eight companions they were named in a larceny complaint filed in an Urbana justice court.

Edward Heywood of Chicago and Robert Strauch of Urbana were slightly injured when struck by buckshot fired by Earl T. Werts, grain elevator watchman at Myra station.

The wood collected will be used in a huge bonfire Friday night at a pep meeting preliminary to the Illinois-Ohio State football game Saturday, where special honors are to be paid to "Red" Grange.

Others named in the larceny complaint were Henry Beardsley of Kansas City, Mo.; James F. Maynard of Rockford, Ill.; William Siefried of Park Ridge, Ill.; George Schreiber Jr. of Indianapolis, Ind.; Allen Pope of Moline, Ill.; George A. Parker of Berwyn, Ill.; L. Arthur Smith, Rock Island, Ill., and Ray Keil of Elmhurst, Ill.

Pana, Ill., Girl, 9, Is Run Over and Killed by Auto

Pana, Ill., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Run down by an automobile as she walked home from school, Jeanette Budds, 9, daughter of Alderman and Mrs. Ward Budds, died of her injuries in a hospital here tonight. The driver, Walter Connelly of Millersville, reported to state highway police and was not held.

16,000 ATTEND ILLINOIS G. O. P. RALLY AT OREGON

Fish, Brooks Among Day's Speakers.

Oregon, Ill., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Sixteen thousand Republicans, representing the Eleventh to the Fifteenth congressional districts, inclusive, gathered at the Fair grounds here this afternoon at a northern Illinois Republican rally and barbecue. The majority were farmers and their wives, who took a keen interest in the talks. Three thousand pounds of beef was served in sandwiches.

Representative Hamilton Fish Jr. of New York made the opening talk, in which he said in part: "We cannot have a prosperous America without fair prices for agricultural products, and prosperous American farms depend on the cost of production plus a reasonable profit for the farmers. I am glad the farmers of Illinois will receive corn and hog checks, and at least get back a small part of the taxes your great state of Illinois pays into the federal treasury."

Brooks Makes Speech.

C. Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for congressman at large, was enthusiastically received. "This gathering of 16,000 citizens of this great agricultural section of Illinois attending our Republican rally in the middle of the day indicates the desire of the citizens of this state to know definitly the course our government is to take in the immediate future," he said. "It indicates a desire to stop the continued uncertainty regarding the laws, rules, and regulations regarding the farmers, factories, and little stores of Illinois that we may as individual citizens know what we can do to help pull out of this depression.

"As we near the election day the people of Illinois realize that they must send Republicans to the legislature of our state and Republican representatives to the congress of the United States as the only possible means of having a definite course of action.

"The farmers of this state and the people as a whole are patriotic and are willing to do any reasonable thing to coöperate in any recovery program, but they do want our state government to concern itself about the welfare of this state and the twenty-seven representatives in Congress to concern themselves about the welfare of the agriculture, industry, and coal mines of this state and not stand as one man voting a party vote that will continue a program of uncertainty that will indefinitly block real recovery.

Definite Program Urged.

"The only program that can create confidence is one of definiteness to put more men to work in private enterprise. This cannot possibly be brought about by a shifting policy that creates uncertainty and confusion. Our government must chart a definite course creating confidence and the desire to give employment. This the Democratic party has failed to do."

Other speakers of the afternoon were Congressman Leo N. Allen of Galena, former Congressman William E. Hull of Peoria, State Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago, Milton G. Jones, and John G. Oglesby.

TURKEY WARS ON ZIONISTS; RAIDS JEWISH BODIES

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Authorities announced here today that all Zionist activities were illegal, and immediately instituted raids on headquarters of a number of Jewish organizations all over the nation. It was stated the purpose of the raids was to attempt to establish a connection between the organization and Zionist enterprises. A law passed in July forbade Jews to live in certain frontier zones. Following its enactment there were demonstrations against Jews in Turkish thrace.

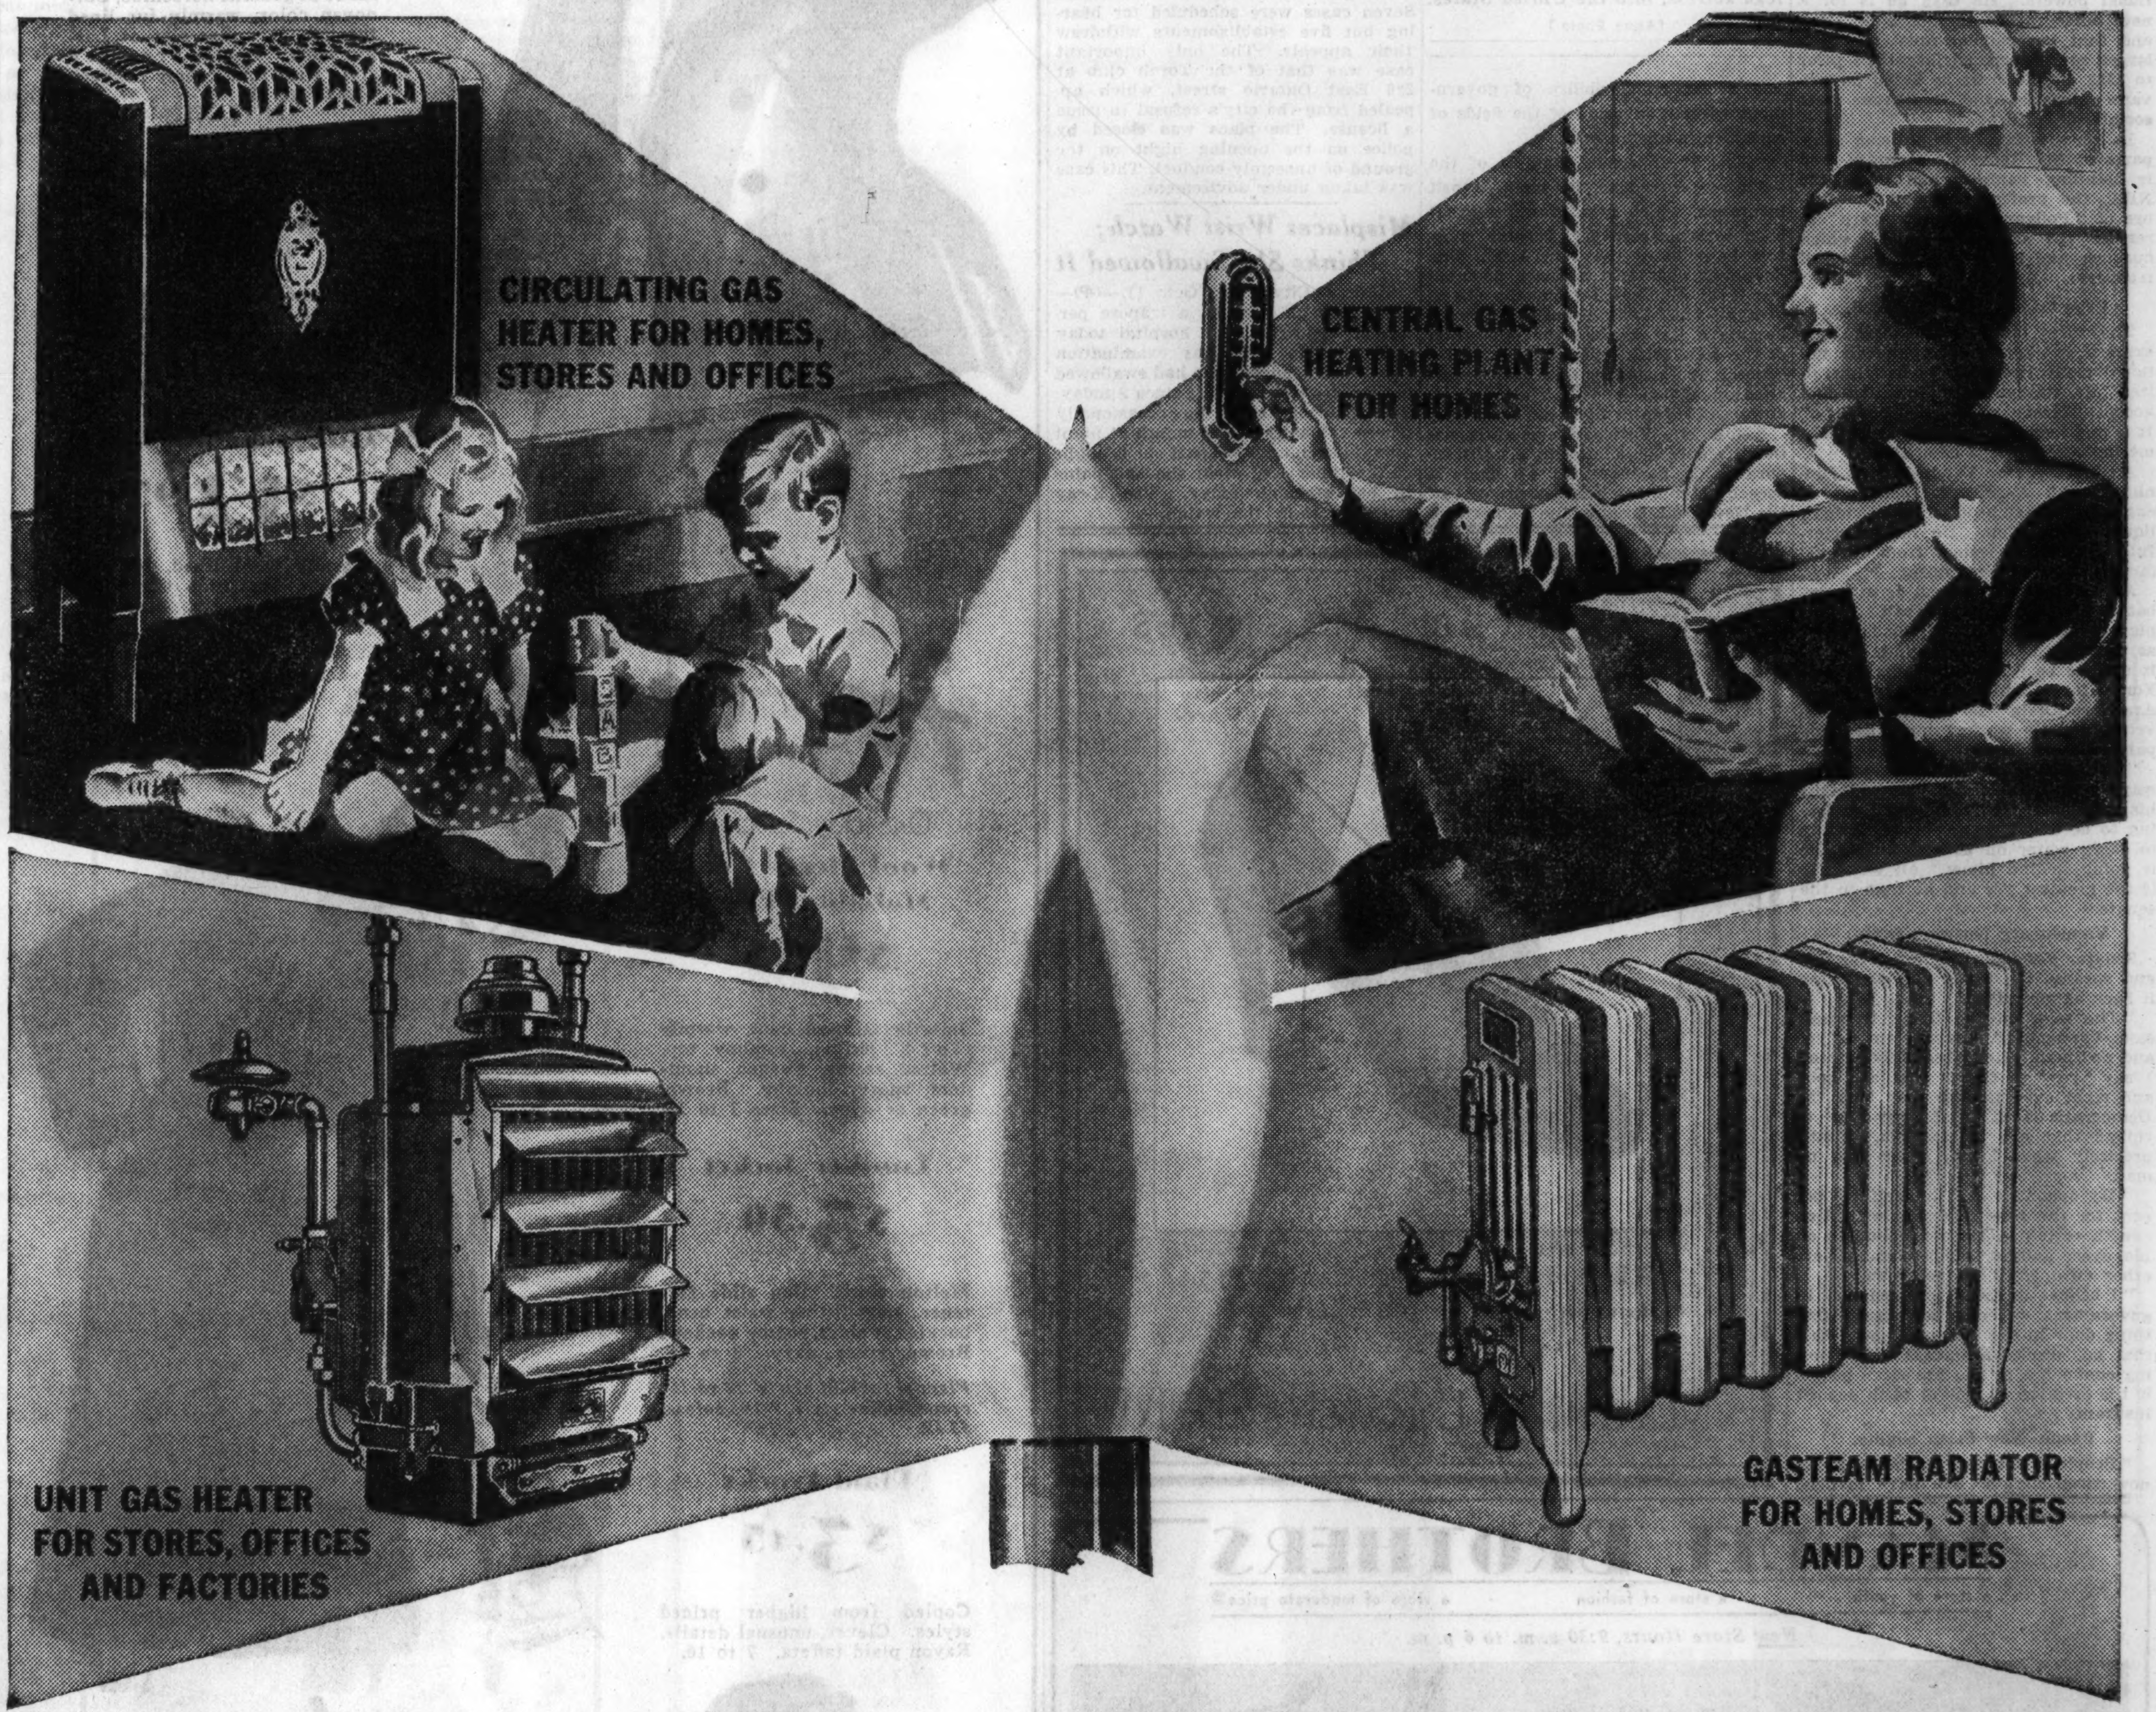
Gas heat orders pour in as fall heating season gets under way



CIRCULATING GAS HEATER FOR HOMES, STORES AND OFFICES
CENTRAL GAS HEATING PLANT FOR HOMES
UNIT GAS HEATER FOR STORES, OFFICES AND FACTORIES
GASTEAM RADIATOR FOR HOMES, STORES AND OFFICES

ORDERS! ORDERS! Hundreds poured in every working day in September. 6,344 were recorded when the month closed. The big swing IS to gas heat.

From every part of the territory, from every type of home and business came these demands for gas heat. Not only for central heating but also for Unit Heaters, Gasteam Radiators, Circulating Heaters. Every day more and more people are realizing that gas is the ideal fuel for home, office or store. They are proving to themselves by actual trial that gas frees them from the old-time drudgery of furnace worries. So they have ordered gas heat, by the hundreds, by the thousands.

Investigate the offer to try gas heat

You, too, can have the advantages of gas heat. You can try gas heat without investing one cent for equipment. No matter what your heating problem, no matter what the situation, there is a type of installation to meet the requirements.

Central Heating. A gas burner can be placed in your present furnace or boiler. You are enabled to heat automatically, without the bother and dirt that attends old-fashioned methods.

Unit Heaters are becoming increasingly important to owners of stores and offices and factories. In many places where central heating is inadequate to provide sufficient heat, or where the construction does not allow an even distribution of heat, these heaters have proved tremendously popular. The Unit Heater is a self-contained, gas-fired unit that generates and distributes heat at the point where heat is needed. It does away with the necessity of costly revision of the central plant, and with high service and maintenance cost. Ideally practical for factories, offices, stores, warehouses, garages, showrooms.

Circulating Air Heaters are ideal for homes, stores and offices which now depend on stove heat. They are handsome in design, thoroughly efficient. Entirely self-contained, they circulate warm, moist air throughout the room. A special plan enables you to buy the Circulating Air Heater at $1 down and $1 a month.

Gasteam Radiators have been installed in hundreds of homes during the past few months. They are self-contained heating units for single rooms that cannot be easily heated by the central plant. Many rooms can be made livable and useful by installing these radiators. Get the facts on the liberal plan for installing this low operating cost unit.

You don't have to own the home you live in to enjoy Gas Heat. We have installed Gas Heat in thousands of rented homes.

Act at once! Get the facts on Gas Heat. Your local gas company office will gladly furnish full details.

GAS SERVICE CHOSEN FOR ITS CONVENIENCE

So convenient and cheap is gas service that it has come to be considered a necessity in every Chicago home. Few Chicagoans, in fact, can remember when they didn't have gas to make living more comfortable.

This acceptance of a convenience as a necessity may obscure the fact that the use of gas service is a matter entirely up to the individual customer. Gas service is chosen voluntarily, not thrust upon anyone. It is chosen because it is the ideal way to cook, to heat water, to run a refrigerator, or to keep the house warm.

The extent to which gas service is used is also a matter of choice with the individual customer. In spite of the fact that the company is obligated to serve every customer with all the gas he wants, any time, there is no corresponding obligation on the customer's part to use any stated amount.

Whether or not to use gas service is entirely a matter for a customer to decide. Close to 800,000 individual customers, representing nearly every Chicago home, use gas for its convenience and economy.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

BALLYHOO ARMY SINGING PRAISES OF NEW DEALERS

Hitler Outdone in the Reaching of Public.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—The government is spending about $750,000 a year in salaries to press agents and their office forces engaged in propagandizing for the New Deal.

The propaganda organization of the Roosevelt administration is by far the most elaborate ever set up by a political party in this country. It is doubtful whether a counterpart ever existed in the history of the world.

Most countries of continentl Europe have government news organs, official news gathering agencies, or press censorship in some form. Hitler in Germany has his minister of propaganda, Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels. The New Deal has no minister of propaganda and no official organ in general circulation, but no country in the world has anything even comparable to its ballyhoo army.

Only Part of Expenses.

The three-quarters of a million dollars which the taxpayers dig up for the salaries of the press agents is only a beginning. When the cost of printing and supplies is taken into consideration, the propaganda bill will run well over a million a year.

The routine handouts are mimeographed in the offices of the "press," "public information," and "public relations" sections of the government agencies, but the work of the public printer has been increased by approximately 1 billion items a year under the New Deal.

In addition to these expenses there is an enormous loss in postal revenue through the franking of propaganda by the larger alphabetical agencies, some of which have mailing lists of 2,500 to 3,000. Then there are the traveling expenses of the verbal ballyhooers of the New Deal. They are touring the country at all times spreading the gospel. The principal barkers are Secretary Ickes, Secretary Wallace, Prof. Tugwell, Donald Richberg, Postmaster General Farley, and AAA Administrator Davis, but the complete list includes such lesser lights as deputy code administrators and runs into the dozens. NRA formerly maintained a regular "speakers' bureau."

Write for Magazines.

The orators of the New Deal also are prolific with the pen. Almost any issue of a popular periodical will contain a dissertation by a brain truster if not a cabinet member. The speeches are all broadcast over the radio—the only way to get "uncontaminated" news to all the people, according to Secretary Ickes.

No opportunity to make a news reel for the moving pictures is missed. A majority of the members of the Roosevelt family write for the magazines or broadcast over the radio. The other New Dealers take their cue from the writing Roosevelts.

Not only the departments, the bureaus in them, and the permanent, independent commissions of the government, but also all the emergency organizations of which they are 50, have press agents. There are approximately 300 government pay rollers engaged in publicity work here in Washington.

Busy Preparing "Releases."

More than 150 of these are actually employed in the preparation of "copy," either in the writing, rewriting, or editing thereof, and at least 90 of them are former newspaper men. Most of the former newspaper men have had years of experience, both on metropolitan newspapers and as Washington correspondents. Most of them are making far more working for the government than their former jobs paid them. Their salaries range from $9,800 a year down.

In addition to the authors in the "public relations" office there are large secretarial and clerical offices. No newspaper reporter has a secretary, but when he becomes a government press agent he has at least a secretary and more than likely a stenographer also. The office forces include secretaries, stenographers, paper clippers and pasters, clerks, mimeographers, and messengers, with salaries ranging from $1,000 for messengers up to $3,000.

MISSING SEVEN YEARS, WOMAN IS OFFICIALLY DEAD NOVEMBER 11

New York, Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Eugenia Cedarholm will be officially dead on Nov. 11. Her mysterious Brooklyn disappearance has baffled the police for seven years. On that day her father, August Cedarholm, will at last come into her estate, a sizable fortune these days by reason of the fact that the boarding house so strangely abandoned by the missing young woman stood in the path of the city subway system.

The city bought it for $60,000, preventing the sale of the property for unpaid taxes. Unless another relative comes forward at the last moment to claim some of the estate, it will go to Miss Cedarholm's father, who lives in Norway.

A motion to have Miss Cedarholm declared dead was filed in Surrogate's court several years ago by her father's attorneys, but because the elderly man who claims to be her husband, Lawrence Hall, now serving a twenty year term in Sing Sing, still insists that she was alive as late as 1931, the motion awaited the expiration of the seven year period of absence, which, under the law, automatically serves as legal extinction so far as property is concerned.

For several years the house stood vacant. It was an oddly menacing house, according to the neighbors, who were forever hearing footsteps in it in the dead of night—footsteps which defied the ability of police to trace them.

SPANISH REBELS' TRAIN BOMBED; 100 CASUALTIES

Flyers and Troops Push Asturias Campaign.

MADRID, Oct. 12.—[Friday.]—(AP)—Spanish army aviators in Asturias bombed and destroyed a rebel troop train taking men to Mieres and Oviedo to reënforce revolutionists, it was stated today by reports coming directly from the province.

It was estimated that the casualties may total 100 dead and injured. The revolutionists on the train were rushing to the centers of active fighting to reënforce the rebels who are being driven into mountain retreats by the forces of Gen. Ochoas and the Spanish foreign legion.

300 Bombs Dropped.

According to the report from Asturias, army aviators were extremely active, dropping more than 300 bombs on rebel strongholds. The bombing was concentrated on mining districts, blasting improvised fortifications.

Efforts of the troops to penetrate the region were said to be extremely difficult, because buildings at mines were heavily fortified, and it was said the revolutionists possessed large quantities of explosives and munitions. Many places the revolutionists left time bombs set to explode soon after the arrival of the soldiers.

The retreating rebels were blowing up roads and bridges, taking with them all the provisions possible and leaving a desolate waste in their wake. In many places it was impossible to following their flight without first constructing military roads through a virtual wilderness.

Attack Olloniego Today.

It was reported that the forces of Gen. Ochoas planned to attack the city of Olloniego today. Meanwhile Gen. Bosch was awaiting orders to move into the district from the south from his temporary halting place at Pola de Lena.

The general plan was to crush the rebels between the converging armies. Meanwhile police today investigated the possibility that Russian conspirators might have aided Spain's Red revolt.

The arrest at Sevilla of Julio Lucena, official of the soviet tourist bureau, in whose possession police said they found several thousand pesetas and documents indicating Russian plotters were involved, set the police investigation under way.

They were seeking to learn whether Moscow was in communication with the syndicalists, anarchists, communists, and Socialists who rose against Premier Alejandro Lerroux's right wing government last week.

The capital was quiet save for scattered volleys directed at die-hard rebel snipers and workers attempting to raid food stores.

JOHNSON MAY BE PRIVATE BLUE EAGLE ADVISER

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Hugh S. Johnson was reported today by friends to be considering setting up his own private Blue Eagle offices as an expert extraordinary on NRA codes.

As have some others who have stepped out of high New Deal posts the former NRA chief also would serve as unofficial promoter of President Roosevelt's industrial peace plans.

A number of outstanding industrialists and labor leaders are known to have approached Johnson, seeking the dynamic general's services as a special advisor after he formally quits NRA next Monday.

They report the proposal is receiving Johnson's consideration. Some observers believe the project has even been the subject of White House discussion.

Johnson Remains Silent.

Johnson has informed the press he will make no decision on his next work for another month or two. But contrary to reports of his expected return to New York, he arranged for private office space in the national capital today.

This move is regarded by some as a definite indication Johnson will continue to devote himself to the code structure he built and in which he takes great pride.

Coincidently, it is reported that the White House is not overly pleased with the progress made so far toward the industrial truce suggested by Mr. Roosevelt and believes there is a need for more spontaneous leadership toward this goal from non-governmental sources.

Retained on Fee Basis.

Johnson's projected place would be that of a private negotiator retained by industry and labor to work out differences. The method that proved so successful in negotiating controversial NRA codes—that of putting employers in one office and labor in another, with Johnson going back and forth between the two factions—probably would be brought into play.

Those discussing Johnson's plans say he would be retained on a fee basis by the industrial groups and labor organizations seeking his advice. It is expected he would work strictly withing the code rules, the writing of which he directed.

While Johnson remained in Walter Reed hospital today for treatment of a sinus infection, his secretary, Miss Frances Robinson, announced that his personal story of NRA was near completion and already had been contracted for by publishers. Her statement said:

"After the adventurous story of his youth in the Oklahoma land rush period and his varied experiences as an army officer, the major part of Gen. Johnson's memoirs will be the inside story of NRA. He intends to live up to his reputation for saying what he thinks, straight from the shoulder."

U. S. Collects $41,200 from Estate of Marie Dressler

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 11.—(AP)—The government collected $41,200 today from the estate of the late Marie Dressler, movie actress. The sum represented taxation on her income for the last months of her life and a compromise settlement on payments claimed as due in 1932 and 1933.

CUMMINGS SHUNS ACTION IN HOUDE DEBATE WITH NRA

No Evidence for Use in Court Is Found.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Attorney General Homer S. Cummings announced today that the department of justice was "contemplating no immediate court proceedings" in the famous Houde Engineering company case, referred to the department for action by the national labor relations board.

The attorney general merely added that "the labor board thoroughly understands our position," but it was revealed in official quarters that the justice department found no evidence to support the findings of the board. The justice officials took the position that they could not go into court seeking an injunction against an offense that had not been committed.

Involves Employé Representation.

The Houde case, in which the labor relations board laid down the principle that representatives of employés nominated by a majority eligible to vote shall be the sole representatives of all employés in the plant or trade unit, has become a cause celebré of the NRA. The decision has been defended vehemently by Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, retiring NRA administrator, and likewise by Donald R. Richberg, head of the new NRA policy committee, although the latter has been represented as holding a different view.

The National Association of Manufacturers has attacked the ruling on the ground that it contradicts President Roosevelt's decision in settling the automobile labor dispute, that it destroys all minority rights and that it will increase labor disputes by stimulating controversies between intramural factions.

Auto Union Complains.

The case came up for hearing on complaint of the United Automobile Workers Federal Labor union that the company, a manufacturer of parts located in Niagara Falls, N. Y., refused to recognize the union as the collective bargaining agency for all employés. The board found that the company violated section 7A of the NIRA by refusing to bargain collectively and negotiating with a company association after the union had been selected by a majority vote.

The board referred the case to the department of justice for court action seeking an injunction to restrain the company from refusing to recognize the union representatives. The justice department, after investigating the matter, found that the company had not even been asked to recognize the union as the representatives of all employés for collective bargaining. There was not a single witness to testify that the union sought to negotiate with the company and was refused. Obviously, it was stated in department of justice quarters, a court could not be asked to enjoin something that had not been done.

USE MACHINE AS AID, NOT HAZARD TO MAN: MARCONI

NAPLES, Italy, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of the wireless, in his presidential message to the twenty-third annual meeting of the Italian Association for the Advancement of Science today said humanity cannot renounce the machine "without walking backward along the march of civilization." A slight illness prevented Marconi from delivering the message in person.

"It is discipline of the machine we must obtain," he asserted, "so it will serve men and not take away from them the joy of work."

The inventor's message told several hundred of the best known Italian scientists: "We are at a turn in the history of humanity. A thousand indications show that economic relationships are changing. One epoch is finished and a new one begins."

John P. Renwick of N.Y. Sued by Wife in Reno

Reno, Nev., Oct. 11.—(AP)—John P. Renwick, member of a socially prominent New York City and Montclair, N. J., family, was sued for divorce here today by Mrs. Beatrice L. Renwick. She charged nonsupport. They were married July 3, 1920.

RECONCILING LIBERTY AND GOVERNMENT.

The historian Burgess found that one fact was common to nearly all attempts to advance and preserve liberties. When the protection was separated from the making and administration of laws the individual had a refuge. As soon as the protective mechanism became associated with government it lost its characteristics and liberty lost its security.

Burgess discusses two notable illustrations of this. One was found in the Roman republic and the other in the early Christian church. Plebeian Rome endeavored for centuries to devise and maintain protections for the ordinary freeman against the will and power of the patricians. When the effort succeeded it was because the office and the organization to which the plebeian interest was intrusted exercised no other authority than that of veto.

At various times government was in the hands of the kings, the senate, the senate plus the comitia curiata and the comitia centuriata, the consuls and the senate plus the various comitia, etc., all patrician controled. The freedom of the ordinary run of people, when it was protected, was intrusted to guardians such as the tribunes of the people and to organizations of the people taking no part in legislation and administration and officiating merely to say that such and such a law, such and such an executive process was contrary to public rights and could not prevail. As soon as these officials were taken into the government organization, as soon as they assumed a part in the positive affairs of government, the protection to popular liberties was first impaired and then disappeared.

The earlier Christian church in the darkest days of the Roman empire, naturally because of its humane principles, succeeded to the all important function of protecting the individual against tyranny. When the rulers of the state submitted to the inevitable they ceased prosecutions, persecutions, and attempts to exterminate the church and its people, and joined hands with the bishops, recognizing the church as a state institution. The authority of the church as the protector of the individual was acknowledged and fixed.

In behalf of a distressed individual the church could intervene and an asylum within the protection of the ecclesiastical inclosure prevailed against the secular arm. As a mitigation of tyranny this was the bright spot in the dark ages. Gradually as the church grew in power many of the powerful ecclesiastics became more and more governmental. They were nobles and held with the nobility. As they became governmental their interests inclined in that direction and the protection was vitiated. It had, however, survived to carry the cause over until the efforts could be renewed by direct action of the people themselves.

This experience in the advancement and the loss of liberty is recognized with us in the separation of powers. The judicial branch is a veto branch. It says what acts of government cannot prevail because they are antagonistic to the rights of the people. When early English government could escape from judicial restraints it did so by creating administrative courts which were independent of law and were instruments of government, such as the star chamber of the king's counselors. With such a system tyranny was made possible but in turn made impossible whenever the people could abolish the extrajudicial courts of their rulers.

The first symptom of liberty endangered is the assumption of any sort of judicial process by administrative and legislative bodies or the participation of the judiciary in any legislative or administrative undertakings. To the extent that there is a confusion of these three powers there is danger that liberty will be impaired or extinguished. The veto against government in behalf of the individual must be separated from other acts of government. The tribune of the people is not a government servant. He is a servant of the people and he stands between them and the vagaries, temporary decisions, and willful moments of men who would have full authority except for him.

SOUNDING THE WRONG ALARM.

The secretary of the British Trades Union congress traveled a long way to tell the A. F. of L. in convention assembled that the Fascism of Italy and Germany is the greatest danger to democratic institutions today. In transit, any reference to the bolshevik dictatorship seems to have dropped out of his luggage, although his assertion that the dictatorships of Italy and Germany had destroyed personal liberty, crushed trade unionism and reduced the citizenry to serfdom fits the Russian dictatorship as tightly as that of Italy or Germany. Under the rule of the soviet no less than in the Germany he describes there is "no free press, no right of public meetings, and no intellectual liberty," and his evasion of that fact somewhat weakens his declaration that the trade unionism for which he speaks opposes dictatorships "of all kinds."

No sincere advocate of democratic government will shirk the fact that Russian bolshevism is the most powerful and pervasive despotism in the world today, not excepting the Fascist dictatorships of Mussolini and Hitler. It has shed far more blood than they or any other despotism of modern times and backed its seizure of power by a terrorism which continued longer and claimed more victims than that of the Italian and German dictatorships together.

Trade unionism in America has as much reason to resist dictatorships of the soviet model as that of Fascism, if not more, and it would be foolish to fix its fears upon the latter while letting the former slip in by the back door. In fact, it is from the communist boring from within the American labor movement that it must defend itself rather than a Fascism which has not acquired a corporal's guard or a colored shirt to parade in.

NINETEEN MILLION DOLLARS SAVED.

As commented upon the other day, Honest Harold Ickes has changed his mind again about the nineteen million dollar Rio Verde irrigation and power project in Arizona. He's back where he started. When the scheme was first proposed he read the reports of his engineers and upheld them in saying No. Later the Arizona Democrats applied heat and pressure and he wilted. He signed on the dotted line. Now he says it was all a mistake.

It was, and Honest Harold knew it all the time. As THE TRIBUNE has repeatedly shown, the Rio Verde project had no justification outside politics. The construction of the dam was calculated to waste the taxpayers' money. The scheme was intended to enrich speculators in desert land at the expense first of the taxpayers and then of suckers to whom the land was to be sold on the false pretense that there would be water to irrigate it.

After the facts had been set forth in this newspaper Mr. Ickes was invited repeatedly to present his justification for the appropriation. His latest action may be read as his reply. Honest Harold has not troubled to express his gratitude for the goading given his conscience, but there are no hard feelings on that score. He may properly reserve his thanks until the job is finished.

The abandonment of the Rio Verde scheme is the abandonment of one among many projects to loot the treasury with the blessing of Honest Harold. For example, there is the Loup river project in Nebraska to provide power where there is already a surplus. There is the evil-smelling Colorado river [Texas] project. There is the Casper-Alcova squandering.

The invitation to Mr. Ickes to present a reasoned argument in defense of any or all of these schemes is renewed. He can have a column in this newspaper any time he wants it, in which to tell how the taxpayers are going to benefit, how the outlay is to be repaid to the treasury, who is going to buy the power, and at what price, and what the government is going to get back by way of water rentals. If Honest Harold thinks his figures will stand examination he ought to be willing to present them for study and criticism.

DR. MAGILL'S NEW JOB.

Dr. Hugh S. Magill has resigned as general secretary of the International Council of Religious Education to give full time to his duties as president of the American Federation of Utility Investors.

Dr. Magill takes to his new position the talents and training of four decades of public service. During that period he has been an outstanding educator, a member of the Illinois senate known for ability and integrity in a period when many of his colleagues were not noteworthy for possession of either quality, the director of the Illinois Centennial commission, and, since 1922, the mainspring of an outstanding interdenominational project for religious education.

In view of the fact that Dr. Magill was the only major candidate to come through the 1926 senatorial campaign without the smirch of dubious campaign contributions which arose later to plague his successful opponent so sorely, it seems strange that some of the editors of radical religious journals should accuse him now of "selling out."

By seeking to guard private investments against destruction at the hands of the Tennessee Valley Authority and similar New Deal ventures. . .is Dr. Magill selling out the retired ministers of a prominent Protestant denomination, whose pension fund is largely invested in utilities securities? Is he selling out the 10,000,000 holders of utility stocks and bonds? Is he selling out the still greater number of his fellow citizens whose life insurance is backed in part by such securities? Dr. Magill has answered his critics with a question.

"Is it wrong," he asks, "to help honest people protect their honest investments?"

YOUR DOLLAR'S WORTH.

[Richland County Farmer, Wahpeton, N. D.]

Take a dollar out of your pocket, it's yours—you can do anything you like with it. But you can't buy a dollar's worth of commodities or services.

The reason for that is that about 25 per cent of your dollar has to go to government. If you use it to buy theater tickets, gasoline, cigarets, electricity, clothing, or anything else, 25 per cent of the cost on the average will represent taxes.

The main reason we have allowed the tax problem to grow so grave in this country is that millions of people haven't realized that such a problem exists! These are the people who pay no taxes directly. Their incomes are below the level touched by the income tax. They rent homes. They do not own a business, but work for some one else. And the result is a belief that those who own businesses, have larger incomes, and possess property pay all the taxes.

There aren't enough large income people in the country to make a dent in meeting the cost of government. The great bulk of taxes is taken from the ordinary person—and it is taken indirectly. Instead of writing the tax collector a check, most of our citizens pay their taxes unknowingly during the course of daily living. Rent is higher than it would be, because the landlord must pay taxes. Salaries are smaller, because the employer is heavily taxed. Food is more costly because the farmer, the processor, the transporter and the final seller are all taxed. So it goes, through everything we need and use.

Don't be fooled. Every one pays taxes—every one is in danger of being forced to pay more. A reduction in taxation through less tax spending is essential.

THIS IS COLUMBUS DAY, the anniversary of his discovery of the United States. And I don't know whether I will wear a gay piece of bunting on my coat lapel or a piece of crêpe. My favorite discoverer of the United States is Leif Ericson. He built the old mill at Newport and to this day nobody knows whether it is an old mill or an old smokehouse. Leif didn't even autograph it or put any books and newspapers in the corner stone. He just built something down there at Newport (if he did build it) and then went away and forgot about it. Columbus discovered the United States and then told the cockeyed world, and today we have the brain trust at Washington, the NRA, the TVA, the AAA, the CCC and others, as the saying goes, too numerous to mention. If it hadn't been for Columbus we wouldn't have had the depression or the radio or the talking movies and I wouldn't have come back to my automobile the other night and found that some fiend in human form had pinched the parking lights off the front fenders and if I hadn't come back when I did he would probably have swiped the engine and both axles. And just yesterday afternoon somebody called me up on the telephone and said, "Guess who this is?" and when the mail man came around he brought me a postcard from the loveliest spot in England with a picture of the quaint little centuries old street and the tavern and written on it, "Having a grand time; wish you were here." Columbus, I think I will darken the room this afternoon and sit in silence while I think on how nice it would be if you hadn't discovered this country. And then I shall go out on the street and give three ringing cheers for Leif Ericson.

THE WAY OF ALL WOMEN.

She knows he will not come again;
She is so well aware;
And yet she clasps a necklace on
And tucks a flower in her hair.
(If he should come she must be fair.)

She knows that, once gray ashes, love
Is flame no tinder can restore;
And yet she listens oftentimes,
Half-hopeful eyes turned toward the door.
(As countless women have before.)

She knows he will not come again;
And yet not all of her believes
The oldest truth taught womankind.
She almost trusts that truth deceives
And waits forever, while she grieves.

WILL WE GET into the big war that is predicted to be pulled off very soon in Europe? Will we get in? What a silly question. Show us any old kind of war that the U. S. A. won't be able to horn into! It may be none of our business, but by the great horn spoon we'll make it our business. Try and keep us out! That war won't be four weeks old before we land right in the middle of it all dressed up and a-rarin' ter go!

THE REAL QUESTION IS NOT will we get into the next war, but what is the slogan going to be. We wore out that one about "a war to end war" and the "make the world safe for democracy" is so tattered and torn that we couldn't hoist that one again. Maybe the best slogan would be "If you see a head, hit it." That would be simple and easily remembered and not just a mess of highfaluting baloney that gives our heroes a sharp pain in the neck.

On the Side On Which On Is On.

Sir: I have stood by you in your campaigns against "proven"; I have subscribed to your drive against "constitooshun"; now I want your help against the grammarians who will not allow us to use a preposition to end a sentence with.

Down in the loop there is an exhibition in which the Women's Safety Bureau of the Chicago Motor Club is interested. On a placard on a diomara showing the need for play yards is asked the question:

"On which side of the fence is your child?"

I am for good old racy English. That sign should read:

"Which side of the fence is your child on?"

Now, what side of the fence are you on?

THE NATIONAL BUREAU of Casualty and Surety Underwriters estimates that last year there were 150,000 accidents on American highways caused by those restless motorists who refuse to stay in line, but who hop out continually and weave in and out of traffic. In these accidents caused by the weaver-birds 3,000 people were killed and 185,000 injured. If we had a drivers' license law we might provide that motorists captured by the motor cops and charged with weaving to the peril of other automobilists would have their cards taken away from them for three or six months. But about all we can do now is to give the weaver-bird a dirty look, but he is spinning in and out so fast he won't even see it. We can hurl harsh language after him and say we hope he gets no maple sirup on his wheat cakes for two weeks to come, but that won't hurt the weaver-bird; he'll be a mile and a half away before we could even say darn, let alone a far naughtier word. What to do!

UTERINE FIBROIDS.

TUMORS in the uterus, or uterine fibroids, are common. They develop during the childbearing period. Although at first the tumors are very tiny, they may attain the size of an average grapefruit or even larger. Fibroids are composed of smooth muscle and fibrous tissue and are, theoretically, supposed to start their growth from cells that find their way into the wall of the uterus toward the end of a menstrual period. In many women fibroids cause little, if any, disturbance or discomfort. After the period of childbearing is past there may be a number of small fibroid growths in the wall of the uterus. These have a tendency to continue their slow growth.

Fibroids are prone to degeneration, the cells dying because of a deficient blood supply. Cysts, or open spaces often filled with fluid, then form within the fibroid itself, but only now and then will fibrous tumors become cancerous or malignant—probably less than one per cent.

Usually the first symptom that is occasioned by fibroids is prolonged bleeding at the menstrual period. Again, there may be no bleeding, but only a sense of pressure referred to the bladder or the rectum. Occasionally the menstrual periods become more frequent.

Diagnosis is simple when a competent gynecologist is consulted, and frequently the tumors may be felt because of the nodular character of the normally smooth uterus. Sometimes the tumors are but partially buried in the wall of the uterus, and the organ then has the appearance of a large, irregular potato.

If the patient is in the childbearing period small fibroids in the uterus may be left alone unless there is serious bleeding. Sometimes a fibroid may be removed from the wall of the uterus without removing the uterus itself. For the purpose of controlling bleeding from fibroids radium is used with success. It should be used but rarely in women younger than 45 years; nor should it be used in tumors of large size or in the presence of infection or marked anemia.

If the fibroids are as large as an average sized orange it is often necessary to remove the tumors or the uterus itself because of pain from pressure upon adjacent structures or complicating adhesions. In the absence of distress, signs of pressure, bleeding, or growth, tumors fibrous in character should be left alone.

In the presence of tumors of this type childbearing may become a dangerous procedure due to replacement of the wall of the uterus by the fibrous growths. During pregnancy, and as the uterus grows, the muscle of the organ may become extremely thin in the vicinity of the tumor.

Sometimes severe anemia results because women permit themselves to bleed so profusely that operation, when it becomes necessary, cannot be performed until the patient has been restored to a position of reasonable resistance.

If it becomes necessary to remove fibroids, operation in the hands of an expert is reasonably safe. If this procedure involves the removal of the uterus itself it does not bring on an artificial change of life unless the ovaries are removed. The operation is usually performed through an abdominal incision, where the field is thoroughly exposed and where adhesions, if they have occurred, may be separated and the raw surfaces covered.

CHILD WHO BLINKS.

R. G. A. writes: What causes a child of 6 to blink? My little fellow has started doing it. Some days he does not blink at all.

REPLY.

It is probably a habit spasm or a nervous manifestation, although it might have started with some slight eye trouble in which the eyes were unusually sensitive to light. If the condition does not subside under rest and the maintenance of the nutrition, you should consult a reliable ophthalmologist.

PAINS IN RIGHT LUNG.

J. R. S. writes: I seem to have continuous, very dull pains in the vicinity of my right lung. Would this be a sign of consumption?

REPLY.

It may be pleurisy which is usually considered tuberculous. The chances are, however, against this diagnosis. Your pain is probably due to intercostal neuralgia or a slight arthritis of the spine.

BOWLEGS.

D. C. writes: How can bowleg be cured?

REPLY.

If the patient is young a plaster cast exerting some pressure on the bones may accomplish the desired result. In adults the necessary procedure is much more extensive, requiring surgical treatment.

ESTATE SETTLEMENT.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother-in-law died recently leaving a will. A is left a bequest of $2,000; B all the [1] remainder, real and personal. All that was left was a house valued at about $3,000. 2. Does this bequest come out of the house? B would like to keep the house and settle with A. 3. Could she do this without going through Probate court? 4. Does the will have to be turned over to the bank that was named executor? 5. If so, when will they have to do that? A and B have a brother married for eighteen years. He has two children and has been separated from his wife for ten years. He was not mentioned in the will. 6. Can he or his wife protest the will? 7. Can his children get anything? 8. If a woman makes a will seven or eight years before she is married does the marriage revoke the will? F. V.

1. In connection with probate proceedings this term ordinarily means what is left of an estate after specific gifts have been taken care of, but we assume that you mean all that the deceased left at the time of her death.
2. We cannot say without having the wording of the will before us.
3. Depends on whether all parties, including future purchasers of real estate, can be satisfied. Probate is necessary in order to produce a technically merchantable title to real estate.
4. The statute provides that the person who has the will in his possession should file it with the clerk of the Probate court.
5. The statute says immediately.
6. Not unless they can prove undue influence or lack of testamentary capacity. In the face of this information it seems clear that probate proceedings will be necessary.
7. See 6.
8. Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CHATTEL MORTGAGE.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a relative be a chattel mortgage holder? The son loans the father money. Can the son become a chattel mortgage holder? 2. How soon can a chattel mortgage holder foreclose? Suppose A should pay July 1 and defaults, does [3] B have to wait two or three months until he can foreclose?

R. M. T.

1. Yes, but if the effect of the transaction is to defeat creditors, then the fact of relationship would be one of suspicious circumstances to be considered in an effort to set the gift aside as a fraud on creditors.
2. As soon as it is in default.
3. No. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PROPERTY DIVISION.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Of what value as evidence in a trial for divorce and partition of property [the latter now in the name of a sister of the wife on record in Cook county] [1] are photostatic copies of deeds showing the realty has been deeded back to the wife? These deeds are on record in Minnesota but not in Illinois. 2. Can the wife, under the foregoing conditions, will the realty and other property to her sister, a resident of Minnesota? 3. Can she sell the realty without the consent of her husband, or without his signature? 4. Under what conditions can a husband sue for alimony in Illinois? 5. Can the wife be compelled by court to show what she has done with the deeds to property signed by her sister and her husband in favor of the wife? 6. Is it necessary in Illinois that the husband, in his suit for absolute divorce, show his earnings during fifteen years of marriage? If those earnings are deemed insufficient enough to constitute [7] nonsupport, [8] would his dower rights be forfeited?

J. L.

1. In general the copies should be certified by the keeper of the records. Privately photostated copies made from the originals would not be admissible in evidence.
2. If it has been deeded back to her she can deal with it as with any of her other property. As to any of her property, the husband could renounce her will and take instead his statutory share.
3. If the property belongs to her she cannot convey a title clear of dower without her husband's signature.
4. Substantially that the wife is able to pay and he needs the money.
5. Depends on who originally owned the property.
6. Not in the ordinary case.
7. Nonsupport is not a ground for divorce under the Illinois statute.
8. Not on the bare facts stated, but if the wife secures a divorce on some other ground that would bar dower.

In general, an attorney should be employed for the proceedings and such attorney will be in a better position to answer these questions than we are.

From Across the Sea

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—Recently Hakki Bey, the Egyptian chargé d'affaires in London, inspected a squadron of the Egyptian army air force prior to its departure from Lympne airdrome in Kent for Cairo. Some strange duties await the squadron in Egypt, for its peace-time occupations will include:

In dealing with the traffickers in hashish the air force will coöperate with the camel corps and with armored car parties. They patrol the Sinai desert daily and look for feluccas creeping into the coast. The hills of the western desert afford cover which, until the airplane arrived on the scene, gave the smugglers almost invariable immunity. During these patrols recently the airmen discovered by accident an old Roman port on the Mediterranean coast, about 15 miles west of Port Said.

In their photographic survey operations they are making hundreds of mosaic maps. In their task they have discovered a large number of ancient works, the existence of which had not been suspected. The desert is slowly covering up their traces, but photographic records will now be available whenever it is desired to dig for evidence throwing light on ancient history. The new squadron is composed of twelve "general purpose" machines of the latest design. They look particularly smart, their colors being white and green, and they display the national green and white rings and spirals with three stars in the middle.

THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—The article appearing in THE TRIBUNE of Oct. 5, quoting John O. Rees, director of the citizens' committee on public expenditures, regarding the saving of $27,000,000 on the 1933 tax bills, contains this qualifying clause: "If, in addition to reductions already made, the local governments will eliminate from their 1933 levies those items of doubtful legality that are not likely to withstand attacks in court."

In September of this year the board of education, on recommendation of the superintendent of schools, established three junior colleges. The question has been raised frequently as to the legality of operating a junior college under the present state school law. The statement was made that there would be no increased cost to the taxpayer in opening these colleges. However, it doesn't take a great deal of intelligence to know that it costs money to operate an educational institution of any kind, and the most natural question follows, "Where does the money come from?" The following figures, which are concerned only with amounts appropriated for instruction, tell their own story:

Year.	Elementary.	Junior High.	Senior High.
1930 ...	25,097,222	3,303,346	11,208,847
1931 ...	24,442,953	3,570,958	11,849,564
1932 ...	20,959,320	3,332,096	10,711,652
1934 ...	17,043,105	Eliminated	11,262,118

The reduction in appropriations for the elementary schools began in 1931. In 1934 the amount appropriated for instruction in the elementary schools was reduced by $2,025,337 under that of 1933 in the face of the seventh and eighth grades being returned; and the high schools received an increase of $675,900 and had only the ninth grade returned. This fact immediately raises the question as to whether or not the elementary educational opportunities are not being sacrificed to provide for so-called higher education.

When you begin to weaken the foundation of a structure you weaken the whole structure. The elementary school is the foundation of public school education throughout these United States. What benefits a child derives from secondary education depend entirely upon how good an elementary education he had to start with. If the citizens of Chicago still believe in the public schools as an American institution they should inform themselves as to what is happening in the elementary schools of the Chicago public school system.

TOO GOOD TO LOSE

Canonsburg, Pa., Oct. 5.—I went out to your town last Saturday night and spent two days at your Fair. I learned more in two days than I could learn the rest of my life any other way. Everything about the Fair is fine. Our people all think it would be a shame to tear the Fair up. They should leave it as it is and have it every year. You would have more people every year than you have had the first two years. People would go every year. If forty million people would go in dull times you would have that many in one year in good times. Chicago will always regret not keeping the Fair going if they tear it up. You should do all you can to keep it as it is. That is the opinion of all the people that went out to see it. W. E. JOHNSTON.

HE WANTS TO ENLIST IN CCC.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Why is it that a young man can't get into the CCC just because he isn't on relief? We are out of work just as well as those on relief, only some of us have more gumption and pride, and stick out our hard lot to the last ditch instead of throwing ourselves upon the alms of our fellow men. As one contributor says, "They now throw parties, attend theaters, and drive cars." To this I can add that most of them have increased in girth and smack their lips in self-satisfaction at the "life of Riley" they are leading.

I know many relief fellows who have been in the CCC and they say that they would rather stay at home than shovel dirt for 30 bucks a month.

I have been trying to get into the CCC ever since it was organized, but it seems that I am not of the "privileged class."

Recently the CCC headquarters started to enroll nonreliefers and I hied myself to Welles park at 5 o'clock the night before. When the registrars arrived they signed up about 25 of the rowdiest and most disorderly, who managed to elbow and beat their way to the front, and then disappeared, saying to look in the papers for the next enrollment.

Two days later the papers stated: "Enrollment for persons not on relief closed."

I'm disgusted. CARL KARR.

ANOTHER AIRPORT SITE.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—A great deal has been said about the inaccessibility of the present municipal airport in connection with the project for a new airport on the lake front. But from the point of view of nearness to the loop a location that would be ideal has never been considered and that is Goose Island in the north branch of the Chicago river, stretching from near Chicago avenue north to North avenue. This tract has a number of industrial and commercial establishments, a small number of families live there, and there is a substantial amount of vacant real estate.

Real estate values in that section are not and never have been high because the nature of the surroundings discouraged speculative buying and selling. Since the cost is always a major item in any plan, this section ought to be seriously considered in locating an airport closer to the loop and the center of life in such a city as Chicago.

There is talk of housing projects on the northwest side north of North avenue. The district that needs a housing project is the near northwest side from Kinzie street and Milwaukee avenue up to North avenue. If an airport were built at Goose Island Chicago would wake up to the valuable asset it has in the near northwest side which has been neglected and allowed to deteriorate for many years. A. S. WENGIERSKI.

IT LOOKS MORE POISONOUS.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Why do you insist in spelling vial as phial? Webster gives it both ways, but since you are advocating simplified spelling it seems to me you would quit using the silly word phial. Throughout my college course vial was adopted; it is pronounced viol, and not fial, as one is apt to think.

RIOT OVER NAZI DECREE OUSTING BAVARIAN BISHOP

Police Use Sabers on Mob of 5,000; 20 Hurt.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MUNICH, Germany, Oct. 11.—Five thousand Protestants, infuriated by a decree of Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller ousting Bishop Meiser of Bavaria, gathered for a protest demonstration in the court of the bishop's palace tonight. Elsewhere in the city, too, great crowds congregated for spontaneous protests. Twenty were reported injured when police charged with drawn sabers to disperse the angry crowd.

Bishop Meiser is the last bishop in office to resist Dr. Mueller's autocratic rule of the German Evangelical church. By Dr. Mueller's decree Bishop Meiser's bishopric is split into two regions, each headed by its own bishop. The two divisions are old Bavaria, with the bishop's seat in Munich, and Franconia, with headquarters at Nuremberg.

Dr. Mueller appointed the Rev. George Sommerer as commissioner and acting bishop of Franconia, but has not filled the other post. Even if Bishop Meiser is retained, however, his power will be greatly curtailed since the majority of Bavarian Protestants live in Franconia. The measures against Bishop Meiser follow the ousting of Bishop Wurm of Wuerttemberg, whose retirement was announced today.

Vow to Stand for Freedom.

The demonstrators stood in the court of the bishop's palace until midnight, crying out solemn vows to stand up for freedom of creed. As the bishop showed himself occasionally, he was greeted with 'heil" and Hitler salutes.

Two hours after the news of Mueller's ouster of Dr. Meiser was known thousands went to the bishop's church, St. Matthew's, crowding it and nearby streets until the bishop came and addressed them.

"Our church has been violated," he said, "but if you all remain loyal no single pastor who has the confidence of his flock will leave his post."

After he had pleaded with the crowd to trust his guidance, he and other church dignitaries stepped into cars and were whisked off.

A few minutes after Bishop Meiser arrived at the palace, which is close to the Nazis' Brown house, the mob caught up with him and pushed their way into the court, clamoring to see the bishop.

Invokes Luther.

"Courageous men never failed to stand up for their faith," one man shouted. "The figthing spirit of Luther still lives in Germany. We will not allow the abolition of the old church liberties."

No Storm Troopers or police were in sight. Earlier in the day details of black uniformed schutzstaffel men occupied the palace. They displayed their GSP [secret police] credentials, but left no doubt that they were for Bishop Meiser and were determined to protect his safety.

An official in the church ministry, Dr. August Jaeger, one of the leaders against whom the free pastors protested most energetically, is in Munich attempting to reach a compromise with Bishop Meiser. Protest services are called in all Evangelical churches of Munich for every night in the coming week.

State Suspends Medical License of Dr. Wynekoop

The state medical license of Dr. Alice Wynekoop, who is serving a twenty-five year sentence in the women's prison at Dwight for the murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, was suspended yesterday by Director John J. Hallahan of the state department of registration and education. The suspension was ordered pending outcome of Dr. Wynekoop's appeal to the state Supreme court.

PLEA IN COMMUNITY FUND CAMPAIGN MADE BY UNITED CHARITIES

The United Charities, Chicago's oldest private welfare group, yesterday made public its first report of the depression years in which it sounded a plea for the solution of the present relief problem. The United Charities is one of the 130 private charities which will share in the 1934 Community fund of $3,000,000, now being raised by individual gifts.

In the foreword of the report, Kent S. Clow, president, declared that unless the relief problem is solved, the future of this country is gravely menaced. Too many citizens are content, he said, to pass the burden of providing relief on the Washington.

"The problem can be solved," he added, "only by helping the individual meet his social problem so that he may again become a useful citizen rather than a continual burden menacing his country's future."

How the United Charities is working toward this end and aiding public agencies in establishing standards of social service that may terminate and not prolong the relief problem is discussed in the report.

During 1933, the last fiscal year, 18,686 families were assisted by the United Charities at a cost of $1,853,868.

Claims All Wars Will Be Won "in Dirt."

ABOARD S. S. QUEEN OF BERMUDA, Enroute to Bermuda, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord, former army chief of staf, urged tonight against developing aircraft on a "pipe dream" program and declared, "All wars have been won and all wars will continue to be won in the dirt."

"Decisive warfare is fundamentally the same today," he said, "as it was before the spectacular development of weapons such as the catapult, firearms, the submarine, the tank and aircraft.

Air Armada vs. Police.

"No great nation will ever be subdued so long as it has fighting men on their feet on solid earth ready and able to repulse an invading force. . . . No air armada has yet flown whose personnel could not be run in by the municipal police if it landed in hostile territory."

The former chief of staf, now chairman of the board of the Radio Corporation of America, addressed the joint convention of the International Association of Casualty and Surety Underwriters and the National Association of Casualty and Surety Agents.

Gen. Harbord asserted he favored the program for doubling the army's fighting aircraft and added there seemed little doubt that congress would pass it.

Hits Aviation 'Fanatics.'

"Our country needs an air corps of the first rank," he continued. "It has been hampered in the development of one by the irresponsible claims of overzealous military aviation enthusiasts as much as by the crashing rejoinders of the anti-aviation factions.

"The favorite vision of the most exuberant air war prophets might well cause an epidemic of nightmares among our more timid citizens. It pictures great armadas from hostile powers swooping down from the sky upon our helpless citizens.

"One basic thing is wrong with the calamitous picture. That is that such a devastating air raid into our land is impossible with the aviation of today or with any we can now foresee.

"The necessity of a base on land or sea for any effective and continuous military airplane operations is completely ignored by most spinners of air war horror dreams. . . . To maintain floating bases off our shores an invader would have to subdue our navy."

JAPANESE ENVOY SAILS FOR U. S.; ASKS NAVY PARITY

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Hirosi Saito sailed today for Washington, D. C., to resume his duties as Japanese ambassador to the United States.

Before his departure Saito said: "We can no longer endure to be ranked inferior to other powers in naval matters. We have wracked our brains to evolve proposals to eliminate the invidious ranking of nations and simultaneously assured security for all. I am not pessimistic about the naval negotiations, although I realize the formidable difficulties that must be overcome."

Saito expressed confidence that "when Japan's new naval limitations proposals are announced at London shortly, Americans will be convinced of their fairness and justice."

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

FLORIDA ASKS U. S. JOBHOLDERS FOR $10 ON $1000

Money to Pay Deficit for Roosevelt Victory.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—More letters are being received by government workers in Washington from Democratic political leaders, asking all employés on the government pay roll and affiliated with the party, particularly those employed under New Deal auspices, to "kick in" to the Democratic party treasury at least a small portion of their income from the government.

Demands from Florida.

All workers from the state of Florida have received letters from George B. Hills, director of finance for Florida for the Democratic national committee, saying that $10 for each $1,000 of salary received from the government was the "minimum requirement" to defray the state's quota of the deficit in the war chest caused by the last campaign and needed for administration support.

Those on the pay roll were considerably flabbergasted. There were many hurried huddles around the alphabets and much resentment was shown.

It seems obvious and is said to be a fact that the names of all of those on the government pay roll, particularly the new additions, were furnished to state and national officials through the national committee, which obtained them from the various organizations, with addresses and salaries.

Are More Letters Coming?

Letters similar to that from Mr. Hills have not yet shown up. In so far as could be learned, it was the tone of the letter which caused the principal protest, even though many of those who received it had been a long time off any pay roll before getting government jobs. The national committee says there are no others as far as is known.

Most recipients of the letters, after letting off steam, contributed. As long as they were so well spotted they concluded it was the best thing to do, whether or not it unexpectedly cut into their budget.

The Florida letter created perhaps more excitement in Washington than the North Dakota letter which was directed to recipients of relief, farm and otherwise, with the suggestion that they were in the aggregate receiving 100 per cent more in "relief" from the federal government than they paid in taxes to the government.

Text of Hills' Letter.

Mr. Hills' letter to Floridans on the government pay roll follows:

"Dear friend:

"The Democratic national committee is now taking active steps to retire the deficit of the Democratic party which remained after the campaign in which President Roosevelt was elected.

"Florida's quota of that deficit is $10,000. As director of finance for the national committee in Florida, I am confronted with the responsibility of raising that amount.

"It is clear that the party will not be in position to carry out proper campaigns in behalf of the party nominees in future elections until the obligations of the last presidential campaign have been liquidated.

"I am addressing you in the hope that you will see fit to coöperate in the matter outlined. Your action will be a direct indorsement of and contribution to the work the President is doing.

$10 for Each $1,000 Salary.

"It appears that sufficient funds will be secured to meet Florida's quota if each citizen of this state now employed by the federal government will promptly contribute not less than $10 per thousand dollars of annual salary he or she receives.

"While your contribution will be welcome in whatever amount you feel able and disposed to make, the basis suggested above is set out to give you some guide as to minimum requirements.

"Trust you will see fit to coöperate in this matter. Please make your check or remittance payable to 'treasurer, Democratic national committee,' or to 'George B. Hills, director of finance,' and mail the same to me at post office box 4,817, Jacksonville, Fla. Receipt will come to you direct from the treasurer of the Democratic national committee.

"Your prompt coöperation in this matter will be deeply appreciated." [Signed George B. Hills.]

By Bob Becker

Real 'Injun Summer.'

October 11, 1934.

THE corn stalk "wigwams" are rising on the farm this week. Clarence Thurow, farm manager, was saying this morning that because of the weather no more fitting week for putting corn in the shock could have been chosen. He had John T. McCutcheon's famous cartoon "Injun Summer" in mind when he said that, because the past few days have been typical Indian summer days. The sun has been warm at midday. There is a haze on the colorful autumn landscape which increases toward sundown and obscures the outlines of the big, newly made corn shocks.

When the sun drops behind the timber on the north bank of the Fox river, once the water route for Indians and the corn shock "wigwams" have only their tops silhouetted against the sunset glow, it doesn't require much imagination to believe that you may see some Redskins in the field.

Jack, Gene, and Rock, three of the huskiest work horses on the farm, have been doing their bit to put a big field of corn in the shock. This trio has been hauling the cornbinder.

The fall work schedule is going to be stopped today just long enough to put Queen, the handsome little filly, on the scales. She is six months old this week. Although the boys have been too busy to play around with Queen a great deal, she still is quite a pet, and everybody here on the farm swears she is going to take some ribbons in a beauty contest before very long.

The sheep here on the farm have just been moved to the orchard where they can mow down the grass for awhile. As soon as they were turned into the orchard they spread out to inspect their new quarters and find the best patches of grass.

Just one forlorn ram was missing this move. That was the old Shropshire ram who has been displaying so much temper since he was put into a pasture by himself. Clarence swears that this hard hitting ram took an extra thump at the gate of his pasture when his gang went to the orchard and he was left by himself.

Although he hasn't any company of his own kind the old Shropshire isn't absolutely alone. Two of the horses Daisy and Diamond have been turned out with him. But the saddest news for this old ram hasn't been told him. He is going to be traded for another ram within the next few days.

PERSONAL TAXES CUT 145 MILLION BY APPEALS BODY

'Many Assessments Silly,' Says Nixon.

The board of tax appeals which recently completed hearing complaints against the 1933 personal property tax assessments in Cook county, announced last night that it had cut $145,532,885 from the valuations fixed by the assessor's office.

The assessed value of personal property in Cook county was computed at $930,565,521, but the appeals board trimmed this figure to $785,032,636. For 1932 the appeals board reduced the assessor's personalty valuations from $930,714,468 to $810,172,693, a cut of $120,541,775.

Complaints Increase by 2,000.

George F. Nixon and Fred W. Brummel, members of the board, said they had heard approximately 15,000 complaints of excessive valuations as compared to about 13,000 objections heard on the 1932 assessments.

Explanation of the reductions made by the board was given by Mr. Nixon who charged that Assessor Jacobs had "loaded" the personal property tax books with "a lot of silly assessments that would never stand up under court action."

"Apparently in many cases," Nixon said, "Jacobs and his staf were relying entirely on the telephone book to compute their assessments and not by viewing the property as the law requires."

Mr. Nixon also declared that in many instances the board had to reduce valuations because of inaccuracies in the assessment allegedly due to incomplete investigation by the assessor's office.

Find Assessments Duplicated.

Duplicate assessments and assessments apparently made solely on the basis of addresses also were found among the complaints, he said.

The appeals board set the revised values for personal property in the city at $699,654,004 and in the country towns at $80,364,421, with the railroad and insurance assessment of $5,014,211 making the total.

Revision of the personal property tax books has been completed and the books are now being turned over to the county clerk who will compute the 1933 tax rates as soon as the 1933 real estate assessment is completed. The assessor said last night the real estate tax books would be completed and turned over to the clerk's office tomorrow.

Six Men Severely Beaten in Film March of Jobless

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—The movie replica of a march of the jobless against the White House got too rough at Walter Wanger studio, where "The President Vanishes" is being filmed, and six men were beaten so severely they required treatment at the studio emergency hospital. Director Bill Wellman quelled the general brawl by having fire hoses turned upon the strugglers. Five hundred extra and 35 stunt men took part in the scene. The stunt men were supposed to lead the two factions of White House defenders, and the marchers were armed with clubs which various extras complained were plied too vigorously.

ALLOWS EASIER TERMS ON PWA CHANNEL GRANT

Dern Acts to Clear Way for Job Project.

Secretary of War Dern yesterday modified the requirements for an advance of $2,814,000 by the federal public works administration to improve the Calumet-Sag channel. According to Washington dispatches, he recommended the installation of operating machinery in three drainage canal bridges instead of twenty as was originally stipulated. The recommendation was transmitted to Secretary of the Interior Ickes, PWA head, who is said to have concurred.

The improvement would provide a nine foot channel in the Calumet and Little Calumet rivers, making Calumet harbor in South Chicago the northern terminus of the lakes to gulf waterway.

In earmarking the funds for the project several months ago, Mr. Ickes laid down the same conditions made by the war department in connection with the bridges. Chicago officials protested on the ground that 17 bridges along the main drainage canal were north of the Calumet-Sag route and had nothing to do with the improvement for which they were asking PWA funds.

According to the announcement of the war department, Secretary Dern's new recommendation was made in order that the project might be undertaken promptly to provide employment.

Another important condition that is now being worked out by Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt and other officials is that all easements, or right of way permits, must be obtained for the government. It is expeced that this requirement will be fulfilled by Nov. 1, the deadline.

$2,851,000 SLICED FROM 1933 TAX BY SANITARY BOARD

The sanitary district board yesterday ordered a reduction of $2,851,042 from its $15,165,175 levy for 1933 bonds and interest purposes, following the action of the city council which reduced Chicago taxes by $22,619,483 in a similar move Wednesday.

The sanitary district tax reduction was made possible by the fact that not all of the district bonds which the original levy was to retire have been sold, said Thomas J. Bowler, president of the district board. The original levy was made large enough to provide for the redemption of all bonds expected to fall due between December, 1934, and June, 1935. Economies in district operating costs effected further savings responsible for the tax cut, Mr. Bowler said.

The district awarded a contract for the construction of connecting conduits at the new Calumet sewage treatment works to the McKay Engineering and Construction company on a low bid of $413,000.

BIRMINGHAM
ENGLAND'S SECOND CITY

Birmingham, England's Second City, is the world's most comprehensive manufacturing centre, and the obvious location for any industry related to its 1,200 trades. Birmingham possesses unequalled transport facilities, 400,000 workpeople, modern factories to rent or for sale, and recently 500,000 square feet have been built to manufacturers' requirements for rental. Birmingham is a busy, modern city, planned for industry, throbbing with energy; a virile, prosperous community whose motto is "Forward." Address inquiries to the:

NEW LIGHTS WILL SAVE MOTORISTS' TIME; ON TODAY

BY HAL FOUST.

A new system of trafic lights will begin operation today in Michigan avenue between Oak street and Roosevelt road. Engineers estimate it will save an average of two minutes to each of 65,000 motorists daily.

The timing of the signals has been designed so that cars may travel the 2.3 miles of boulevard at designated speeds without being stopped by a red light. These speeds are posted on frosted globes mounted on the signal standards.

The continuous travel, of course, will not be possible in the peak rush hours, when the pavements carry such a heavy load of vehicles that they could not be moved expeditiously under any system of control. However, these rush hour delays will be materially lessened, in the opinion of the engineers.

Red Lights for Speeders.

Speeding will be curbed. Those who drive faster than the posted pace will encounter red lights. Under the old simultaneous timing of the lights motorists were encouraged to race to make as many blocks as possible before the red came on again.

The full benefits of the new system will be enjoyed only after trafic has accustomed itself to the new regulations. One of these novelties that may bewilder drivers during the first few days is a flickering interval of the green. When the green flickers it means that automobiles passing through the intersection are going either too fast or too slow to keep in step with the lights.

Crossings to Be Restricted.

Trafic will not be permitted to cross Michigan avenue at Delaware, Chestnut, Huron, Erie, and Harrison streets. East and west bound vehicles on these streets will enter the boulevard with a right or left turn on the green light and then leave the boulevard with a second turn a block away in the direction of their destinations.

At the streets where cross trafic is prohibited and at nine other intersections where the east and west pavements do not cross the boulevard, northbound trafic may be proceeding while southbound has the red light, and vice versa.

Walkers Will Save Time.

At these fourteen intersections pedestrians will receive a walk signal for half the boulevard crossing at a time. The pause on the midstreet safety island for the pedestrian right of way will vary from 5 to 40 seconds. Under the old system a pedestrian waited as long as 110 seconds for the protection of a green light to cross Michigan avenue.

The nine "T" intersections are at Madison street, Washington street, Adams street, Congress street, Lake street, South Water street, 8th street, 9th street, and 11th place.

HOLDS UP TELEPHONE OFFICE.

MISS JUNE GOSS.

The cases of Miss June Goss, 28 years old, and two men held for complicity in the murder of Paul Cuprea, a handbook operator, during an attempted holdup Sept. 14, were continued to Oct. 19 by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Felony court yesterday. The men held are Joseph Gold and Benjamin Wolf. A fugitive sought by police in the case is John Gerven. Miss Goss became involved when evidence showed the holdup which resulted in the fatal shooting of Cuprea had been planned in her room at 4320 Clarendon avenue.

JUDGE RESTRAINS CLEANERS FROM REDUCING PRICES

Injunction Is Aimed at 22 Independents.

Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski yesterday issued a temporary injunction restraining 22 independent cleaners and dyers from doing work for less than the minimum prices agreed upon to end the lockout in the industry on Sept. 19. The injunction was sought by 94 members of the Cleaning and Dyeing Plant Owners association of Chicago.

Chief among the defendants are the Abarbanell, Sterling, Michigan, Checker, and Peacock cleaning and dyeing organizations. The temporary injunction was issued after a day long wrangle in which attorneys for plaintifs and defendants failed to reach an agreement pending final disposition of the case.

Ask Action to Avert Price War.

Attorneys William Jaffe and George Lavin, representing the plant owners' association, held that the injunction is necessary to the public good. Price cutting as practiced by the defendants, the attorneys said, could lead only to a price war, strikes, and possible violence.

They pointed to the agreement which ended the lockout, in which more than a million garments were tied up for a month. Under this agreement the cleaners were to charge 69 cents a garment for cash and carry work, the attorneys pointed out, and 85 cents a garment for work delivered.

Attorney Irving Breakstone, representing the defendant concerns, attacked the petition of the association and asked that the matter be assigned to a master in chancery.

Attorneys' Conference Fails.

After the morning session Judge Klarkowski told the attorneys to confer in hopes of reaching an amicable agreement that would be effective until the entire case had been heard. When court was reconvened both sides reported it impossible to reach an agreement.

"I see that it is hopeless to attempt to reach an agreement," Judge Klarkowski said. "I will allow the temporary injunction to issue."

Attorney Breakstone announced that he would appeal the ruling, and an appeal bond of $1,500 was set by the judge.

FARLEY AIR MAIL BOASTS REFUTED BY OWN FIGURES

Harm to Air Lines and Mail Service Shown.

The benefits which Postmaster General Farley and other New Dealers assert they have conferred on the American public in saving ten million dollars on air mail contracts during 1934 and in increasing route mileage after their "operation" on the commercial air transport industry last February, came under the fire of observers here yesterday.

The attack was supplied with ammunition in the form of factual reports put out by the postmaster general's own department. These reveal his claims for the new setup to be merely words, the critics said.

The benefits, the reports show, consist of a critically impaired mail service comparable only to that of five years ago during the infancy of air transport in the United States.

Charge Equipment Obsolete.

Substitution of obsolete and inferior equipment upon passenger lines formerly served by the faster and safer planes of more modern design flown with the aid of the latest type of ground aids, including radio beam and special weather reports, also was charged.

First of all, it was pointed out, the assertions of the New Dealers that they had saved $10,000,000 are false if the postoffice department's announcement that the air mail budget for the fiscal year July 1, 1934, to June 30, 1935, will amount to $12,000,000 is true.

Without considering service given for the sum, the observers produced records to show that the postoffice budget for the fiscal year July 1, 1933, to June 30, 1934, amounted to $14,000,000.

Difference of 2 Millions.

Since the budget includes the total sum spent by the postoffice department in any given year for air mail service, the saving under the temporary contracts in force today cannot be more than the difference between 14 millions and twelve millions.

Postmaster General Farley also has boasted that he increased the total air mail route miles flown in the United States from 24,419 at the time he abruptly canceled all the old mail contracts last February, to 28,500 under the new temporary contracts.

Thus stated it would seem that service had actually been improved. However, the postoffice's own reports of air mail flown explode this fallacy.

The department records show that the frequency of service between the "key" cities where the greatest bulk of the air mail has its origin and destinations and where the greatest real service to American business and industry is done, has been woefully cut.

One illustration is the reduction of trips on which air mail is carried between Chicago and New York each day. Before last February there were seven round trips on which mail was carried. Now there are four. Other routes including the transcontinental trips have had frequency of service similarly curtailed.

A final aspect of the alleged savings made by the New Dealers is important as a key to the authenticity of all their claims, it is considered. The reports from which this illustration is drawn are compiled in the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce yearbook for 1934, titled "Air Transport Facts."

On page eight the booklet has a graph which shows the miles flown and the total pay for the fiscal years 1929 through 1934, inclusive. It also has the payment per mile for mail flown during the fiscal years 1929 through 1934.

Year—	Total pay.	Miles flown.	Pay per mile.
1930	14,618,231	14,939,468	.98
1931	16,942,454	21,380,517	.79
1932	19,938,133	32,202,170	.62
1933	19,400,185	35,909,811	.54
1934	14,000,000	36,500,000	.38

With these figures in view, it was pointed out that the $12,000,000 budget for the fiscal year 1935 was merely the continuation of a trend toward reduction in pay for the air transport industry for the carrying of air mail. It was not a new or radical departure in administration.

Counterfeit Suspect Bound Over to Federal Grand Jury

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Jerome San Filippo, 23, of Rockford, was bound over to the October federal grand jury under $10,000 bond by United States Commissioner Robert Eckert Jr., at Freeport today. New Silhouette for Coats

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

For Evenings—Get a High Hat in High Colors

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Fashion flashes about the shops! One knockout collection of high colored high hats for parties from five to midnight. Apricot, robin's egg blue, a new faded mauve, coral, and other shades made into the most French looming toppers that have been seen in weeks.

All have that French accent, the deftly handmade look that seemingly only Parisian fingers can achieve. They are trimmed with silvered tufts of ostrich, gleaming bits of either silver or gold cord and certainly will make their mark in any impressionable gal's mind.

These hats are what you must have for the cocktail dresses and velvet ensembles for dinner parties. They'll make your escort try some new adjectives. These felts are soft and fine, with modest prices attached to make you buy without hurting your conscience.

Long coated suits have suddenly become plentiful. You'll see them in street colors such as henna and green and some stunning models in black and brown. And by long coats, we really mean long coats, the kind that go way below the knees, and that can be worn either cinched in around the waistline with a wide belt or worn hanging loosely at the back, or else fitted snugly to the silhouette. Fur, too, is used under control. Lots of the newest suits have small round collars instead of the older variety that stood high and made it imperative that you clap a small hat on your curls.

This fall it's different; you can wear the brimmed flattering hats and still have fur collars, for they stay flat.

One of the small collared, long coated suits is illustrated, a black beauty trimmed with midnight black fur. The round collar matches the fur facing on the front of the coat. It is belted in wool that matches the material of the suit. The hat features one of the dashing long feathers and a cleverly cut brim. Available in a Chicago shop.

Jeritza to Sing "Turandot" for Opera Opening

"Salome" Another Role for Noted Artist.

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

If they needed any more encouragement to continue their work in selling boxes for the coming six-week opera season at the Civic Opera house, the women of the box committee must have received it yesterday. For Karleton Hackett of the répertoire and artist committee of the Chicago Grand Opera company made it sound as if Chicago were to have the most brilliant opera season in years, with thrills enough to satisfy even the t. b. m. who usually claims that it is more comfortable to sleep at home than at the opera.

"Salome," which created such a scandalous sensation when it first was produced 25 years ago, probably won't cause any one to drop an eye, but the modern settings that will be provided for it will make up that, Mr. Hackett predicted. It was his mentioning opera that reminded Mrs. Arthur Meeker yesterday of what she said was her favorite opera story. It is about the late Byron T. Smith, a distinguished and conservative citizen of Chicago, who, when asked what his favorite opera was, said "Salome."

"But why?" queried the startled questioner.

"Because my wife took me home at the end of the first act," was the reply. Maria Jeritza, who will be Salome, is expected to provide thrills aplenty in "Tosca," for she and her old Metropolitan co-star, Titto Ruffo, will meet again in that opera and perhaps continue the feud they started years ago on the stage of the "Met."

It is Mme. Jeritza who will open the season on Nov. 10 in "Turandot." In this spectacular opera she wears the longest train in the world and handles it magnificently, as every one who has seen her knows, and Mr. Hackett said that her gown still is considered by the "Met" as being the handsomest and most expensive ever made for one of its productions.

American artists are being given a splendid chance this year, for many of those whose names do not sound as if they were Americans were born in this country. For instance, Franca Somigli, the soprano from the noted La Scala in Milan, Italy, who will sing in "Andrea Chenier" on the first Monday with Giovanni Martinelli, was born a Clark in Iowa. Martinelli, by the way, and Lawrence Tibbett and John Charles Thomas are the highest paid artists with the company this year, Mr. Hackett said.

The finances of the company were discussed by George W. Rossetter, president, who hopes that this year's deficit will not run more than $50,000, and perhaps as little as $25,000. Mr. Rossetter's subject could not be as interesting and exciting as Mr. Hackett's, but every woman present knew that the future of the Chicago Grand Opera company depends upon the financial success of the season, and so they welcomed the figures and the outlook he gave them.

Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, chairman, presided at the meeting which was held during luncheon at the Woman's Athletic club, and when she had to rush away to catch the Century to spend the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin Jr., in Greenwich, Conn., the co-chairman, Mrs. Francis Johnson, took her chair. Mrs. Johnson, not long at home from a summer in California, supplied a decidedly partyish atmosphere with a shoulder corsage of huge purple orchids.

Mrs. Meeker, chairman of the Friends of Opera, the organization that had charge of the box selling for the old Civic Opera company, spoke briefly and promised the support of the Friends to the new company which had its first season last year.

The boxholders to date for the opening are:

Fred L. Mandel Jr., George W. Rossetter, Frederick T. Haskell, George I. Haight, Ernest R. Graham, Clifford D. Caldwell, Robin Cooper Jr., George Woodruff, James Scott Kemper.

Harold McCormick, Garrison Grawoig, Lawrence Heyworth, Walter Cummings, Sol H. Goldberg, Hubert Burnham, Hill Blackett, Alexander Patterson.

Dr. Karl Meyer, Miss Olga Mann, Rosary college; Miss Meta Schmidt, John C. Shaffer, Franklin M. Miller, Marco Adrogna, Ross J. Beatty.

There still are six boxes left for the opening performance on Saturday night, Nov. 10. This is not a subscription night.

DR. AND MRS. MAURICE H. COTTLE are back from an eventful summer in Europe, where they visited the Horowitzes and the Milsteins and the Rachmaninoffs. Mrs. Cottle—whom you probably know better as Gitta Gradova, will have only a week or two to see the baby, and get her music together, before she starts back to Europe. She will embark on a European concert tour, making two appearances with the Warsaw Philharmonic, playing before the Franz Liszt Music club in Budapest, and giving concerts in Holland, and Sweden and England. She will be back in America in time for a concert tour the first of the year.

Artistes—Slovak—Appropriate.

THE way it all happened certainly would sound like a fairy tale to most musicians. One afternoon late this summer the Nathan Milsteins gave a tea at their home in Gstadd in the Alps, and Szigetti, the famous violinist and his accompanist were there, and as Miss Gradova was at the piano, demonstrating to the accompanist how she played a certain phrase or two, an European manager dropped in. He heard her, and immediately offered her the tour.

THE great Toscanini was visiting his daughter and son-in-law while the Cottles were stopping with Vladimir Horowitz and his wife, at Sils-Maria, Switzerland, and Bruno Walter was there too. The Horowitz house is close to the place where Nietzsche lived. Horowitz's hobby is walking. He walks every day—like a crazy man—rapidly and long, and he takes the same route Nietzsche used to traverse. Then he sits by the hour and looks toward the mountains, and nearby some verse of Nietzsche is graven in the rock.

RACHMANINOFF has a modern home, practically the only really modern house in Switzerland, according to Dr. Cottle, from whom we extracted all this information. It is ultramodern, with terraces, and one wall in the living room is made of plate glass. His hobby is speedboats, and Milstein's is tennis—just as Horowitz' is walking. Both Horowitz and Milstein will appear with the Chicago Symphony orchestra this year, by the way. Another soloist whose appearance is looked forward to with interest is Rose Bannton, contralto, the youngest singer of the Met.

"What are Slovak children?" one asked the other.

"Children that are not quite bright, I guess," the other answered.

"Imagine those beautiful things being made by mentally retarded children," murmured the other.

WHEN Mrs. Laird Bell and Mrs. Albert Madlener Jr. met to talk over plans for the luncheon Mrs. Bell gave at the Casino yesterday for the members of the committee selling boxes for the opening night of Gertrude Stein's "Four Saints in Three Acts," as a benefit for the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins, the question of refreshments came up:

"I've been thinking of a cake with four little chocolate saints . . ." said Mrs. Bell.

"Ah," Mrs. Madlener countered quickly, "of course the cake will be angel-food."

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A woman chemist we know gave us a great song and dance one day about her sales resistance to beauty aids. She talked largely and made us feel like a thoroughly frivolous wench because we frankly get a bang out of 'em.

We've got sales resistance, too, but please Heaven we'll never get to the point where we don't get a flutter out of a new and different perfume blend or a mysterious compound that will make the eyelashes grow luxurious. If we ever do you can order the lilies.

But we discovered that we needn't have felt like an intellectual lightweight. We got a glimpse of HER dressing table one day—and, my dears, you wouldn't have believed your eyes! That indifference to beauty aids that she talked of so impressively was strictly talk. She's lured to them as inevitably as all the rest of us.

Occasionally we find a woman who says she can't understand why another woman would pay a huge sum for a jar of a certain cream of a bottle of a particular lotion. Well, maybe she can't—but we're willing to bet any amount you say that that same woman would do likewise—if she could afford it. The old pony coat may do very well—but if you had a million wouldn't you like a mink better? With cosmetics we find the same principle applies. Women like to use the best they can afford—and why not?

If you've been hankering after a certain rich cream for sensitive skins and a liquid to be used with it—both combining to make a mask treatment that seems actually to put pep in tired, drooping skins—but found them too expensive, you might be interested in an introductory kit that's just come to town. The sizes are smaller—but there is enough of the precious lotion for four treatments and enough cream to last weeks. If your skin is no longer young this is an excellent treatment for you—and this is your chance to try a few without mortgaging the old homestead.

The kits are in two shops in Chicago.

Debutantes to Enjoy Dinner Dance Tonight

Betty Forgan Will Bow at Saddle and Cycle.

BY JUDITH CASS.

WITH dozens of gay balloons twirling above their heads, society's debutantes will dance this evening at the Saddle and Cycle club at the dinner-dance Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Forgan of Highland Park are giving to present their lovely blonde haired daughter Betty. Dinner, which is to be served at small tables on the rambling porch, is scheduled for 8, but it will probably be well after this hour by the time Mr. and Mrs. Forgan and their daughter have received their 175 guests.

A special beau, who will probably want more than one dance with Miss Forgan this evening, will be Charles Baker of Montclair, N. J. Mr. Baker and Miss Nancy Cassidy of Greenfield, Mass., who was a classmate of Miss Forgan at Stoneleigh Prospect, in Greenfield, are here as the house guests of the Forgans. Before attending Stoneleigh Prospect Miss Forgan was a student at Dobbs Ferry.

Junior League Lecture Today.

The gay lounge of the Junior league's new headquarters in the Farwell building will be filled this morning for the first of Clifton Utley's lecture series on "Europe . . . the Last Four Months," which will be a Friday morning feature during the next three months. The lecture will begin at 11 o'clock.

Among the older league members who, remembering the immense success of the series last winter at the Casino, will be there early this morning to secure front row seats are Mrs. Norman Pritchard, Mrs. Joseph Sprang, Mrs. Ballard Moore, Mrs. Charles G. Adams, Mrs. Cyrus Hill, Mrs. Ronald Boardman, Mrs. Harold Beacom, and Mrs. Harry Weisbach. Ex-members are invited to the series and any one attending may bring one guest.

Others who have taken tickets for the lectures are Mrs. Denis E. Sullivan Jr., Mrs. John B. Morse [Margaret McLennan], Mrs. Raymond O. Mitchell, Miss Laura Thorne, Miss Barbara Bastien, Miss Barbara Graf, Miss Marian Gordon, and Miss Grace Fitzmorris. Mrs. Edward F. Carry also will be a "regular."

Foreign Relations Council to Meet.

The Chicago Council on Foreign Relations has asked John Gunther, foreign newspaper man, to amend his topic for the council luncheon this noon at the Palmer house to include remarks on the international situation created by the assassination of King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia. Previously Mr. Gunther had planned to limit his address to "Austria—the Present Situation." He has just returned to the United States after five years continuous absence.

Of further interest to the members of the council is the luncheon planned for a week from today, when Frank L. Kluckhohn, former Madrid correspondent for the New York Times, comes to speak on "Revolution in Spain." This meeting will also be at 12:30 in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer house.

Ship Miniatures at Columbus Tea.

Of special interest at the Columbus day tea the Italy-America society is having this afternoon at the Chicago Historical society will be the carefully reproduced miniatures of Columbus' three ships, the Nina, the Pinta, and the Santa Maria, that the Museum of Science and Industry has loaned to

Wedding Surprises Friends

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dodd Healy.

Of decided surprise this morning is the announcement of the marriage last evening of Mrs. Van Sicklen Burbank, daughter of Charles F. Van Sicklen, and Thomas Dodd Healy, son of Mrs. Thomas J. Healy of 5039 Ellis avenue. The young couple were married at 8:30 o'clock at the handsome old Michigan avenue home of the bride's grandfather, John Griffiths, at 3806 South Michigan avenue.

Only the immediate families witnessed the ceremony, which was read in the high paneled drawing room. There was a wedding supper after the service and then Mr. Healy and his bride departed on a wedding trip to Nassau.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was strikingly gowned in silver lame fashioned on severely simple lines. She wore a large bouquet of purple orchids. The new Mrs. Healy is a graduate of Miss Harris' school and of Ogontz.

Mr. Healy, an assistant state's attorney, was graduated from the Harvard School for Boys and the University of Chicago. He received the degree of bachelor of laws at Harvard university.

WEDDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Rose announce the approaching marriage of Miss Hilda Schulz to Herbert DuBois, which will take place Sunday at 4 p. m. at the Belden Stratford hotel, where Mr. and Mrs. Rose reside. Mr. DuBois and his bride will be at home at the Cromwell hotel, 5718 Winthrop avenue, after Oct. 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Yates Hunker of Salisbury, Mo., announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Sue, and Louis Alexander Traxel of Chicago on Oct. 27. The service will be read at 4:30 o'clock in the First Baptist church of Salisbury.

D. A. R. Defense Meeting.

Admiral Wat T. Cluverius will be the speaker at the national defense meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution at 10:30 this morning at the Woman's University club.

WATCHFUL CARE OF ELECTRICAL CORD BARS FIRE

Only Quality Materials Must Be Used.

"Baking the Perfect Cake," a 56 page booklet containing directions and recipes for 48 cakes, frostings, and fillings, along with causes and remedies for cake failures, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, Tribune Tower, and Hall of Science, A Century of Progress, for 20 cents. By mail, 23 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

Does your toaster spit at the socket when you plug it in? And does your waffle iron cord grow frayed and troubled where you yank it out? Then give a cheer, all you kitcheneers, for the sign posts point to better cords and safer materials all through the field of housekeeping.

We seem to lean heavily toward weeks and campaigns. Now, along with Plant-a-Tree week and Make-a-Pal-of-Father day, arrives a much more serious campaign to be known as "Safeguarding Electrical Service in the Home."

During the last year an organization of electrical industries has been laboring with its various members, launching an attack against the industries' "public enemy No. 1," unapproved electrical cord. Already, we are informed, the number of fires caused by poor quality cord in household appliances has definitly lessened—20 per cent less such disasters today than befell two years ago.

So how does this apply to you and me? The point of most importance is naturally our first equipment investment—or our upkeep in new wires still to be purchased. Don't fool yourself that you are saving money by buying cheap electrical equipment and just "any old cord." Not only will you have to replace these short lived affairs in a hurry, but you are risking the loss of property and lives by such penny foolishness. Standard appliances and cords labeled with a guarantee of safety alone are sound and safe investments.

But even the best of wiring will, in time, wear out. Unless you yourself are an expert in electrical repair work play not with the wires. The little spent now on a recognized electrician bound to maintain standards of safety will be money saved and tragedy avoided.

This may seem to take the responsibility off our shoulders, but don't think it. There's plenty for everybody. The job which remains for us is that of intelligent use of our cords and electrical pieces once they have been set prettily in working order. Here are a few pointers of warning:

Do not hang portable cords on nails or run them under rugs or through clothes closet doors. Shredded insulation, broken wires, then blazing homes have happened countless times from each of these mistakes. Watch your cords and replace them, or have the ends cut off and reconnected when wearing starts.

Don't overload any electrical circuit. If you are using one outlet or circuit for a number of appliances or lamps, ask an electrician whether you are well within the limits of safety.

A shocking per cent of electrical fires comes from the mere fact that we forgot to turn off the toaster, or the iron, or the curler.

Remember that the fuse is the watch dog of your electrical circuit. If you have an overload and if the fuse is functioning properly and is of the correct size it will burn out long before the danger point is reached. So don't tamper with that watch dog! You are courting sorrow if you put pennies or nails back of fuses when they blow out. They did it because they were overloaded. With the safety valve gone and the current still flowing heavily fires are not long in starting.

It's decidedly bad practice to allow electrical cords, unless insulated with especially prepared coatings, to lie within reach of metal objects which are grounded, such as water or gas piping, steam radiators, hot water or hot air registers. Never place electrical appliances on a gas or coal stove when the circuit is connected. Keep all such articles out of reach from the bathtub.

In unplugging an appliance, where do you grip the cord? Be wise and don't grip it at all. Break the connection by drawing out always on the plug, not on the cord itself. Rough handling breaks the fine wires, allowing them to pierce the covering and become a fire and shock menace.

Watch out for and avoid twists and sharp bends in the electrical cord. To save wear on the cord and plug, and danger from possible breaks, whenever possible make and break the current by means of a switch.

BEE IS LIKELY TO LIKE NECTAR TAKEN STRAIGHT

Change in Feeding Is Explained.

The mystery surrounding the sudden, seemingly capricious, shifting of bees from one kind of plant to another has been lifted, in part at least, by recent entomological studies in California. The concentration of nectar seems to be the deciding factor in drawing bees to blossoms. Apparently bees like their nectar straight, the entomologists say.

The bees observed in California avoided fruit blossoms of open structure, such as apricot and some plum blooms, during the time the nectar was diluted with rain or dew. Almond blossoms, however, in which the nectar was well protected, were attractive to the bees at all times. Apple blossoms, which in general rank highest of all deciduous fruit tree blossoms in California in attractiveness to bee visitors, do not enter into competition with other fruits because they blossom so late that they have the field to themselves.

Blossoms of other plants having highly concentrated nectar may lure bees away from orchards, the study showed. Mustard, chickweed, and manzanita, growing near orchards, kept bees from visiting fruit trees as frequently as they otherwise would have done.

24 HIGH SCHOOL BOYS TO LEARN FOWL CARVING

Ames, Ia., Oct. 11.—How to carve chicken—and eat it after it is carved—will soon be no mystery to 24 Ames High school boys.

A course in home economics, under the supervision of Alice Dahlen, member of the home economics education staf at Iowa State college, will teach them that, and more.

Manners was the subject the class wanted to study first, Miss Dahlen said today. Later, still giving what the class wants, study of personal grooming, selection of food, hospitality, and the duties of a host, and home management will be offered.

Cranberry Once Served as Harbinger of Holiday Time

BY MABEL BRYANT.

There was a time, not so long ago, when bright red little cranberries were considered the harbingers of the holiday season. They were one indispensable article for holiday banquets made into jelly, sauce and cranberry pie with a decorative lattice work crust.

'Member way back when cranberries were strung and hung in festoons around the "front room" on festive occasions?" And sometimes they were used to decorate the Christmas tree! Since those days much has been done with the cranberry to bring out its latent qualities, with the result that it is just as smart and popular today as most any other fruit, and running a close second with tomato juice as a zestful cocktail before a heavy meal.

Desert Towns for Bogs.

Cranberries formerly were called the crane-berry, because of its bright red head swinging on a threadlike neck. In the Cape Cod country, the northern Pacific coast and other locations less known, when the cranberry crop is ready in September, the entire town adjacent to a cranberry bog, drops all tasks to get in on the harvesting of cranberries. The picking of this fruit is an "kneesy" job, and just that; for it is necessary to get down on all fours to find them, as they hang down underneath the vines. At first glance all that is visible are the tiny bright green leaves stretched out in squares with narrow paths between.

With cranberries at the height of their season now, it's smart to start the dinner with a cranberry juice cocktail, so why not make a supply and have it on hand for all occasions? It is economical and so easy to make. The method is as follows: Four cups cranberries, four cups water, one cup sugar; cook cranberries and water together until skins of berries begin to pop open. Strain through cheesecloth bag, but do not squeeze or the juice will not be clear and sparkling. Bring the juice to boiling point, add sugar and boil for about five minutes. Serve cold. For future use put in sterilized bottles, well corked and sealed.

Blue Ridge Jelly.

Quince, blue grapes, apples, and cranberries available on the market at this time all go into luscious Blue Ridge jelly. This old jelly recipe hails from that neck of the woods from where it gets its name. The mountaineers you'll agree, know how to concoct fruits for beautiful and appetizing jelly. To make it use twelve tart apples, twelve quinces, one quart cranberries and two cups blue Concord grapes. Wash and cut the apples and quinces in tiny pieces. Do not peel them. Wash grapes and crush them. Pick over and wash the cranberries and add all fruit to kettle and cover with cold water. Bring gradually to boil and cook slowly until all ingredients become soft. Drain in jelly bag. Measure juice and add cup for cup of juice and sugar. Bring juice to boil before adding the sugar. Boil until thick drops fall from spoon.

A new and delicious salad made with cranberries and orange would be enjoyed the next time you want something different for dinner. It goes well with fowl or roast pork and is made with:

1 package orange jello.
2 cups raw cranberries.
1 medium sized orange.
1¾ cups boiling water.

Dissolve jello in boiling water. Free orange from seeds and membrane. Put cranberries, orange and peel through meat chopper. Mix with chilled jello. Pour into individual molds or one large one. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise dressing.

METHOD FOUND FOR MAKING OF GOOD GRAPE ICE

Geneva, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Dairy specialists at the state experiment station here announce the development of a method for the manufacture of grape ice that insures a high grade product free from the loss of flavor and color that have discouraged ice cream manufacturers in the past in attempts to popularize grape ice. While ices and sherbets have never been as popular as ice cream, nevertheless large quantities of ices are consumed in the form of orange, lemon, pineapple, cranberry, raspberry, peach, apricot, and the like.

APPLE DISHES PROVIDE TASTY FARE IN WINTER

Home Economics Specialist Lists Recipes.

Dishes made with apples are particularly good fall and winter fare. For dessert, try blushing apples, made with red cinnamon candies; apple upside-down cake with a ginger bread batter, apple fritters, or apple sauce flavored with cider or maple sirup, suggests Marie Doermann, home economics specialist of Rutgers university.

Some other of her apple favorites are apple and date salad, cabbage and apple salad, and baked ham with stuffed apples.

Apple and Cranberry Relish.

1 cup ground raw apple, not peeled.
1 cup sugar.

Mix all together and let stand one hour before serving. This relish is especially good served with pork, fowl, or veal.

Maple Sirup Apples.

6 apples.
1 cup maple sirup.

Bring the maple sirup to the boiling point in a saucepan. Wash, peel, and cut the apples in quarters or eighths, depending upon their size. Cook the apples slowly in the hot sirup until tender, being careful not to break them. Cool and serve with or without cream.

Baked Ham with Stuffed Apples.

Cut a slice of ham 1½ inches thick, rub with brown sugar, dot with whole cloves and place in a shallow baking pan. Peel and core tart apples, fill the cavity with chopped raisins and brown sugar and then arrange apples in the pan around the ham. Pour in one-half cup boiling water, cover and bake until the meat is tender. Baste the apples and the meat several times.

The Strange Case of Dr. McBride

He was a genial soul but she knew something was wrong

Now Mrs. McBride couldn't understand it at all. Her husband was a genial soul but she knew there was something wrong. At breakfast, at supper, as soon as he had his coffee everything went wrong. He started grumbling. It must be the coffee. So she changed brands constantly. Floating, as it were, from "something different" to "something else just as good."

But at last he explained. "Dear wife," so he said, "I'm tired of this coffee-floating. Let's henceforth enjoy the constant goodness of Hills Bros. Coffee as most of our friends do. There's no finer coffee and its greater strength and flavor give us more economy per cup, even though 'something else' may seem to be a few cents less."

There's no finer coffee than Hills Bros.

POTATO PRICES COME DOWN; BIG CROP REFLECTED

Stores Offer Week-End Food Bargains.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Potato prices declined this week in wholesale markets, and as a result retailers are quoting the lowest price level this week-end for potatoes since the winter months of 1932-'33. In the wholesale food markets the new bargain price on potatoes was considered an indication that dealers and retailers handling other produce, staples, and canned goods will find competition from potatoes necessitating lower rather than higher prices soon on the other products.

Crop reports for the principal potato producing areas indicated that on Oct. 1 there was a prospect of 362,391,000 bushels, as compared with an estimate Sept. 1 of 337,141,000 bushels. Production in 1933 was 320,353,000 bushels. The increased production is found principally in Wisconsin, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York, and Maine.

Maine Potatoes Here Early.

For the first time in the memory of Chicago potato dealers potatoes from Maine have appeared in Chicago the first week in October, according to H. B. Tabb, secretary of the National Potato institute. Maine's potato crop is so plentiful that shippers are competing in Texas markets and in St. Louis, Mo., against the smaller crop of western and southern states.

Prices in Chicago this week-end are as low as one cent a pound on good quality round white potatoes. The western baking potatoes, curtailed in quantity and quality by drouth and lack of irrigation, are demanding a premium of about two-thirds of a cent a pound over Wisconsin and Michigan crops.

Cabbage, carrots, celery, radishes, lettuce, eggplant, onions, cauliflower, sweet potatoes, rutabagas, turnips, beets, yams and fall grown dandelion, spinach and mustard greens can all be included with potatoes and week-end bargains in most of Chicago's stores.

Attractive Prices on Meat.

Pancake flour and syrup, corn meal mush packaged for frying, jams and preserves for breakfast menus, cheese, packaged crackers, canned tomato juice and many brands of coffee and tea are among other bargains that await shoppers today and tomorrow.

At meat counters there are other items on which shoppers can find quality purchases at especially attractive prices. Nearly all of the better quality meats are lower in price this week-end in the majority of meat markets. The shopper will find an advantage in buying the cuts of meat which normally command a premium because they have the smallest proportion of bone. In contrast to spareribs and similar types of meat, the bargains will consist today and tomorrow of beef rounds and beef chuck roats, pork shoulder, veal shoulder and leg of lamb.

PRICES OF LAMB CUTS ARE LOWER THIS WEEK-END

The committee on marketing information of the meat council of Chicago has issued the following report for the guidance of the housewives purchasing meat in the Chicago retail meat stores:

"Leg of lamb is recommended to housewives as the best meat buy in Chicago retail meat stores over the coming week-end. Prices of most lamb cuts are lower this week-end than they have been for the last few weeks. Lamb shoulder roast is an unusually low priced cut which is available at the present time.

"Lamb steak and pot roast of beef also are selling at bargain price levels in Chicago retail meat stores."

ROLLED FLANK STEAK WITH VEGETABLES.

2 pounds flank steak
2 potatoes, diced
2 diced carrots
2 slices onions
1 diced turnip
1 diced parsnip
½ cup tomatoes
1½ cups bread crums
1½ tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons flour

Dredge the meat with the flour. Prepare a stuffing of the bread crums, melted butter, half of the salt, and the pepper. Spread over the steak, roll, and tie. Sear in a little fat until browned. Combine the vegetables and remainder of the salt in a large baking dish. Lay the meat roll on top and add enough water to half cover the meat. Cover and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for 1½ to 2 hours, adding more water if necessary.

HERE IS COUNSEL ON COLD STORAGE OF VEGETABLES

Many a housewife has wondered why her vegetables would not keep in cold storage. According to a Cornell university bulletin, vegetables may lose quality in cold storage from any one of three causes: chemical changes, wilting, or spread of storage diseases.

After three years' study on cold storage of vegetables, Cornell scientists recommend certain temperatures at which certain vegetables will keep longest. The Fahrenheit scale is used, followed by the maximum storage period recommended:

Asparagus, 32 degrees, one week; lima beans, 32 degrees, two to three weeks; beets, 32-40 degrees, four to five months; cabbage, 32-40 degrees, five months; carrots, 32-40 degrees, six months; cauliflower, 32 degrees, thirty to forty days; celery, 32 degrees, three to five months; cucumbers, 32-40 degrees, four to five weeks.

Lettuce, 32 degrees, three to four weeks; onions and onion sets, 31-32 degrees, five months; green peas, 32 degrees, two weeks; parsnips, 32 degrees, five months; squash, 40 degrees, five months; sweet corn, 32 degrees, three to four weeks; green tomatoes, 50-60 degrees, one month, and ripe tomatoes, 40 degrees, ten days.

Household Hints

Because nearly one-half of the potato crop is lost each year in Europe due to improper storage, many of the potatoes are made into a flaky powder called "potato flakes."

New Gadget Shows Amount of Pectin in Fruit Juice

A new gadget has been made for jelly manufacturers which shows the amount of pectin or jelly making substance in a fruit juice. Perhaps the next step will be to make one for the housewife.

DRY YEAR GIVES BUMPER CROP OF SWEET POTATOES

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 11.—Even a crop year like 1934 has its bright spots, and one encouraging thing right now is that Illinois farmers and vegetable growers are counting on a bigger sweet potato crop than they had in 1933, according to Lee A. Somers, vegetable gardening extension specialist at the college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

The sweet potato's reputation as a dry weather crop is again borne out by recent crop reports which estimate this season's Illinois yield at around 78 bushels to the acre as compared with 70 bushels in 1933. The total crop for the state is estimated at 546,000 bushels as against 420,000 bushels last year.

200,000 PRAY AT EUCHARIST MEET IN BUENOS AIRES

Pleas for Peace Dominate Catholic Congress.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Two hundred thousand visitors from the four corners of the earth, representing more than 30 nations, gathered on the flat plain of Palermo park today for the first general assembly of the International Eucharistic Congress.

To all parts of the 1,400 acre park microphones brought the voice of Msgr. Pedro Pascual Farfan, archbishop of Lima, who spoke on the theme, "Christ the King in the Eucharist and for the Eucharist."

Speech Is Climax.

The speech was the climax of the tremendous meeting, during which the predominantly South American audience heard a strong plea to "brother nations of the same origins" to bring about peace between Paraguay and Bolivia in the Chaco boreal.

Earlier in the day the open air cathedral was invaded by 107,000 children with white and yellow Eucharistic banners. They came to receive communion from 250 priests.

They prayed for peace in the world and especially in the Chaco, and then formed into double lines and passed by the base of the altar and under its 105 foot cross to leave small baskets of bread they had brought for the poor.

St. Louis Archbishop Speaks.

Before the general assembly, services were held in all Buenos Aires churches, which were allocated by nationality.

In the American section, Archbishop John J. Glennon of St. Louis, Mo., urged men not to leave religious responsibilities to the women.

"Many modern men," he asserted, "shirk that responsibility and put their burden of religion on their wife and children."

Although the church is divine, he said, its work is among men—meaning mankind generally; but Christ intended the special work for men—meaning men, not women.

BABY DIES UNDER WHEEL OF TRUCK; COUNTY TOLL 939

Thomas Johnson, 18 months old, was killed yesterday when he was crushed by the rear wheel of a truck of the Continental Can company in the alley behind his home. The driver, Frank Smith, 4234 South Artesian avenue, told police he did not see the boy until after the accident. There were no other witnesses. Smith was held for the inquest.

This death and three others yesterday brought the 1934 trafic toll for the county to 938. The other victims:

Ralph Woods, 40 years old, 2159 North Sayre avenue. Died in the West Suburban hospital of injuries incurred Wednesday when his automobile collided at Thatcher and Belmont avenues, River Grove, with another operated by Nicholas Allbmont, 1113 Blue Island avenue. Mr. Woods' widow and Allbmont, his wife, and 14 year old son, James, were cut and bruised.

Henry McMillan, 49 years old, 4516 Raymond street, Brookfield. Died in the county hospital of injuries incurred Wednesday night when he was struck by the vehicle of a hit and run driver on the Ogden avenue viaduct at East avenue in La Grange. His companion, George Kane of Brookfield, who also was struck, was still unconscious from his injuries last night.

George Lusk, 47 years old, 1828 Nebraska avenue. Pronounced dead at the Norwegian-American hospital after being struck while crossing Humboldt avenue at North avenue by the automobile of John Thorning, 3218 Fletcher street. Thorning was held for the inquest.

Funeral to Be Tomorrow for Mathias Rosenbom

Funeral services for Mathias Rosenbom, pioneer stair builder, president of Rosenbom Brothers Manufacturing company, 2312 Wabansia avenue, who died suddenly Wednesday, will be held at the residence, 5901 North Talman avenue, at 3 p. m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Montrose cemetery. Mr. Rosenbom, who was 76 years old, came here from Germany as a young man. He is survived by his widow, Caroline, and four children. They are two sons, Hans A. of Norwood Park and Fred, who lives at the family residence, and two daughters, Mrs. Frieda Thompson, 2550 Thorndale avenue, and Mrs. Catherine Bopp of 3115 Osgood street.

Leo La Roque, ex-Member of Board of Trade, Dead

Leo La Roque, a former resident of Chicago and former member of the Chicago Board of Trade, died yesterday of heart disease in Montreal, Canada, according to word received here by Thomas J. Sullivan, a former business associate. Mr. La Roque went to Montreal a year ago. In Chicago he lived at the Illinois Athletic club, of which he was a member. He also was a member of the Olympia Fields Country club and the Chicago Yacht club. He was 74 years old.

Gail Borden Munsill, 29, Is Dead at Winsted, Conn.

Winsted, Conn., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Gail Borden Munsill, 29, great grandson of Gail Borden, who started the first evaporated and condensed milk company in the United States, died today at his home after an illness of two weeks with influenza.

HAM CONVENTION DRAWS THRONG OF RADIO AMATEURS

More than 1,500 "hams" [amateur radio operators] are converging on Chicago for a field day tomorrow that promises to be unique in radio annals. The "ham" convention will be held at station W9PZ, of the Lakeside Radio club, on Sheridan road, a mile and a half north of Lake Bluff, on the estate of Thorne Donnelley, president of the club.

The "hams" are coming from many distant points—Mexico, Puerto Rico, Central America, Canada and from every corner of the nation.

The ham field day, running from 8:30 a. m. until far into the night, is being held in celebration of the opening of W9PZ with the latest type of a phone transmitter. The outing will have its serious aspects with discussions by technical experts. There will be demonstrations of a variety of short wave transmitters.

Don McGibney, news commentator of the National Broadcasting company, is to give his regular 10 p. m. program by special hookup from W9PZ, describing the events and recounting some of the traditions of radio amateurs.

Among the best known amateurs who will be on hand are Dr. James Hard, X1G, Mexico City; Buck Taylor, W4LU, Signal Mountain, Tenn.; J. D. Slaughter and his famous whistle, W4MU, Cleveland, Tenn.; and the Pudue university "Gang," W9YB.

BROADCASTERS SEEK DECISION ON NICETY OF THE WORD 'DAMN'

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—(AP)—A decision by congress on whether the word "damn" constitutes profanity or is merely another innocuous ejaculation is desired by the National Association of Broadcasters.

Even better, the federal communications commission was told today, would be a law relieving broadcasters of responsibility for whatever is said over the air from their stations. In fact, broadcasters were declared to be "thoroughly jittery" over the situation.

The witness was Henry A. Bellows, chairman of the association's legislative committee, who declared that what was wanted was preservation of "freedom of speech to the highest possible degree."

Baron Monteagle Is Taken by Death in Dublin at 51

MUNDELEIN BACK TODAY BEARING GIFTS FROM POPE

Plan Big Welcome for the Returning Cardinal.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Cardinal George Mundelein will arrive in Chicago at 9 o'clock this morning in the La Salle street station on the 20th Century and thus bring to an end a triumphal journey to Rome where he was given notable honors for himself and his archdiocese by Pope Pius. The cardinal is celebrating his 25th anniversary as a bishop.

It is said that probably no American prelate ever received greater recognition by a Roman pontiff and his court than Cardinal Mundelein. Of the gifts and honors for his archdiocese, the most significant is the right of the seminary of St. Mary of the Lake at Mundelein perpetually to grant papal degrees. There are only four such seminaries in the world.

Accompanied by Delegation.

Cardinal Mundelein is being accompanied from New York by a special delegation, led by Bishop William D. O'Brien, which met the cardinal as he debarked Tuesday from the liner Rex. The cardinal's party will also include the delegation which accompanied him to Rome. The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, senior auxiliary bishop of Chicago, said yesterday that the cardinal and his party will be unofficially greeted this morning by large delegations of clergy and laity of the archdiocese.

A great formal Chicago celebration of Cardinal Mundelein's Silver Jubilee in mid-November has been proposed. Bishop Sheil said, however, that these Launch Spiritual Activity.

A year ago, Cardinal Mundelein announced that he desired his jubilee year to be one marked by great spiritual activity; that the gifts he most desired were saved souls of men, women and children of Chicago. In response to the cardinal's plea, missions have been reported in practically every church with resulting increases of confirmation classes and the return of many to the communion of the Catholic church.

Additional honors for Catholic leaders of Chicago will be announced on Cardinal Mundelein's arrival, according to dispatches from Rome prior to the cardinal's departure. Two honors which already have been announced were the elevation to the title of monsignor of the Rev. George J. Casey, assistant chancellor of the archdiocese, and the knighting of Paul Drymalski in the Order of St. Gregory.

The Rev. James C. Curry, executive director of the Council of Catholic Women, announced yesterday that Cardinal Mundelein's first public appearance after his return will be at a luncheon of the council tomorrow noon at the Palmer house.

BERTHA SPIELMAN LEAVES AN ESTATE OF $300,000 TO KIN

The will of Mrs. Bertha W. Spielman, widow of Adolph Spielman, head of the Chicago Tablet and Ticket company, leaving an estate estimated at $300,000, was filed yesterday with Clerk Mitchell C. Robin of the Probate court.

Mrs. Spielman, who resided at the Edgewater Beach hotel, died Sept. 21. She was 67 years old. The estate includes 700 shares of stock in the Chicago National league baseball club of which 500 shares are left to a son, William Spielman, and the remainder to a nephew, Lester H. Willson. The bulk of the estate is willed to the son.

The following other wills were admitted to probate:

E. PERCY MILLER, died Aug. 12. Estate $34,000 to widow and son. Perrin C. Miller, son, executor.

ANNA GROSSMAN, died Sept. 25. Estate $6,000 to two daughters. Esther Bernstein, daughter, executrix.

LOUIS SORENSON MILLER, died Aug. 24. Estate $5,000 to three daughters. Anna Bienka, daughter, executrix.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

H. Leopold Spitalny, well known as a radio entertainer, returns to the local scene today to conduct the Chicago Theater orchestra for several weeks. In this capacity he will direct the W-G-N "Chicago Theater of the Air" the next two Tuesday evenings. Spitalny has been conducting two New York NBC programs the last season—"Kaleidoscope," a program of symphonic music that ran for twenty weeks, and the "Goin' to Town" series with Ed Lowry as master of ceremonies.

Tony Cabooch, one man entertainer long identified with NBC locally, has been called to New York for a new show on the new American Broadcasting system. Jimmy Dew, his daughter, will assist him. Trixie Friganza and Brad Browne are two other well known radio personalities engaged as regular artists by ABS.

Failure to obtain permission to broadcast the Southern California-Pittsburgh football game tomorrow brought about a last minute switch in plans of both NBC and CBS. In consequence, the Illinois-Ohio State Homecoming game will go out over the WEAF-NBC and CBS nets. And the WJZ-NBC chain will carry the Carnegie Tech-Michigan State contest.

That new NBC Radio theater which will open Sunday with Miriam Hopkins and John Boles in "Seventh Heaven," has engaged Helen Hayes and Kenneth McKenna for "What Every Woman Knows," for its second show the following week. Walter Huston will star in "The Barker," the third week. These players were starred in the original Broadway productions of these successes.

JAMES WILLSON, HAYMARKET RIOT POLICEMAN, DIES

James H. Willson, 89 years old, retired Chicago policeman who was wounded during the Haymarket riot on May 4, 1886, died yesterday in his home on River road in Schiller Park.

Born in Mexicoville, N. Y., in 1845, Mr. Willson came to Chicago with his parents in 1850. He joined the police department in 1872 and was a policeman assigned to the Des Plaines street station when the rioting broke out. He was retired in 1898.

In 1873 he married Miss Viola Bailey of Chicago. Last Sept. 2 the couple celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary. Besides his widow, Mr. Willson is survived by three sons, Albert H. of Milwaukee, James P. of Long Beach, Cal., and Stanley D. of Schiller Park, and two daughters, Olive and Mrs. Sue W. Ford.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Ford home at 6145 North Kirkwood avenue. Burial will be in Oakridge cemetery.

Dr. Joseph W. Enos Dead; In Practice for 35 Years

Dr. Joseph W. Enos, 812 Wilson avenue, for more than thirty-five years a practicing physician on the north side of Chicago, died yesterday in his home, apparently of heart disease. He was 75 years old.

Dr. Enos came home late in the afternoon after making several calls and lay down to rest, while his wife, Margaret, was seeing to the preparation of the evening meal. When she went to awaken him he was dead.

the Historical society for the occasion. The tiny replicas were made at a cost of $1,000 apiece.

The tea is to be held in the Spanish exploration rooms which has real 15th century feeling in its coquina rock walls, grilled shutters, and beamed ceiling. The doors of the room are those from the La Rabida convent, where Columbus stayed awaiting orders from Queen Isabella.

Presiding at the tea tables will be Mrs. James R. Offield, Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, Mrs. Eames MacVeagh, and Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis. Admiral Wat T. Cluverius and Henry Patten are in charge of the official ceremonies.

Ruth Bryan Owen Will Talk Tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll H. Sudler, Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Howell B. Erminger Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Edmund A. Andrews, Dr. and Mrs. Dallas B. Phemister, Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell, and Miss Naomi Donnelley are a few of those who will hear Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen this evening when she speaks on "This Business of Diplomacy" at 8:30 o'clock at Mandel hall at the University of Chicago. In her lecture Mrs. Owen will relate her impressions and experiences as minister to Denmark.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallett Wilber Thorne of Winnetka are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son on Saturday at the Michael Reese hospital. The baby, who is to be named Charles Hallett Thorne II., after his paternal grandfather, has a sister, Betty, who is about 8 years old. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorne are leaving tomorrow for their home in Pasadena, having waited in Chicago long enough to make the acquaintance of their newest grandbaby. Young Charles' maternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor Andrews.

London Wedding of Interest Here.

In London today a wedding of interest to Chicagoans will be solemnized when John Howe Fuqua, American vice consul, takes Mrs. Gillian Quinnell Ryder for his bride. Although Mrs. Ryder and Mr. Fuqua had planned a more elaborate ceremony later in the fall, they are being married very quietly now, since Mr. Fuqua is being moved to Paris as a vice consul.

The romance between Mr. Fuqua, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. Nelson Fuqua of 5733 Kimbark avenue, and Mrs. Ryder dates back sometime since Mr. Fuqua has been stationed in London as vice consul for four years and before that studied at the University of London.

Friends of Col. and Mrs. Robert G. Peck will be glad to hear that Mrs. Peck is recuperating successfully from the severe injuries she suffered recently in an automobile accident near Akron, O. Col. and Mrs. Peck were driving east with their niece, Miss Laura Moyer, who was about to enter boarding school in the east, when the accident occurred.

Miss Moyer suffered such slight injuries that she was able to continue east, and Col. Peck escaped with only cuts and bruises. As yet Mrs. Peck is not allowed to receive visitors, although she is out of the hospital and at home.

Mrs. George Lytton Arrives in City.

Mrs. George Lytton is at the Drake hotel after a summer in Europe with her daughter, Mrs. Thaddeus Zazulinski, who lives in Warsaw. Mrs. Lytton's younger daughter, Miss Rosemary Lytton, came on from California to meet her mother here and though they have no definite plans they will be in town for a few weeks, anyway. Mrs. Lytton's sister, Mrs. Carl Marshall of Providence, R. I., who came west with her, is visiting their brother, Dr. Leigh Ewing Schwarz.

Mrs. Daniel Peterkin Jr. has returned to her apartment with her daughter, who was born Oct. 1 at the Passavant hospital. The infant has an older sister, Joan.

THERE NEVER WAS SUCH A MAN AS ROBIN HOOD

Robin Hood is a ledgendary person who was supposed to have lived in Nottinghamshire, England, somewhere about the twelfth or thirteenth century. Historians are quite agreed that he has never been anything more than an imaginary person whom the common people have created in their minds. There is no tangible evidence of such a person's ever having lived, and his existence probably resides only in the ballads, games and plays which have been built up around his name. Some historians think Robin Hood represents a class of people at this early period and never was intended to be thought of as an actual individual.

Shirley Temple Won't Help in Vote Campaign

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—A studio friend of Shirley Temple's mother advised Mrs. Temple to forget about a political request that Baby Shirley appear with the governor of the state at a rally before 10,000 persons. "Why, I can't turn down the governor of the state," Mrs. Temple objected. "Why not?" asked the studio friend, "Shirley Temple's mother is a bigger person than the governor of California."

The politicians out here think Shirley could swing a lot of votes if she could be landed as a campaign attraction. But Mrs. George Temple has taken her studio friend's advice. Shirley won't enter politics until she is old enough to spell the word at least.

Rachel Crothers is declared to draw $6,000 a week in her new contract as a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer scenarist. . . . Wallace Beery received an odd-looking letter from Rome yesterday. Translated, it proved to be a notice that he had been awarded a gold medal which will arrive shortly as "the best motion picture actor in the world" on the strength of his "Viva Villa." The gold medal was awarded by the Second International Film exposition at Venice.

Dizzy and Daffy Dean, brothers, who pitched St. Louis to its world series baseball victory over Detroit, may come to Hollywood to have a movie story written about their exploits and their conversation. Three major studios are seeing what kind of stories can be cooked up for the brothers, who already are announced as represented here by motion picture business agents. If Dizzy and Daffy make personal appearances they want $7,500 a week.

Metro studio is beginning a series of short reelers called "Musical Classics" about songs of permanent popularity. "My Old Kentucky Home," based on incidents in the life of Stephen C. Foster, is the first.

When Mady Christians, German actress, was cast as a slatternly, tragic swamp woman of the American backward belt in her first film here she was taken to the kitchen at M. G. M. studio and given lessons on how to cook hash. She has to cook it before the camera.

The cowboys who are to play with George O'Brien, American western star, in "The Cowboy Millionaire," a wild west thriller to be produced in London studios, will be recruited from ranks of British actors and ex-cavalrymen abroad. Sol Lesser, producer, is the man with the money invested in this unusual idea.

MOVIE CLOSEUP

Maywood's observance of Fire Prevention week, Oct. 7 to 13, will reach a climax Saturday, when the Lions club cup will be presented to the school which, in the opinion of the committee, makes the best showing at fire drill. Pupils of the winning school will receive tickets to the regular Saturday matinée show at the Lido theater where the presentation of the cup will be made.

M. E. Groups Pledge Selves to Seek Unity

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Leaders of American Methodism, counseled to forget dead issues and past bitterness, today pledged their "prayer and pleading" for the movement for unity of the three major branches of their church.

The action came during the second day of the Methodist sesquicentennial celebration. Bishops of the North and South branches of the church and members of the governing board of the Protestant Methodist branch, went to the stage and, amid prolonged applause, pledged themselves to work for unity.

Speakers on the "unification day" program included Bishop John Moore, Dallas, Tex., and Bishop Frederick Leete, Indianapolis.

ASKS QUAKER STATUS

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 11.—(AP)—With the missionary deficit forced for the moment into the background, American Episcopalians today turned their attention to world peace, marriage and divorce, motion picture censorship, and the case of former Bishop William Montgomery Brown.

Resolutions outlawing war and urging that conscientious objectors of every faith be given the status of Quakers in time of war were presented to the house of deputies on the second day of the church's 51st triennial convention.

The house of bishops meanwhile received a ruling from its committee on canons which defined as "final" the expulsion of Brown, then bishop of Arkansas, from the hierarchy after his heresy trial in 1925.

The house of deputies sent to the social welfare committee a resolution offered by the Rev. Howard Chandler Robbins of New York, which urges the church to petition congress for legislation "to secure the status unofficially accorded the Society of Friends for all Christian men who, though prepared to risk their lives in noncombatant service, are prevented by their conscience from serving in the combatant forces of the United States."

The Rev. J. Clarence Jones of Brooklyn offered a resolution urging that all questions of divorce be left to the civil rather than the church officials. With this he presented a companion measure providing that the church legality of a marriage be adjudicated by the local rector rather than the special diocesan court.

A resolution which specifically disclaimed the thought of "censorship" was introduced by the Rev. George Floyd Rogers of Asheville, N. C. It asks President Roosevelt and congress to establish a federal commission to "supervise" motion pictures before they are made "in the interest of world peace and moral standards."

Museum to Have Lecture on "Volcanoes of Hawaii"

Ray Jerome Baker, Pacific traveler, will give an illustrated lecture on "Volcanoes of Hawaii" in the James Simpson theater of the Field Museum of Natural History tomorrow at 3 p. m. Mr. Baker, a native of Illinois, has spent 25 years among the islands of the Pacific making scientific studies and films. In his lecture he will outline the history and geography of Hawaii, its people, flora, resources, and the geological structure of the islands. Included in the illustrations will be motion pictures of Kilauea volcano. The lecture is free to the public.

Show Paintings of D. P. Tyson; Work Praised

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A charming exhibit of paintings by D. P. Tyson has been opened in the Ackermann galleries, Fine Arts building. Mr. Tyson is an American artist who lives in the east and his work is steeped in the tradition of the Japanese print. The simile flashes through one's mind at once on first seeing his paintings and then is gone, vanished before an approach which is typically occidental.

The paintings are of figures and street scenes in Japan. Of them all the finest is "At Bay," a spotted leopard high in a tree snarling defiance at a group of hunters armed with spears. In color and composition this painting is irresistible. Following a close second are the two junk-carts, simple, direct in color, and vividly in motion.

A second exhibition of value is that found in the Auditorium theater, where the South Side Art association is sponsoring a showing of paintings by members through the run of the San Carlo Opera company. The foyer and box mezzanine of the Auditorium are aflame with paintings.

Florence Ezzell Stevenson shows a decorative study with flowers and near it hangs Florence White Williams' "Old World," a street incident from Spain. Helen Janazak has a gay subject in "Dance Rhythm," a line of ballet girls with graceful tulle skirts of gold. William Eppens offers two stunning landscapes.

Laura Van Pappelendam takes us to Mexico in "Contrast," a countryside of dull green hills rolling beyond the fortifications of a town built of sturdy rocks. Josephine L. Reichmann is represented by an arrangement of flowers, "Gladioli," decorative and sensitively painted, and "Little Town," a summer day in Gloucester. Increase Robinson offers "Winter Scene," a bit stiff and dry. Macena Barton has deserted her favorite halo outline in "Blonde Combing Her Hair" and gives us one of the most accurate and effective canvases in the exhibit.

THE STAGE

Veloz and Yolanda, whose popularity as a dance team on cabaret programs recalls the wartime vogue of Vernon and Irene Castle, will begin a second engagement on the vaudeville program at the Palace theater today. They will remain in Chicago for one week and then proceed to Hollywood to fulfill a motion picture contract.

"King Lear" will be added to the repertory of the Old Globe theater, at the Fair, within a few days. A short version of the tragedy, with Carl Benton Reid in the title rôle, is now in rehearsal.

Johann Strauss' operetta, "Die Fledermaus" ["The Bat"], will be presented for one performance in the Civic Opera house Monday night, Nov. 4, under the direction of William L. Klein. The principals will be well known opera singers of the German-American stage. The proceeds will be donated to German-American charities in Chicago. C. C.

Girls Should Be Informal in Boys' Company

BY DORIS BLAKE.

How often I hear the story of the girl who gets on beautifully with girls but can't seem to make the grade with men!

What is wrong with girls of this type?

My belief is that they undergo a complete change of character the minute a young man arrives on the scene. The reason I do not know precisely, but often it is the result of a childhood and girlhood in which boys figured little or not at all. A girl who has been brought up with boys in her family, or who has been part of the neighborhood gang of youngsters of mixed company, never gets the tongue-tied, self-conscious reaction at the appearance of a male. They do not change character at all. Their attitude toward boys is as informal and cheerful and normal as when they are with girls. They don't struggle to make a hit. It's all in the day's meetings.

If these other girls, with their great differentiations in approach toward boys and girls, only could realize they do not have to be different creatures to each sex, they'd take a good step forward. If they'd keep on being the same, likeable, unself-conscious young women they are in the company of girls, that's all most of them would need. But they must have a lot of foolish pictures about men stowed away in their minds or they wouldn't have the difficulties they experience.

Get it straight, girls, that the likeable Mae Smith you are to the girls is a good enough rôle to act with any new boy you meet. You don't have to put on any extra act just because he happens to be a male.

"I thought I had a CRY-BABY —until the doctor found I had been laundering with Cheap Soap Chips"

MARSHALL FIELD APARTMENTS, 403 BLACKHAWK ST.

"At six months, Perry was crying so much I was apologizing to my neighbors for his disposition. Poor dear! The doctor said I was to blame—for I had been laundering his diapers with cheap soap chips. The harsh suds hadn't rinsed out, but had clung to the fabrics and raised an irritating rash on his delicate skin. The day I switched to American Family Flakes, his rash began to leave—along with my washing and mending problems."

HE CRIES ALL DAY LONG, DOCTOR. WHAT IS THE MATTER?
NO WONDER! HIS SKIN IS IRRITATED BY THE CHEAP SOAP CHIPS YOU LAUNDER WITH.
CHEAP SOAP CHIPS
WHY — YOUR BABY IS ACTING LIKE A PERFECT ANGEL!
HIS RASH AND MY MENDING TROUBLES STOPPED WHEN I SWITCHED BACK TO THE PURE SUDS OF AMERICAN FAMILY.

The Proper Way to Launder Baby Things

Frilly little bonnets . . . lacey dresses . . . cunning knitted sweaters . . . treasure them the rest of your life! There's no reason why you can't.

For—it's not hard service, but hard laundering that causes wear and tear. If you use cheap soap chips, you must guard against chemicals that slowly ruin fabrics and colors—you must work with weak suds that make you rub extra hard. How can dainty things survive, under such treatment? How can woolens keep size and shape, with fibres matted by hard rubbing?

You never have that grief with American Family Flakes. It gives such creamy, pure double-suds, that here's all you need to do: Give baby's things a brief soak in lukewarm suds—gently press suds through each garment—then rinse and dry.

Millions of mothers can show you baby things washed this way that look like new after ten to twenty years. Other mothers use the same clothes for new little brothers and sisters as they come along. Mrs. Cecile M. Roach of 6019 North Claremont St., Chicago, says, "American Family Flakes protected Helen's clothes so well that little Jane is wearing them now. They still look as fresh and bright as the day I bought them."

No matter what brand of soap flakes you use now—no matter how little or how much it costs—no matter how many shades whiter it is supposed to wash your clothes—match it against American Family Flakes. Compare both for washing results. Compare them for speed. Compare them for gentleness on your finest fabrics. Compare them for economy. You will be amazed to see how much further American Family Flakes go—cup for cup—penny for penny.

It's American Family Flakes' double-suds that make the difference. Suds created specially for your laundering problems in this hard water. See your grocer—save at today's low prices.

BLAZING GUNS

By WILLIAM MacLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Mary Landis marries Cole Sanborn, fearless young outlaw and suspected train robber, within an hour after meeting him. Their marriage is one in name only, to fight against their common enemy, Chet Radbourne, powerful boss in the country and owner of Circle 3 T ranch. He has been trying to force Mary to marry him and stealing her cattle from her Lazy B ranch. Mary is captured and taken to Circle 3 T. After a run in with Chet's foreman, Jerry Haskell, Slim Calhoun, a good looking young outlaw, leaves Circle 3 T and joins Cole with a note from Mary. By a trick, Cole captures Chet's men without bloodshed and makes Chet the laughing stock of the country by returning them to him. Cole forces Chet to surrender Mary and puts her under the protection of the Peters family in Jonesboro. Chet captures Rusty Hunter, one of Cole's trusted men, and a young boy named Morse. After giving Art Simmons a note to take to Mary in case anything happen to him, Cole captures Chet and forces him to make his men surrender Rusty. Then Cole and his men and Radbourne, their prisoner, wait the return of Jerry Haskell with Morse. They defend the house against Haskell until Haskell fires it and forces them to make a rush for the horse corral.

INSTALMENT XLI.

A TIGHT PLACE.

Pushed by willing hands back of it, the hay wagon reached the crest before the defenders were ready to evacuate. The Circle 3 T men were careful not to expose themselves, but Cole stood at the window and fired several times toward the wagon. He knew that those maneuvering the wagon into position would scatter back to safety as soon as it started down the slope. At that precise moment Cole intended that his party should decamp.

The hay flamed up and the wagon gathered momentum. Those back of it scattered like a covey of young quails. Out of the kitchen door the Sanborn group moved. Rusty and Slim went first. Those bearing the wounded man followed. Duncan McCoy and Radbourne came out last.

They had to move slowly, and they were careful not to let themselves get bunched. Slim had dropped back to guard the rear. Cole and Pete had almost reached the roothouse with their burden before those in the live oaks discovered what was taking place.

A bullet sank into a log of the roothouse wall. The crash of guns filled the night. Someone in the escaping party gave a groan. Rusty led the way into the last open stretch, the two with the wounded man at his heels. Momentarily the moon was under a cloud, so that the fire directed at them was loosely aimed.

"Another t-twenty yards," Daggett said, between his teeth. "We're gonna m-make it."

They reached the corral gate and passed inside. Slim dragged it shut and made fast the heavy bolts.

Radbourne slumped down to the ground and groaned.

From his post Slim made a comment and asked a question. "That trip was a hundred miles to me. Anybody hurt?"

"I got plugged in the foot," Rusty mentioned.

"I'm shot," Radbourne said. "In the leg. We've got to stop this wickedness and get me a doctor."

"Fine," Slim said derisively. "Only you better tell that to Haskell. This is his battle, not ours."

"I'll bleed to death," the owner of the ranch wailed. "I'll let all you boys go if you will quit now. We can't go on with this. I want a doctor."

"So do Dave and Rusty, you yellow coyote," McCoy retorted. But you don't hear them yelping. Get those pants off and let me have a look at yore wound."

Daggett brought hay from the feed rack and scattered it on the ground close to the fence. Upon this they put the mattress where Dave Pope lay.

"We gave you a jolty trip, old hoss," Daggett said. "D-did we s-start yore wound to bleeding again?"

Dave grinned at him, cheerfully but feebly. "I'm all right."

Already Cole was pulling the boot from the wounded foot of Hunter. Sweat beads stood out on the forehead of the old timer, but no sound came from his clenched lips. Cole washed and bound the wound, with the help of Daggett. This finished, they looked after Radbourne's leg.

McCoy and Caldwell kept guard at the stockade. The posts had been buried in the ground, set very close and woven together with rawhide thongs. The fence had been modeled from the primitive ones of the early days in the Texas brush country and had been built very strongly to withstand the plunges of wild horses. Against the solid timbers bullets thudded, for the attackers kept up a sporadic bombardment.

The porch of the house was crackling and long flames shooting skyward, for the hay wagon had rolled straight to its destination. The Circle 3 T men were making no effort to put out the fire they had started, since they dared not expose themselves in the bright light to the marksmanship of those within the stockade.

Cole finished with Radbourne and turned to Daggett.

"Skin this coat off kinda gently, Pete," he said.

"You been hurt?" Daggett asked.

"When were you hit?"

"While I was out scouting. Nothing to make a fuss about. But since we are running a hospital I'll ask for a little service myself."

It was a flesh wound, not dangerous unless infection set in. Pete washed the blood away and tied up the hurt as best he could.

. . . .

Into Pete Casey's Haven of Rest walked a little brown man in chaps whose bristly face had not seen a razor in a week. Within three minutes Art Simmons was the center of a group which hung on every word he said. For the nestor was telling a story of amazing interest. Rusty Hunter and young Morse had been captured by Jerry Haskell, and with four men at his side Cole Sanborn was marching on the bailiwick of the enemy to rescue his friends. That he could succeed in doing so seemed scarcely a possibility.

"I knew Chet would get him in the end," Lutz exclaimed. "Sanborn never had a chance with that wily old bird."

A man sat at a table on the edge of the group. He was playing solitaire. Before he spoke he moved a queen.

"Has Chet got him yet?" he asked, evenly, scepticism in his voice, eyes still on the cards.

The man who asked the question was Grey Shirt, by name Jim Faust.

"I'll bet he has," Lutz replied. "Did you ever know anything so crazy as for Sanborn to walk right in to where Chet is waiting for him?"

"He rode in there twice before, I seem to recollect," Gray Shirt mentioned. "And the only luck Chet had either time was that Cole didn't bump him off like he ought to have done."

"He missed his chance," some one said. "I reckon Cole was afraid to start something he couldn't finish."

Gray Shirt found he could get the jack of spades on the heart queen by careful manipulation. "I was there both times. If he was afraid he certainly fooled me. He could have wiped out the whole outfit, including Haskell and Radbourne. No, sir, he wasn't scared. Not none. He was putting it up to Chet that if trouble came he wasn't going to be to blame for it. I had a little run in with him, and I made up my mind about that young fellow. He's a white man, and he'll do to take along any time, any place."

"Do you know where Mrs. Sanborn is staying?" he asked.

"With Mrs. Peters. I'm going round there. Got a letter to deliver to her." Simmons had been told to deliver the note if anything happened. He considered that the condition was fulfilled.

"I'll trail along," Gray Shirt said.

They found Mary watering a box of geraniums on the porch.

Simmons explained who he was and gave her the note from her husband. Mary opened and read it. The color ebbed from her cheeks and lips.

"Is——is he——dead?" she gasped.

"No, ma'am. I don't reckon so."

"But he says I won't receive the note unless—unless——"

"He told me to give it to you if anything happened to him," Simmons said. "I would say if a fellow walked into a nest of wasps something would happen to him."

"Or to them," Gray Shirt added.

"Who are you?" Mary asked Faust. "A friend of his?" Her eyes dilated. "You're the man my husband helped to leave the Circle 3 T."

"Correct. And I owe him one for that. So I'm here." Swiftly he outlined the situation. "This is what we've got to do," he told her, after he had made clear the danger Cole was facing. "Get a posse up to the Circle 3 T soon as we can."

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Mrs. Roosevelt celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of her birth today at the White House. She received many telegrams, telephone calls, and gifts from friends. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt motored in from their country home, "Widworth," near Leesburg, Va., and Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall returned from a visit out of town to dine with the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. The two children of Mrs. Dall dined with their grandparents in honor of the day.

The Italian ambassador, Augusto Rosso, went to New York today to attend the Columbus day celebration tomorrow.

Mrs. Robert P. Lamont, wife of the former secretary of commerce, has returned from her summer visits and is established at "Bonnie Brier," the pretty little suburban home she purchased a few weeks ago.

French Lines for School Wear

GIRL'S DRESS.

Today's little French dress is as simple as a small child's dress should be. Navy blue woolen, with a white starched linen collar, bright red, shiny bone buttons, and matching, red silk crêpe tie, is suggested. A child can slip into this dress without any aid, for it buttons from neck to hem. A plaided cotton, in red and white, with navy tie and buttons, also is pretty. It opens out flat, which advantage is a great help in ironing.

The pattern, No. 3385, comes in sizes 4, 6, 8, and 10 years.

Reports Vary on Shades of Nail Polish

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Fifty million tinted nails cannot be wrong, one gathers from the protest at a recent suggestion made here that the deep dyed nail had seen its day. The news item I gave was that returning visitors to the places where styles are supposed to be set reported the toning down of fingernail enamelings.

"We are closely in touch with fashion trends in Hollywood, and through our Paris office with the newest fashions over there," protests an advertising manager. "The late summer reports from Bar Harbor, Southampton, and Newport indicated no such change. We are naturally in touch with the smart spots all over our own country and, to date, our research, observation, and conclusions are that vividly tinted nails are still on the 'up.' Firms manufacturing nail tints are getting more and more calls for deep shades and still deeper shades. The last few years advertising has been along the line of 'vary your nail tint with your gown,' a suggestion widely adopted."

Anyway, it's only fair enough to present this other side of the news, so to speak.

I can say, without fear of contradiction, however, that cream polishes are taking on a popularity unexpected in the beginning. Women whose fingers are given to raggedy nail edges find them a boon. But it is interesting to note the development in this line of cosmetic manufacture. Polishes today, as compared with their initial days, are about as much alike as a nineties' style of hairdress and today's. There is no reason to suspect that nail tints of good, reliable manufacturers, as put out today, can have any deleterious effect on nails. The charge used to be heard that polishes made the nails brittle, etc. That charge would not stand up under today's expert products. All of this advance, naturally, indicates demand. Which, in turn, indicates that neglected looking nails and hands today speak an unpardonable lassitude on the part of a woman.

Play for Children Topic at Child Study Conference

The importance of properly directing a family's leisure time and methods for bringing parents and children together in recreational activities were discussed yesterday at the child study conference being conducted by the Chicago Association for Child Study and Parent Education at the Carson Pirie Scott & Co. loop store.

When I think of the days I lost:
MIDOL
"I have always ridden horseback, rain or shine, except for certain days that demanded quiet. Now, I can ride without regard for those difficult days because there is no longer any difficulty or discomfort connected with them. My single regret is the time I lost in getting acquainted with Midol."
Do you ride—or do equally strenuous things—or wish you could at times when even being on your feet means pain or discomfort? Midol might end this handicap for you—might lead you to give it every bit as strong an endorsement as this. So why not try it? Midol acts immediately, and is effective several hours.
Don't be afraid of the speed with which Midol takes hold; it is not a narcotic. Midol is as harmless as the aspirin you take for an ordinary headache. All drug-stores have these tablets; just ask for Midol—today, so you'll be prepared.

Child's Hobby Seldom a Real Waste of Time

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"You must go to bed, son," said his father. "You can finish pasting those in tomorrow—it's getting late."

"I wish Richard weren't so absorbed in that stamp collecting. He spends hours and hours on it—and it isn't going to get him anywhere. He'll lose interest in it some day—it seems such a waste of time. I wish he had some useful hobby."

Have you ever thought the same thing? Many parents do so, in varying degrees. Some have little patience with the special interests of their children and flatly say so. They are unwilling to have the "mess" they involve or to allow the money they represent. They frankly tell their children they might better be studying or practicing or help with the housework. Others, like the father quoted at the beginning of today's article, are kindly and indulgent about their children's hobbies but have misgivings from the utilitarian angle.

Most children who have a home or school life which gives them any richness of opportunity develop a special interest or enthusiasm. From time to time this interest will change. Just as children go through phases of behavior, so they pass through enthusiasms at different ages. Sometimes, however, a special interest will also prove to be a child's special talent. Sometimes this special interest will become his work or profession.

The thing for us to do is rather to recognize that if a special interest gives a worth while occupation for leisure and an outlet for zest, it has served its purpose. The pursuit of stamp collecting, drawing or painting, building radios, taking and developing photographs, raising rabbits or white mice, or writing and getting up plays, represent gains that have a distinct value to your child.

Bunching them, these gains make a long list. Among them we find self-activity, deftness, general information, concentration, responsibility, creative expression, appreciation of the art of others, and a sense of pleasure in the doing. A hobby need not "get a child anywhere"—it can be considered an end in itself.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

MAXIMUM RESULT ON A TWO-NO-TRUMP BID.

Yesterday I told you something about Miss Nellie Robnett of St. Louis, Mo., and her fine conception of the ethics and responsibility of the profession of teaching bridge. While she was here we all went over to a duplicate tournament in Montclair, N. J. Miss Robnett played with Sir Derrick Wernher and held the North hand.

East dealt and after three passes Miss Robnett bid two no trumps, which her partner raised to three.

NORTH	EAST
♠ A 2	♠ J 8 5
♥ A J 8	♥ 9 6 2
♦ K 8	♦ A Q J
♣ A K Q 7 6 5	♣ J 9 8 2
WEST	SOUTH
♠ Q 9 7 6 3	♠ K 10 4
♥ Q 5 3	♥ K 10 7 4
♦ 7 6 5 2	♦ 10 9 4 3
♣ 3	♣ 10 4

East led the deuce of clubs; the ten held; Miss Robnett immediately finessed the heart toward the hand from which a diamond lead would be harmless, and thus made six no trumps. It was not a clear top because two other pairs bid the hand in the same manner and obtained the same result. The other two North players were Mrs. Sims and Mrs. Courtland Smith, crack tournament player of the Sims system who runs these delightful duplicate games at the Hotel Montclair. The other ten Norths opened with a club—some probably with two clubs—and thus South became declarer at three no trumps. West's best lead is a diamond, to avoid placing either of his queens in danger. On this opening only three no trumps were made, the defense taking three diamonds and a club. Even with a spade opening, declarer must lose a diamond and a club. Miss Robnett said that before coming to Deal she would never have considered bidding anything but a club with the North hand; the system she had been teaching would make the suit bid obligatory. According to our ideas, North's holdings call imperatively for a no-trump declaration. There are tenaces or holdings requiring to be led up to in both red suits. The play of the hand is in the long club suit. It is important that North should be declarer so that his powerful unusual holdings shall be led up to on the first trick and shall not be exposed as dummy for the rest of the play. Dummy's weakest holding is almost sure to be in clubs, so that if this suit is not bid West's natural switch is likely to be to clubs instead of diamonds if that player should be on lead in the earlier stages of play.

A Lucky Hand.

NORTH	EAST
♠ K 10 9	♠ A x x
♥ K x	♥ x x x
♦ Q x x	♦ J x
♣ J 10 9 8 2	♣ x x x x x
WEST	SOUTH
♠ Q J x x x	♠ x x
♥ Q 10 x x	♥ A J x x
♦ K x x	♦ A 10 x x x
♣ K	♣ A Q

South bid a diamond; North, one no trump; two hearts, two no trumps, three no trumps. West opened his fourth best club, and declarer with only one sure entry to his hand, the king of hearts, had to refuse the finesse and unblock the suit, hoping to get the king played before West could get in twice to lead spades. When the ace dropped the king he led the queen of clubs, then a small diamond to his queen. West took it with his king and led a spade, but by now the declarer had made his essential plays and could not be beaten. The very awkwardness of the hand forced declarer to play it right; had dummy possessed a third club, the hand would have been played more naturally and thereby defeated. Yet it was not entirely luck that helped this partnership. By refraining from bidding clubs they obtained the lead that saved them. Had North at any time bid his clubs, East would not lead them, fearing to kill an honor in his partner's hand. A likely lead would be the middle spade; this would then be the only unbid suit. The hand would then be wrecked beyond repair. North's holdings were such that he knew the opening lead should come up to his hand if no trumps was to be the eventual destiny.

Sea Pink.

BY NANCY CABOT.

A quilt made of "Sea Pink" blocks is as lovely and delicate as its name The flower from which the quilt was patterned grows in England as well as in the United States. Our first knowledge of the block comes from a northwestern school teacher, who credits this country with the first quilt. Purple, pink, and crimson are suitable colors in which to applique the block.

A TRUE STORY
By A MOTHER
who says she was "quite skeptical" when her doctor told her what to do
PEOPLE seem to have to go through a lot of suffering before they learn the simple secrets of good health. Here's a letter from Mrs. S. N. Tintinger, of Cascade, Montana, that tells its own story.
"After the birth of my daughter, who is now nine, I suffered terribly from constipation, and tried all sorts of remedies, but got little relief. Two years later, after my boy was born, my lower intestine seemed to become partially paralyzed; my digestive system became upset; my stomach refused to function properly; my head ached continuously; and finally my whole system became infected, and a nervous breakdown followed.
"I tried almost every brand of cathartic and laxative, with practically no results. Believe me, I was very skeptical when my physician prescribed Nujol. However, I took it faithfully, and although it was several weeks before I became regular and normal, my physician and I were both very much pleased with my recovery.
"Well, I have been an almost constant user of Nujol ever since, and that, as you see, is about seven years ago. Whenever I try anything else I find it doesn't work as well, and I always go back to Nujol. With all due fairness to many other well-known remedies, I can sincerely say that although they may be excellent, none of them has given me the relief, and helped to overcome my intestinal paralysis, like Nujol. Although other remedies may sell for less, I think it is much cheaper to use Nujol. Of course I give Nujol to the children, too.
"We keep Nujol in the house all the time. I owe my present good health to it. I can depend on it for good results, and I know Nujol is as safe for the children as it is for me."
Nothing we could add to Mrs. Tintinger's letter would make it any more convincing. Follow her example. See what Nujol will do for you—bring your children up on it to be regular as clockwork. You can get it at any drug store.
Nujol now comes in two forms, plain Nujol and Cream of Nujol, the latter flavored and often preferred by children.
What is your Nujol story? If you have been using Nujol for ten years or more, if you are bringing up your children on it, tell us. Address Stanco Incorporated, 2 Park Ave., New York City.

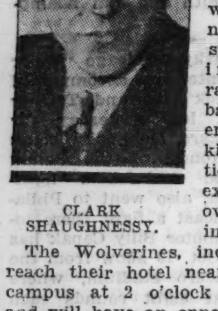
ILLINOIS TO BATTLE OHIO IN PASSING DUEL

BOYS AND GALS GO COLLEGIATE ON THE MIDWAY

Chicago Sees Chance to Beat Michigan.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The University of Chicago has tossed aside the horned rim spectacles and has gone undergrad, so great has become the hope of defeating the University of Michigan football team on Stagg field tomorrow afternoon. Today and tonight there will be all manner of rallies, sings, lusty cheerings, concerted rahs, effigy enbalming, and general merry heel kickings in anticipation of the expected victory over the Wolverines.



CLARK SHAUGHNESSY.

The Wolverines, incidentally, will reach their hotel near the U. of C. campus at 2 o'clock this afternoon and will have an opportunity to hear all the giddy outbursts, the like of which have not resounded on the Midway for lo these many seasons.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy devoted yesterday's practice to work on defense, following up the drill of Wednesday, which was the first in which more stress was placed on defense than offense. Mr. Shaughnessy personally scouted the Wolverines in their shocking 16 to 0 defeat at the hands of Michigan State last Saturday. He says he anticipates a much different Michigan team, both as to personnel and technique, but that he gained enough from his Ann Arbor peepings to give his lads a right definite notion of what they must do to halt Michigan dashes and tosses.

Maroons to Be Outweighed.

The Maroon line, though not composed of pygmies by any means, will be outweighed about fifteen pounds per man and there will be some green men in key spots. If it were not for these problematical elements in the line play the hollering planned for today and tonight probably would be even louder and longer than now contemplated. The Maroons are not inclined to give the Michigans a thing in back field comparisons, what with Jay Berwanger running even better than he did last year, passing as well, and still trying to improve his kicking; with Warren Skoning, 185 pound sophomore from Elgin, preparing to show he's a star worthy of teaming with the able Berwanger; with Tommy Flinn at quarter back, a position he has won through the sheer force of a fiery personality, and with Ewald Nyquist ready to perform his chores at full back with even more zest than he showed last year.

A lot of talk is to be heard among the Midway sages about a couple of young gents who are not listed in the tentative starting lineup. Ned Bartlett, a speedster from Glendale, Cal., has been showing a lot of flash in his half back workouts, and Ralph Balfanz, an end from Abilene, Tex., is a fine pass catcher, hampered in other phases, they say, only by the fact that he has much to learn about blocking.

Cut Down on Plays.

It is said that many plays have been evolved to deceive and fluster the Wolverines, though the formation book this year is not as plump as it was last year. Last season the Maroons had 100 plays, so many that there were times when each of the eleven men was proceeding under a different one of the vast number of strategems on one offensive maneuver. This condition, of course, led to diverse running hither and thither with every man more or less on his own, confident that he had picked the desired play out of the 100 available.

A crowd of 24,000 has been indicated by the advance sale.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

YES, A UNIVERSITY.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Say, Arch, our dope was all wrong. I mean about the University of Pittsburgh which has such good football teams. You remember we were told it was just a football college with a stadium costing $2,225,000 having a seating capacity of 63,000, or 75,000 with temporary seats. Those fellows whose elevens were being beaten regularly by Pitt Panthers told us it wasn't an educational institution at all, that there were no classrooms and that all players worked in the steel mills except during the two and one-half months they played football.

That's not correct. I've been all over the campus on the hillside and I've seen the new cathedral of learning costing $11,000,000 and the Institute of Industrial Learning, a new building costing $6,000,000, and a whole lot of other buildings. I saw young fellows with books under their arms and a bunch of co-eds in shorts playing volleyball, and these hills certainly do something in the way of curves for that portion of nether limb not covered by shorts.

To be technical, there are departments of liberal arts, mines, education, business administration, medicine, law, pharmacy, dentistry, graduate school, research bureau of retail training, and Mellon institute, and maybe some more, but I broke my pencil point writing them down and had hard work catching up with the recital.

Then, again, I thought the entire 60 students were out for football. Instead of that, enrollment is about 13,000, of whom approximately one-third are co-eds, with about 3,500 men eligible for athletic teams. Nearly 85 per cent of the students commute to their classes, so the University of Pittsburgh pretty accurately represents a cross-section of this industrial community.

Pitt, as it is generally known, is one of four colleges in Pennsylvania receiving state appropriations. The others are Penn State, University of Pennsylvania, and Temple, in Philadelphia, where Pop Warner now is coaching. Penn State, for some reason, fares the best financially, and there is no tuition fee there, but Pitt has about $750,000 annually for operating expenses—nothing for new buildings—and imposes a $300 tuition fee.

Another thing, Arch, instead of being just a football college, this place was founded in 1787. Think of that! It was first Pittsburgh academy, then University of Western Pennsylvania until about 1913. Incidentally, its greatest growth has been since the world war, which just about coincides with my recollection of its football prestige.

But the football players don't work in the steel mills at all, unless in summer to get hardened. And they attend classes just like other students and they are gentlemen and scholars. I know that because Don Harrison, director of athletics, told me so. Don ought to know, for he was graduated from the University of Iowa back in 1916, taught English classes at Iowa City, then at Iowa State, then turned square for a time as a newspaper writer in Des Moines; then came here as an English instructor, became dean of men, and then again turned square and became athletic director.

Well, Don says, with great pride, the scholastic averages of all athletes here is 1.5. I don't know what that means, except that the minimum grade for graduation is 3-4 of 1, so athletes must be pretty smart. Anyway, 20 of them, including Capt. Hartwig of the eleven, are on the honor roll. I've never visited any college which didn't admit its scholastic standing was high and that its athletes were good students, even if they were earning their way through college.

But Don is a former newspaper man, so I believe him, and, anyway, Frank Carver of the public relations staf offered to show me records when I looked sort of funny. This was embarrassing because I wasn't looking funny with doubt over the statement, but because the college had been founded in 1787 and I had always thought it was just another football college.

Of course, they're pretty well worked up here over the Southern California game Saturday. Advance seat sale is 53,000. It would have been a sellout only the Trojans got bumped last Saturday by Washington State. After that the sale dropped off, but the Minnesota demand for the following week jumped correspondingly. Another thing, seats for Southern California range from $2.20 to $4.95, while the Gophers command $1.10 to $2.75, and the latter now looks like a tougher game, but one never can tell.

So far as Pitt is concerned, Coach Jock Southerland and his players would like mighty well to take the Trojans. You remember the Panthers played twice against the Trojans in Rose Bowl games. Rather, the Trojans played while the Panthers were on a sightseeing tour, and they saw plenty—47 to 14 against them in 1930, and 35 to 0 in 1933.

But I'll tell you more about football tomorrow. Right now I can't get over the fact this place was founded in 1787, and those co-eds playing volley ball in shorts. Hoping you are the same. Regards,

HARVEY T. WOODRUFF.

PRO STARS HEAD FIELD OF 200 IN LOUISVILLE OPEN

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Headed by the U. S. P. G. A. team of six selected to invade Australia this fall and winter, nearly two hundred golfers were here tonight to tee off tomorrow morning in the $5,000 open golf tournament at the Louisville Country club.

The P. G. A. team—composed of Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., Ky Laffon of Denver, Leo Diegel of Agua Caliente, Harry Cooper of Chicago, Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., and Denny Shute of Philadelphia—was the pre-tournament favorite to take away at least half the purse.

JUST COUNT OUT NOTRE DAME'S '33 LOSS TO PURDUE

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 11.—Those fans who are trying to name the winner of the Purdue-Notre Dame football game here Saturday afternoon must not place too great an emphasis on Purdue's 19 to 0 victory last fall. The method of Purdue's scoring is far more important than any other factor in evaluating the merits of the rival elevens.

Notre Dame gave away the first touchdown. Contrary to instructions, so it was reported later and never denied, Notre Dame attempted to forward pass in the first period inside its own 20 yard line. And adding indiscretion to indiscretion, the pass was thrown to the right side, a flat zone pass. The ball landed in the arms of Fritz Febel, Purdue guard, who dashed to the goal line. Almost before the spectators had settled in the stands, the Boilermakers were on their way to victory.

Score Twice on Passes.

Purdue's other touchdowns also were the product of forward passes, but they were thrown by Purdue. Paul Pardonner caught one from Duane Purvis, who later helped himself to a splendid catch and scored. In both cases Notre Dame men covered but failed to intercept or knock down the throws. The point is that the passes did not escape notice.

The point to this discussion is that Notre Dame was not 19 points worse than Purdue. In ground gained, kicking, blocking and tackling there seemed to be no great difference. In alertness, intelligent quarter backing, and possibly in spirit, Purdue was by far the better eleven.

It remains to be seen if the holdovers of last year's quartet of Purdue backs, Jim Carter and Purvis, can carry this year's burden. Will Dan Toriello, who understudied Pardonner for two years, seize upon Notre Dame's defensive weaknesses? And will Purdue's line, composed in part of inexperienced players, turn back the thrusts of Don Elser, Andy Pilney, and George Melinkovich?

Purvis Best Passer.

Comparisons are uncertain. In fact the more one studies the individuals, their experience and abilities, the more it seems that this game will be decided by the breaks in luck.

Purvis is the best forward passer on either team. Elser has the greatest straight away plunging power. Pilney, Mike Layden, and Bill Shakespeare just about match the elusive Carter in speed and running. Shakespeare can equal Purvis kicking.

Melinkovich, who should before the season is finished develop into a great blocking half back, is added strength to the right half back position over any man who played for Notre Dame in that position last season.

Which brings the problem to the quarter backs. Toriello was the field general who piloted a second string

WILDCATS REACH WEST COAST FOR STANFORD GAME

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—A grim Northwestern football team reached California today determined to make Stanford bear the brunt of the fury that has been accumulating since last week's defeat by Iowa.

This show of confidence over Saturday's conflict was received with many a raised eyebrow here, since Stanford is strongly favored. The Cardinals, too, feel that they have a debt to collect as a result of the 0 to 0 tie to which they were held by the Wildcats at Soldiers' field last fall.

Alumni Welcome Team.

The game is regarded as an opportunity for Pacific coast football to regain some of the prestige which was lost when Columbia beat Stanford in the Rose Bowl game a year ago. So confident is this football conscious community that Stanford will win that one sport writer referred to the Wildcats as the "guinea pigs on whom Stanford will experiment." These were fighting words to the Northwestern players.

The intense rivalry is confined to the football field, however, for the Wildcats were accorded a rousing reception as soon as they stepped from the ferry which brought them across the bay from Oakland. Northwestern alumni, newshawks and photographers combined to give the new arrivals a hearty welcome. The players were escorted to the city hall, where Mayor Anglo Rossi presented them with the keys to the city. At noon players and coaches were the guests of honor at a luncheon given by the Big Ten University club of San Francisco.

Wildcats Scrimmage with Dons.

Coach Dick Hanley then called a halt to the festivities and packed his athletes out to the University of San Francisco practice field for a two hour workout, which included a brisk scrimmage with the Dons who are coached by Spud Lewis, former back field coach at Northwestern. Dal Marvil, captain of the 1931 Wildcat team, is line coach. Since San Francisco employs the Warner system, which is used also by Stanford, the practice was regarded as highly beneficial.

The Wildcats will start a revised lineup against Stanford which will include five sophomores in addition to Swisher, who has been playing regularly at left half. Coach Hanley contemplates starting the following first year men:

Grayson May Be Out.

Reports are being circulated that Bobby Grayson, Stanford's brilliant full back, will not play Saturday. Grayson, who has been the leader of the Cardinal attack all season, is nursing a bruised hip and has not been in uniform all week. In the event that he does not play his position will be filled by Bones Hamilton, who has been playing at left half.

BEYNON LEADS SQUAD OF FIVE ILLINI TOSSERS

Each Eleven Claims Underdog Rating.

BY STEWART OWEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 11.—The Illinois football team was putting the finishing touches this afternoon to its preparations for the battle of the underdogs which it expects to wage in Memorial stadium on Saturday against Ohio State as the principal event of the Red Grange homecoming week-end, which opens tomorrow.

RED GRANGE.

The game, as viewed from this perspective, two days in advance, is unique in that both the Buckeyes and the Illini choose to regard themselves as the weaker eleven, with an uphill struggle for victory ahead of them. There is nothing unusual about one team in an impending gridiron contest cherishing the thought that it will have to fight to overcome great odds to win, and it is a state of mind which any coach would be overjoyed to find in his men along about this time in October, but it is extremely rare for both teams to work themselves into such a mental state.

Another 7 to 6 Game?

These circumstances seem to point to an unusually close battle, not unlikely to match the game which Illinois played against Ohio State at Columbus last year, when the Buckeyes won by a point after touchdown. If either team is especially desirous of claiming the title of underdog the evidence inclines toward an Illinois eleven which, despite its record of last year when its inability to score the bothersome point after touchdown in two important games kept it from sharing the Big Ten championship, has yet to prove itself this season. Ohio State, on the other hand, showed that it lacks none of its 1933 power in drubbing Indiana, 33 to 0, last week.

Illinois thus far has whipped Bradley, 40 to 6, and Washington of St. Louis, 12 to 7, the latter victory coming only in the last few minutes of the game, after the Illini had trailed by that pernicious point after touchdown for nearly three quarters.

Illinois Lineup Green.

Add to this fact that Illinois will enter the game with Gene Dykstra and Kenneth Nelson, a couple of inexperienced sophomores, at the ends; Elvin Sayre, a sophomore, at center and John Theodore, a sophomore, at full back, in place of the reliable Frink, Schustek, Bloom and Dave Cook, who held down those positions against the Buckeyes last year, and you can see some reason for the feeling here that Illinois will be the underdog against a veteran Buckeye team that will outweigh the Illini by 15 pounds.

Ohio State will start a team that averages 195 pounds against an Illinois team that will scale 180 only if all its regulars start.

Beynon in Hospital.

And don't overlook the fact that Jack Beynon, co-captain and quarter back and the spark plug of the intricate Illini passing attack, is spending this day in the hospital nursing a lame muscle in his shoulder, which may affect his pitching arm on Saturday. There isn't any bear story about this. Beynon will be ready to play against Ohio but just how long or how effectively is questionable. Coach Robert Zuppke wants to start him, if only for his steadying influence on the team,

HAWKEYE ELEVEN LEAVES HOME TO MEET NEBRASKA

Iowa to Practice Today at Omaha.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa's 34 man football squad entrained for Lincoln, Neb., tonight after the lightest week of pratcice of the season.

Regulars were excused from the final home drill before Saturday's game with the University of Nebraska, but Coach Ossie Solem gave second and third teams a long session on forward passing and pass defense. The squad will hold a final workout at Creighton university field, Omaha, tomorrow afternoon and continue the trip to Lincoln later in the day.

Hawkeyes Are Favored.

Although favored against the Cornhuskers, the memory of two 1 point defeats in the last two years prevented overconfidence. It was apparent that the Hawkeye team would be keyed to a higher pitch for the Nebraska game then they were last year, when the Cornhuskers' encounter came after the close of the Western conference season.

All of the Iowa regulars will be available. Solem indicated that the opening lineup would remain unchanged, with Walker and Page ends, Foster and Radloff tackles, Gallagher and Secl guards, Osmaloski center, Capt. Fisher quarter back, Dwight Hoover and Oze Simmons half backs, and Crayne full back.

List of Players.

Following is the squad list:

ENDS—Bernie Page, John England, Corney Walker, Frank Jakoubek, John Lindenmeyer, Don Simmons.

TACKLES—Jerry Foster, Fred Radloff, Lloyd Hoffman, Rudolph Leytze, James Kelley, Marvin McAllister.

GUARDS—Jack Gallagher, Bill Secl, Gail Lundberg, Marvin Kuhn, Frank O'Leary, Floyd McDowell.

CENTERS—Ted Osmaloski, Jack Shea, Harold Weber, Merrill Robb.

NEBRASKA LINE PICKED.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Still juggling his lineup in search for a combination which he hopes can stop Iowa here Saturday, Coach D. X. Bible today tried to coördinate the University of Nebraska football team into a smooth running machine.

The line is settled as follows: McDonald and Scherer, ends; Reese and Thompson, tackles; Heldt and Hubka, guards, and Meier, center.

No back field job is secure as yet. Williams and Bauer share the quarter back position; Douglas and Benson are competing at left half; Parsons and Cardwell at right half, and Skewes and Francis at full back.

BADGERS ARE SHIFTED.

Kenny Kundert, speedy little senior, was moved up to the first team as a reward for his work the last few days.

Mahnke, former end, continued to hold the center berth, but Bill Millar, regular tackle a year ago, has temporarily lost his job to Neilen, and Russ Callahan, highly touted sophomore end from Wausau, has been demoted to the second team.

HOOSIERS OFF FOR TEMPLE.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—After a light workout 28 Indiana players left tonight for Philadelphia, where the Hoosiers will engage in an intersectional game with Temple Saturday afternoon.

Keck probably will replace Davis in the backfield and share in the punting.

Men making the trip are Fox, Yoder, Walker, Davis, Veller, Burton, Eads, Roe, Wyatt, Mills, Sabik, Holmquist, and Obenchain, backs; Santonini, Johnson, Sichinger, Schilawski, Vercuski, Hecko, Dal Sasso, McDaniels, Nelson, Beeson, Kelso, Heim, Stevenson, and Capt. Spauer, linemen.

WALKER DENIES BABE HERMAN, LESLIE TRADE

President William Walker of the Chicago Cubs yesterday denied published reports that Sam Leslie, Brooklyn first baseman, would be with the Chicago club next year. According to reports, Leslie was to be traded for Babe Herman, Chicago right fielder.

"The Dodgers are seeking to trade Leslie, but we would not meet their terms," Walker said. "The price they asked us to pay for Leslie was too high."

ILLINOIS PLANS PASSING ATTACK FOR OHIO STATE

but it is doubtful whether he will be able to play the entire game.

Zuppke's tactics on both offense and defense in practice indicate that he is expecting a wide open battle in the air Saturday. Although the Illini running attack is slightly better than that of last season, it still is not powerful, and early season games have shown that the Illini will continue to use forward and lateral passes as their chief weapon against Ohio State. The back field is well filled with passers, at least five of the men who will see action being capable throwers.

Beynon Heads List.

Heading the list, of course, is Capt. Beynon, whose passes last year kept Illinois in the running. Both starting half backs, Swede Lindberg and Frank Froschauer, are supplementing Beynon's work with passes of their own this season, while Wilbur Henry, who will relieve Beynon, is almost on a par with his leader in passing ability. Bob Grieve, the pony back who supplants Lindberg, can throw the ball in the pinch and probably will.

Lindberg, Grieve, and Crain Portman can run and do run when some one clears a path for them, but the passing is the basis of the Illinois attack this year.

Ohio Has Four Passers.

With four passers in the Ohio State back field, Zuppke expects Coach Francis Schmidt to open up considerably against Illinois, even though Smith and Heekin are two of the best running backs in the conference. Schmidt has studied under Zuppke at summer coaching schools and is thoroughly familiar with the style of play that Zuppke employs, and the plays which Illini scouts brought back from the Ohio State-Indiana game showed the Zuppke influence when exemplified by Illinois' freshmen in scrimmage.

Ohio State's squad will not arrive here until the morning of the game, Coach Schmidt preferring to stop off at Danville tomorrow for a workout away from the scene of the battle and the excitement of homecoming.

It Is Grange's Homecoming.

This homecoming, the 24th at Illinois, is distinguished by the ceremonies in honor of Red Grange, who won his greatest fame just ten years ago in Illinois' memorial stadium against Michigan. Grange will be a guest at the pre-game rally tomorrow night on the drill field at which Coach Zuppke, and Branch Rickey, former manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, also will speak. On Saturday, Grange will be the guest of honor at a luncheon at the Urbana Lincoln hotel and with 30 or more of his old teammates, will watch the game from the Illini bench.

At the same time, Zuppke's first championship Illinois eleven, the team of 1914, will be holding its 20th reunion. Illinois' first all-American player, Ralph [Slooey] Chapman, captain of the 1914 team, and other members of that famous eleven, will attend the game in a group.

MRS. RIEGEL WINS FROM CHAMPION IN WESTERN OPEN

Portland, Ore., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Two down after the first nine holes, Mrs. Guy Riegel, Spokane, Wash., came through with a 19th hole victory to eliminate Mrs. June Beebe, Atwood, Chicago, defending champion, and enter the semi-finals of the women's western open golf tournament here today.

Mrs. Atwood was one up on Mrs. Riegel approaching the home green but was stymied and lost the lead. The long-driving Mrs. Riegel barely missed a hole in one on the 205 yard eighth when the ball rimmed the cup.

A hole in one was made by Mrs. J. A. Rhode, Clark county, Wash., on the 135 yard fourth, in her first flight match against Mrs. J. W. Taylor, Chicago.

In tomorrow's semi-finals Mrs. Riegel faces Mrs. Melvin Jones, Chicago, who routed Miss Jean Plageman, Portland, 5 and 4.

GLENNA VARE AND MRS. HURD WIN IN CUP TOURNEY

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, former national women's champion, and Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, defending champion, advanced to the semifinals of the annual Berthellyn golf cup competition today. Mrs. Collett defeated Mary Rogers, Jacksonville, 3 and 2, while Mrs. Hurd triumphed over Mrs. W. G. Hamilton Jr., 2 up.

The other semi-finalists are Bernice Wall, Oshkosh, Wis., and Edith Quier, Reading, Pa. Miss Wall eliminated Jean Bauer, Providence, R. I., 2 and 1, and Miss Quier won from Deborah Verry, Worchester, Mass., 1 up.

Cardinals' Defense Strong, But Can It Stop Bears?

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

The National Professional Football league season opens in Chicago Sunday when the champion Bears and the Cardinals, principals in an intercity rivalry that dates back to the founding of the league in 1920, will meet at Wrigley field.

No professional game has been played here this year. The game is the most important of the day in the league and the only one in the last 10 of the series in which the Cardinals have been given a chance of victory in advance predictions.

The Bears are undefeated in four league starts this season and have not been whipped since the New York Giants achieved a 3 to 0 triumph at the Polo grounds in October, 1933. The Cardinals have made three starts and won two of them, both from Cincinnati. Their one defeat came at the hands of Detroit, 6 to 0. Detroit is the old Portsmouth eleven, and is considered the Bears' chief rival for the championship.

Cardinals Defense Strong.

Many of the Cardinals were members of the All-Star eleven which surprised the Bears with a scoreless tie at Soldiers' field Aug. 31. The Cardinals' defense is regarded as one of the best in the league.

Only 11 first downs have been scored against the Cardinals in their three games. Five were made by Detroit, which piled up three in the first three minutes on the way to its touchdown. In this game the new men suffered a severe case of buck fever. They recovered sufficiently, however, to hold Detroit until the fourth attempt on the goal line after the Lions had had a first down on the one yard line. Thereafter, the Cardinals limited Clark, Lumpkin, Caddel, Presnell, and Christensen to two first downs, and piled up six of their own. A break on Detroit's goal line, when the Cardinal line blocked a Detroit punt but failed to recover, cost the Chicagoans the tying touchdown.

Feathers Aids Bears' Attack.

The importance of Sunday's game to league coaches is the test of the Bears' offense against this dogged Cardinal defense. The Bears have a more powerful attack than last year. Curly Lambeau, Green Bay coach, regards it as the best the league has ever seen. The power-house of Nagurski, Manders, Corbett, Sisk, Ronzani and Brumbaugh which carried the Bears to their second consecutive championship last year, has been augmented by the fleet, shifty open field running of Beattie Feathers, a star at Tennessee last year.

Feathers has given the Bears the yardage which they lost last year when heavy, hard charging backs broke through the line but lacked the elusiveness and speed to shake off the secondary. He has broken away for at least one long run in each of the Bears' four victories, topping off his evening at Pittsburgh Wednesday with an 82 yard dash from scrimmage for a touchdown. If this new running strength meets its equal in the opposing defense, the Bears always have the pass attack on which they depended largely for victory last year.

The Boston Store has opened a sport spot on its main floor on the Dearborn street side where tickets for major sports events may be purchased. Tickets are now on sale for the Bears-Cardinal game.

LOUGHLIN, NEW MANAGER OF THE HAWKS, ARRIVES

Clem Loughlin, new manager of the Chicago Blackhawks, champions of the National Hocky league, arrived in Chicago last night. Members of the squad, with the exception of Howie Morenz, will get in today. Morenz, recently obtained by the world champions from the Montreal Canadiens, is expected tomorrow morning.

Loughlin, who succeeds Thomas Gorman as manager of the Hawks, will take the team to Champaign, Ill., tomorrow night. They will hold their first practice session on the University of Illinois rink. The champions will be honored at a banquet to be given by the Urbana and Champaign Chamber of Commerce Oct. 18.

backfield 37 yards against Minnesota last fall and engineered a 7 to 7 tie. Bud Bonar, at present number one quarter back for the Irish, can point to his part in the inspirational rush of Notre Dame against Army for a 13 to 12 triumph to conclude last fall's disastrous campaign. Until events prove otherwise the question of superiority in this department cannot be decided.

Notre Dame has capable, experienced ends in Millner and Capt. Dominic Vairo. These men and their understudies rate several points higher than the Purdue wingmen. But Purdue has about the same marginal advantage at guard.

Tackles About Even.

The tackle positions, manned by recruits or at best 1933 substitutes, again check. Both teams suffer from lack of experienced men in these key defensive positions. The tackles may determine the result Saturday not so much by what they accomplish as by failure to accomplish. It was between tackle and guard that Bohn Hilliard of Texas found an opening for the touchdown which licked Notre Dame 7 to 6.

Undoubtedly this uncertainty is prime reason why some 40,000 are expected to attend.

PURVIS REJOINS PURDUE.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Purdue's hopes of being able to match Notre Dame's ground gaining power brightened this afternoon when Duane Purvis returned to his right half back position to try out his injured ankle.

Although Purvis was favoring the ankle during the dummy scrimmage he still showed enough of his old drive to warant the belief that he may be able to start against Notre Dame Saturday. Purvis appeared in a back field that had his old running mate, Jim Carter, at the other half back; John Drake, sophomore, at full back, and Dan Toriello at quarter back.

De Paul Seeks Third Straight Against Dayton

Seeking its third straight victory, De Paul university's football team will face Dayton university tonight at Loyola stadium. The kickoff is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Coached by Harry Baujan, Notre Dame star of 1916, the Dayton squad is heavy and composed of many veterans. As a result, Coaches Jim Kelly and Ben Connors have made several changes in the lineup for tonight's game. Although the Demons rushed through Ripon, 33 to 6, and St. Ambrose, 20 to 6, De Paul's line was hard pressed in each contest.

Probable lineups:

DE PAUL.		DAYTON.
Krause	L. E.	Meinmer
Carlson	L. T.	Zierolf
Hynan	L. G.	Pozilik
Casey	C.	Corbett
Lorge	R. G.	Bagonis

Officials: Referee—Gardner [Cornell]. Umpire—Lipp [Chicago]. Head linesman—Elder [Notre Dame].

TEMPLETON AND AURORA TO MEET FOR POLO TITLE

New York, Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Winston F. C. Guest's Templeton poloists, national open title holders, and Seymour Knox's Aurora team rode into the final round of the Monty Waterbury cup tournament by registering victories at the Meadowbrook club today.

Templeton, which won the open championship Tuesday with a 10 to 7 victory over Aurora, defending champion, was forced to come from behind to whip Eastcott, 11 to 10, in an overtime period. Aurora, also defending its laurels of last year in this tourney, fought an uphill battle to defeat the Aknusti quartet, 13 to 9, on International field.

The two teams will meet for the second time within a week on International field Saturday in the final of the high goal handicap event, which is held each year by the United States Polo association in conjunction with the open championship.

Movie Colony Blamed for Trojans' Fall

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 11.—(AP)—The charge that University of Southern California football players had become "toys to some henna-haired beauty" or playthings of movie magnates, in sad contrast with members of the once famous "Thundering Herd," was made today by the Daily Trojan, student publication.

Jack Frankish, editor of the campus paper, explained quickly, however, that the statement was made in an attempt to spur the Trojans, who were defeated, 19 to 0, last week by Washington State college, to better results in their clash next Saturday with the University of Pittsburgh.

Students Support Team.

The article charged the Trojans had been "wined and dined" by mercenary interests in the film colony for a long time, and that the 19 to 0 defeat could be traced right back to Hollywood.

"The student body is 100 per cent for the team," Frankish said. "I think the team realizes that after the sendoff it received just before the departure for Pittsburgh.

"What we object to is the business of movie interests getting the players to appear at various events and present trophies. They toss in a $5 watch as reward.

"We don't object to the men working part time at the studios, either. I believe that if the players will forget all about Hollywood they can beat Pittsburgh, and that's what we all want them to do."

ARTICLE RILES TROJANS.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 11.—(AP)—The daily Trojan editorial charge that Southern California's football squad had "gone Hollywood" was used today as the text of Coach Howard Jones' exhortation to his Trojans on a brief practice stopover en route to Pittsburgh where they play the Panthers Saturday.

"Maybe it's true," said Jones in an interview after he read excerpts from the student newspaper at Los Angeles. "That ought to burn them up and if it doesn't they're not the kind of men I want playing for me. But they can't laugh at any Trojan football team. We're not going to play any movie game against Pittsburgh Saturday, and you can bet on that."

Rolling into the city on a special train almost three hours ahead of schedule, the Trojans were hurried out to a high school gridiron for a two hour rehersal under a scorching sun.

Jones then told his men of the editorial. The squad echoed Jones' statement that the Trojans wouldn't be playing movie football Saturday.

Jones was fairly definite about the revamped lineup he will send against Pittsburgh. He was undecided about quarter back and full back, but Cotton Warburton probably will be the starting signal caller. Haskell Wotkyns is being held in reserve as a replacement for either Warburton or Full Back Cliff Propst.

The Trojans left at 4 p. m. for the last lap which will get them into Pittsburgh tomorrow morning. They will work out Friday afternoon at Shadyside academy near Pittsburgh, their headquarters until game time.

VRBAS STRENGTHEN TEAM.

The Vrba Berwyn Parrots, strengthened by Rooney, ex De Paul guard, and Zvibas and Woveris, former Cicero Booster half backs, will play the Suburban Bears Sunday at Forest Park.

JACK GIBBONS ON HAND FOR BOUT AT WHITE CITY

Old Mike's Son Has Won 30 Straight.

Jack Gibbons, middleweight son of Mike Gibbons, former St. Paul Phantom, arrived yesterday for his six round supporting bout on the Leo Rodak-Tommy Paul card at White City Monday. His opponent will be Lou Bartel. Gibbons, a rangy, thin faced chap, with the appearance of a clever boxer, has scored 30 victories in as many professional encounters.

Bill Treest, St. Charles, Ill., 1934 Golden Gloves middleweight champion, undefeated as a pro, has been signed with Steve Roberts in a four round light heavyweight contest at Marigold Gardens Monday on the program headed by an eight rounder between Henry Rothier and Billy Celebron. Milt Aaron, Jewish People's institute junior welterweight, and Gary Baldwin will meet in another bout at this distance. Mickey Joy and Fred Cheynoweth, slugging junior welterweights, have been paired for the six round semi-windup.

Harry Dublinsky, Chicago junior welterweight contender, accompanied by Manager Jack Elle and Trainer Sam Buxbaum, left yesterday for Philadelphia, where Dublinsky boxes Bobby Pacho Monday. . . . Benny Leonard, retired undefeated lightweight champion, also went to Philadelphia to broadcast a fight there tonight. . . . Promoter Billy Cepak has transferred his Oct. 19 show from the Coliseum to Cicero stadium, where four matches at eight rounds each will be presented. . . . Jackie Wilson and Bus Breese are to appear in two of them.

Frank Sigilio's left ankle, injured prior to his fight with Mike Gizzy Tuesday, has swollen to twice its normal size. . . . Eddie Long has taken over the management of Karl Ogren, who is to depart for Wisconsin today to spend two weeks in the northern woods. . . . Tony Canzoneri will go to Excelsior Springs, Mo., Sunday. . . . An amateur show will be offered at St. Alphonsus hall Nov. 2.

Amateur shows will be presented tonight at 24th Ward club, 3242 Roosevelt road, and Community Recreation center, 4711 Madison street. The card at the former club which will honor Mitchell C. Robin, will include matches between Harry Smith and Art Oliver, Chuck Linn and Sam de Pasquale, Dave Schimmel and Armand Morell, and Frank Agnes and Verne Patterson. The program at Community center will be sponsored by St. Ignatius Fathers' club.

PLAYERS GATHER HERE MONDAY FOR TOUR OF ORIENT

Connie Mack, Babe Ruth to Head Squad.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Babe Ruth, who a few days ago said he would like to be the manager of a ball club, will have his wish for a time, at least, this winter.

The babe is going to be the manager of the touring American leaguers when they play teams in Honolulu, Japan, Shanghai, and Manila.

The tour actually starts tomorrow when Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, leaves for Chicago where most of the party of 36 will assemble on Monday.

The players will leave Vancouver on the Empress of Japan on Oct. 20 and are due in Honolulu on the 25th when they will play one game with a picked team from the Hawaiian Islands. The party will arrive in Japan Nov. 2 and will remain there until Dec. 2, playing 17 games in various cities. A game will be played in Shanghai on Dec. 6, and on Dec. 9 and 10 in Manila.

Side Trips Planned.

Some of the party will make side trips from Manila and the main contingent will arrive in Vancouver the first week of January.

There will be four pitchers, two catchers, five infielders, three outfielders, and one umpire. Connie Mack will be the boss of the party except when Babe Ruth is managing the team on the field.

The players making the trip are:

Pitchers—Earl Whitehill, Washington; Clint Brown, Cleveland; Joe Cascarella, Athletics, and Lefty Gomez, New York Yankees. Catchers—Charles Berry, Athletics, and Moe Berg, Cleveland. Infielders—Jimmy Foxx, Eric McNair, Rabbit Warstler, Athletics; Charles Gehringer, Detroit, and Lou Gehrig, Yankees. Outfielders—Babe Ruth, Earl Averill, Cleveland, and Bing Miller, until recently with the Athletics.

Quinn Is Umpire.

Johnny Quinn, umpire in the Southern league, will be the umpire; E. E. Ebling of the Athletics, the trainer, and Robert J. Schroeder, assistant secretary of the Athletics, will be the business manager.

With the exception of Connie Mack and possibly one or two others, all married men will be accompanied by their wives. Friends of several of the players will make up the remainder of the party.

Jimmy Foxx, who was struck by a pitched ball in a game at Winnipeg a few days ago, sent a telegram to Connie Mack today saying he was O. K.

LARGE GROUP OF TERRIERS ENTER COLISEUM SHOW

The annual dog show held by the Western Specialty Clubs association on behalf of its 18 dog club members, representing 18 breeds, will be held Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 20 and 21, in the Coliseum. A preview was held yesterday, which indicated that wire and smooth haired terriers would form the largest group competing in the show. Approximately $10,000 in prizes will be given during the two day show. Judging will be from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. in five rings.

A large showing of Scotties is expected, according to association officials. German shepherd dogs, which recently have come back in favor, and Airedales, which are again beginning to claim their old popularity, as well as Dobermann-Pinschers, among the most expensive of dogs, will be seen in considerable numbers.

Other breeds in the show will include cocker spaniels, Kerry Blue terriers, schnauzers, English springer spaniels, collies, Great Danes, bull terriers, and others.

CAITHAMMER TO CATCH FOR DEAN BOYS AT MILLS

George Caithammer, 22 year old catcher for the Chicago White Sox, will serve as the battery mate for Dizzy and Paul Dean, who will pitch for the Chicago Mills against the Kansas City Monarchs at Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue, Sunday afternoon. Caithammer was a member of the Mills until last August, when he was signed by the Sox.

Two other catchers may work with the Dean boys, according to Manager Bill Harley of the Mills. They are Babe Goldwaite and Al Stokes, who have been with the Mills for several years. The game will start at 2 o'clock.

The Deans, who led the St. Louis Cardinals to the world's championship against the Detroit Tigers, each will pitch four and one-half innings. They will arrive in Chicago Sunday morning and will leave immediately after the game for Milwaukee, where they will appear Monday night.

CONDY IS VICTOR IN TABLE TENNIS TOURNEY MATCH

Billy Condy last night triumphed in one of the hardest matches of the men's singles of the Illinois Table Tennis association tournament at the Stay and Play club. The young state champion lost the first game to Danny Kreer, won the second and then took the third after the game had been deuced four times. Gordon McNeil, University of Chicago, defeated Emil Calban.

Max Rushakoff, Yoskio Fushimi, Robert Ratcliffe, Jerry Lavin and Carlton Prouty also won matches. Tonight the consolation round of the men's singles will be played. Finals are carded tomorrow night.

FURMAN WINS, 3-2; YES, IT'S A FOOTBALL GAME

Florence, S. C., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Furman defeated Wake Forest, 3 to 2, today in a college football game. A field goal kicked by King, Furman right end, in the first period gave the South Carolina Baptists victory. Wake Forest, victor over Hunk Anderson's North Carolina State team last week, was saved from a shutout by a safety in the final period.

Mooseheart at Stubensville, O., 7:30 p. m.
Riverside at West Chicago, 3:30 p. m.
Parker vs. East Aurora, 7:30 p. m.

St. Mel's football team, one of the strongest in the west division of the Chicago Catholic High School league, will seek its second consecutive victory this afternoon when it meets St. Michael at St. Philip field, Van Buren and Albany streets. The game features today's schedule in the Chicago district. It will start at 2 o'clock.

Two Chicago Public High School league games also will be played. In the west section Crane Tech, which played a tie with McKinley in its opening game last week, faces Kelvyn Park at Logan Square park, Kedzie and Elston avenues. Harper, defeated in its first two league contests, opposes Bowen at White City in a central division game.

Riverside Plays Today.

The Riverside-West Chicago game in the West Suburban league, originally scheduled for tomorrow on the West Chicago field, has been moved up and will be played this afternoon. Riverside will be after its second conference triumph. West Chicago was defeated in its first game last Saturday.

Two City league teams, Tilden Tech and Parker, will meet nonleague opponents tonight. Tilden meets Kankakee on the latter's field, while Parker takes on East Aurora at Aurora.

Hyde Park Holds Rally.

Hyde Park students held a bonfire rally at 63d street and Stony Island avenue last night for the forty-eighth annual battle between Hyde Park and Englewood which will be played tomorrow at White City. Hyde Park this season boasts one of the most powerful teams in more than a decade. It now leads the central section with two straight victories.

NEW ROCHELLE READY.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—The New Rochelle High school football team will end practice tomorrow for its game with Lane Tech of Chicago here Saturday afternoon. More than 10,000 are expected to watch the intersectional game. New Rochelle, champion of Westchester county for the last two years, opened its season by overwhelming Brooklyn Evening High, 35 to 0, last Saturday. The line averages 172 pounds and the backfield, 161.

BUTTERFIELD AND BANKERS TO END SEASONS TODAY

Butterfield and a number of Chicago banking institutions will conclude their competitive golf seasons today. Butterfield will hold its regular Columbus day event, with prizes for members and guests. Manager Andy Anderson and Tom Grace, chairman of the sports and pastimes committee, expect a large attendance.

Officials of the First National bank will play at Exmoor, and employés of the bank will gather at Brae Burn. The Northern Trust company will conduct its 23d annual tournament at Kildeer, with 36 hole play for the Byron L. Smith and Solomon A Smith trophies. American National employés will meet at Bunker Hill.

Helen Hicks, America's only business woman golfer, and Dave Tosh, home club professional, will meet Shirley Ann Johnson, western junior champion, and Jack Westland, Walker cup player, in an eighteen hole exhibition match at Sunset Ridge Sunday, starting at 1:30 p. m.

George Dawson, Glen Oak; Don Armstrong, Aurora; Joe Noonan, club professional, and Frank McNamara, club champion, will be the principals in an exhibition match at Lincolnshire Sunday. The match will begin at 1 p. m.

Men in the Chicago office of Halsey, Stuart & Co. are holding their annual field day at the La Grange Country club today. There will be 100 members of the staf participating in a program of golf in the morning, tennis and interdepartmental baseball game in the afternoon and a dinner and entertainment this evening.

The Glen Oak Country club, Glen Ellyn, Ill., today will hold a Columbus day tournament the chief prize for which will be a silver cup donated by Charles Ganzhorn. The tournament will be at 18 holes match play. T. B. O'Connell is chairman of the committee in charge of the event.

Hart, Haddock to Meet on White City Mat

Frankie Hart, Holland, and Dale Haddock, Birmingham, Ala., yesterday were matched for the windup at Mique Malloy's wrestling show at the White City arena Tuesday night. Clarence Smith is scheduled to meet Zack Malkov in the 30 minute semiwindup.

SCHOOLBOY ROWE, HOME TOWN GIRL WED IN DETROIT

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Lynwood [Schoolboy] Rowe, 22 year old pitching star of the Detroit Tigers, and his childhood sweetheart, Edna Mary Skinner, Eldorado, Ark., were married in a Detroit hotel tonight.

Only a few friends attended the ceremony, the Schoolboy and his sweetheart finally having escaped fans who proposed to follow them all the way to the altar.

Ervin [Pete] Fox, Tiger right fielder, who was Rowe's roommate during the baseball season, and Mrs. Fox were the attendants. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. L. Calkins of the Preston Methodist church.

Glen View Triumphs Over Park Ridge Golf Team, 18-9

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Glen View, winner of the North Shore league title, turned on considerable golf yesterday to run away from Park Ridge, champions of the Northwest league, in the first annual battle between the leagues' best at the Oak Park Country club. When it was all over, the Glen View sextet, composed of Alden B. Swift, John D. Ames, Royal C. Vilas Jr., John Victor, Clarence Bishop and Constant C. Hopkins, was in front by a score of 18 to 9.

Ames and Swift, the latter Glen View's club champion, won 7 points while losing only two to Charley Christopher, Park Ridge champion, and Tom Robbins. Vilas and Victor took six points from Dr. A. O. Young and George Fairbairn, losing three, while Hopkins and Bishop won 5 and lost 4 to Ray Bowen and Bill Lane.

It remained for Swift and Victor to shoot the best medal golf of the day, the former knocking down 74, two over par, while Victor shot a fine 34 on the finishing nine for 75. He scored four birdies on the last nine, and dropped a 50 foot putt for his par at the eighteenth. Their cards follow:

Par Out	534	543	444—36
Par In	444	345	534—36—72
Swift Out	444	553	444—37
Swift In	444	345	535—37—74
Victor Out	654	644	534—41
Victor In	533	244	634—34—75

Swift	3	0	Bishop	1	2
Ames	2½	½	Lane	1	2
Hopkins	2½	½	Young	1	2
Fairbairn	1½	1½	Christopher	½	2½
Vilas	1½	1½	Bowen	½	2½
Victor	2	1	Robbins	0	3

PAUL DEAN HAS A BRIDAL SUITE, BUT LACKS BRIDE

Columbus, O., Oct. 11.—(AP)—"Paul's liable to have a bridal suite, and no bride," Miss Betty Holt said here today when informed that Paul Dean, star pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, had tentatively reserved a Cleveland hotel suite for the latter part of next week.

About two weeks ago Dean announced his desire to wed Miss Holt. She promptly demurred. Told that the prospective groom had reserved the bridal suite, she said: "I don't know anything about it."

Miss Holt returned yesterday from St. Louis, after watching Paul defeat the Tigers in two world series contests. She returned to Columbus when Paul and Dizzy, his older brother, boarded a plane for Oklahoma. But she said today that the reported romance had progressed not a bit.

BURLEIGH GRIMES GETS RELEASE FROM PIRATES

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Burleigh Grimes, old man of the major leagues, got his walking papers again today. President Bill Benswanger of the Pittsburgh Pirates announced he had given the veteran his unconditional release to make room for any promising youngster who may fit into the club's roster.

Grimes, last exponent of spit ball pitching in the big leagues and a veteran of 19 years service, has taken more than one exit from baseball only to bob up with another club, but today's action may spell the end of his career so far as the majors are concerned.

In the last season, he saw service with the Cardinals and the Pirates in the National, and with the Yankees in the American.

Douglas Says: We're still on the All-Leather Standard!

THERE are plenty of ways to deflate the value of a pair of shoes. In many hidden places, leather can be replaced with substitutes—and you'd never know it, until you wore the shoes a while. But Douglas doesn't do things that way. When you buy a pair of shoes, you're entitled to SHOE-LEATHER. And you get it in Douglas Shoes . . . even for only $3.50. Here, at our rock-bottom price of forty years ago, you have the comfort, wear, and lasting appearance of solid-leather construction! Douglas is on the ALL-LEATHER standard.

Your nearest Douglas Store has more than 100 correct styles for this Fall . . . styles approved by men's-wear experts. See them today . . . price-stamped on the soles as low as $3.50.

JOCKY KEESTER GETS 'EM HOME AT SPORTSMAN'S

Horse Throws Rider and Jumps Fence, but Wins.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Jocky Paul Keester had his big afternoon at Sportsman's Park yesterday. He figured in two brilliant victories, one of which followed one of the most unusual incidents ever witnessed at a Chicago race course. The other, a triumph on the favorite, McGonigle, in the Oak Park claiming purse, was productive of the most finished ride Keester has made in his brief but spectacular career.

It was his winning trip on Funderberg, a 2 year old owned by E. L. Vaughan, Chicago, which gave the 6,500 spectators their greatest thrill of the afternoon.

Rather Tricky, This Horse.

On the parade to the post, just as the field was passing the judges' stand, Funderburg kicked up his heels, all but became a Texas bronco, and tossed Keester into the deep dirt cushion of the track. Then Funderburg leaped over a fence separating the stewards from the track into an inclosure so small that all he could do was stand there nodding to the judges.

After considerable skirmishing, Funderburg was put back on the track and Keester, who had been only slightly jarred by his fall, climbed back into the saddle.

Funderburg finally reached the post and from the time his 5 furlong engagement started he was in the thick of the contention. Heading into the stretch, he romped into the lead to beat Alderman Coughlin's Teernahilla by three lengths. Marjorie Kerr was third. Funderburg raced the 5 furlongs in 1:02, fast time around all the turns, and paid $8.86.

A furlong out, Keester began driving McGonigle. The 8 year old son of Omar Khayyam-Lady Vera ran around horses and almost over horses. He was the winner by a nose over Tiny Kitty and Impeach. McGonigle ran the mile and seventy yards in 1:47, just a second off the track record. He was backed by most of those present and paid $5.56.

Seldom in one afternoon have so many red hot tips floated around a Chicago race track. Dark Entry was the tip in the first and he finished third. Jere was the winner.

Can't Lose, but Does.

The whisperers had Northvale as the one that couldn't lose in the second race. Well, he did, but he managed to finish third back of Gurgler and Sleive's Pride. In the third, when Funderburg did the acrobatics in the judges' stand, Marjorie Kerr was the tip which drifted up and down the lawns and stands. She also landed third.

Flying Justice just couldn't lose the fourth, according to the wild rumors. When the six and one-half furlong battle ended he was second and Doris B., which paid $26.90 for a two dollar mutuel ticket, was whirling in front of Flying Justice's eyes.

So it went all afternoon. Those who were looking for mysterious information and then bet on it didn't do any good for their bankrolls.

DUNES PARK OF ILLINOIS WORTH EXPLORING NOW

Will Be Open to Public Until Thanksgiving.

BY BOB BECKER.

Outdoor fans who like to hike and look up new country will find the newly created Dunes park of Illinois, between Waukegan and the Wisconsin state line, worth exploring this fall. The 1,500 acre tract of land on Lake Michigan has been made into a game refuge and will be open to the public until Thanksgiving day, according to recent announcement. Nearly 40,000 people visited the playground this summer, chiefly to swim along its three and one-half miles of beach.

For many years this unusual stretch of land on Lake Michigan has been of interest to nature enthusiasts, bird students and others. The flora of the region is particularly interesting because here one finds types of trees and plants that are sort of nomads, actually belonging to areas considerable distance from the lowlands above Waukegan. Bird students always have liked to visit what now is the Dunes park, because migrations come down the lake shore, thus giving the observer a chance to see many different species.

At the southern end of the tract, visitors will see quite a stand of pines, some having been set out by early settlers. Oaks and other trees grow over much of the area, which is drained by the Dead river, whose marshes have attracted ducks and other birds for years.

There has been agitation for many years to save this piece of land from commercial development and convert it into a park. We recall a meeting held in Waukegan some years ago to discuss the possibility of the state purchasing the property. Under the management of the Dunes Park of Illinois association the playground will be kept in its present wild state pending the eventual conversion into a state owned park. It is about the last available land of its kind along the north shore.

Ross to See Sportsman's Card as Guest

Barney Ross, the world's lightweight champion, is to be the guest of honor at Sportsman's Park this afternoon. So Barney and Christopher Columbus will be honored on the same afternoon.

Tommy King, star rider with the G. C. Edwins stable, formerly the J. D. Mikel stable, probably will resume riding this afternoon. Several of the Ewins' horses are reported to have amazed the clockers with their speed during the training hour yesterday.

The veteran trainer Jim Owenby, who has been out of racing most of the season, probably will take a dozen steeds to Florida for various Chicagoans.

Jocky L. Dupre, hailed as the best half mile track rider developed in Canada in many seasons, hasn't made a very impressive showing at Sportsman's Park. He has scored one victory in four days. He doesn't seem to be able to make heavy headed horses run straight.

Jocky Johnny Leyland was a very unhappy lad last night. He thought he would win sure on Gurgler and Paradox Girl, which would have completed the daily double. He got Gurgler home, but couldn't make Paradox Girl run fast enough to finish in the money.

Beccali, Italian Runner, Seeks 1,500 Meter Record

New York, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Luigi Beccali, Italy's 1,500 meter champion, will make his second and final American appearance of the year tomorrow in an attempt to regain the world record he once held for the metric mile. His race against time and three local athletes will be the climax of a pageant and track and field meet at Yanke stadium, concluding an American tour of Baccali and 349 other Italian university students.

LATHER OR BRUSHLESS ?

Arguments won't wilt whiskers

"Not all the arguments in the world can stand against facts. So forget the arguments and stick to facts; especially these facts!... If your skin is oily, you should use a lather shave—Mennen Lather Shave, because it flushes out your overactive pores... If your skin is dry, I recommend a brushless shave. Mennen Brushless Shave is a cream, not a grease; contains special ingredients good for a dry, thin, tender skin... If your skin is normal then it's a question of convenience—do you like to use a brush or don't you?... Both Mennen Lather Shave and Mennen Brushless thoroughly wilt whiskers; choose the one that suits your skin best, and get a new idea of shaving ease and comfort."

STOCKS MOUNT ON HINT OF NEW INFLATION DOSE

Metal Group Leads; Trading Expands.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 11.—Intimations of impending new inflationary experiments by the New Deal administration stimulated the stock market to further exertions on the upside today. Buying orders appeared in the best volume in months, boosting prices 1 to 3 points over a broad range and hoisting the turnover above the million share market for the first time since Aug. 22. The total of transactions approximated 1,394,000 shares.

The inflationary character of the market was strongly attested by the vigor and strength of the so-called currency metal stocks and other issues which customarily respond to any suggestion of further credit expansion, price lifting, or whatever the phrase of the moment may be.

Homestake Rises 20 Points.

Homestake, the big leader of the gold mining group, jumped 15 points on its first sale and then rose five points more, closing at 400, which compares with its 1934 low of 310. Its 1928-1929 high was 93. Dome, Alaska, Juneau, McIntyre, U. S. Smelting, Howe Sound, Cerro de Pasco, and American Smelting rose from a half to more than a point each. The silver issues got an extra prime from a sharp rise in the price of silver metal, boosting it to the highest level in five years.

A scattering of the more volatile issues rose sharply, some of them on comparatively light turnover. Coca-Cola jumped 4½ points and Allied Chemical and Air Reduction 3 or so.

Federal Mining Slumps.

A wide swing in the other direction was taken by Federal Mining and Smelting, which went tumbling 19 points to a new low for the year on a turnover of some 200 shares.

Amusement shares had their best day in weeks on reports of improving attendance. Some of them recovered 1 and 2 points or more.

Rails were in good demand and such issues as Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, and Delaware and Hudson were prominent.

Increasing interest appeared for merchandising shares, notably those in the low priced group. McCrory and Hahn were features. Further activity and strength in Radio corporation revived reports that interests formerly associated in a big way with the company were angling for increased stock control. Strength in commodities again aided the farm stocks.

U. S. Steel Higher.

Among the standard industrials, United States Steel was late in making its move, but finished more than a point higher.

Brokerage interests were encouraged by the smart pickup in trading—the volume in the first two hours was considerably larger than many five hour totals in the recent past—and it was suggested that there may be more to the current movement than appears on the surface.

Not even the prospects of a holiday tomorrow, which ordinarily tends to curtail market operations and makes for some evening up of commitments by cautious traders, could stay the advance. Stocks on the whole sold at the highest levels in several weeks.

RFC AUTHORIZES $992,000,000 LOANS FOR DEPOSITORS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—The RFC has authorized loans of $992,000,000 to pay off depositors of closed banks and another $100,000,000 may be made available, Chairman Jones said today. These loans have been allocated to all classes of banks.

The RFC is also ready to go ahead with agreement to extend loans on a generous basis to national banks, whose assets do not exceed about $15,000, on the condition that such assets shall be sold immediately by the receivers. There are said to be about 302 such institutions and the special plan is based on a theory that the depositors will form liquidating corporations to buy the assets at a nominal figure subject to the RFC loan.

TRACTION LINE TO PAY MILLION BACK INCOME TAX

Receivers of the Chicago City Railway company were authorized yesterday by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson to pay out $1,057,575 in deficiency income tax, which the government asserted the company still owed over the taxes already paid.

A petition for the order was made by Attorney Harry P. Weber, representing Edward E. Brown and Harvey B. Fleming, receivers. The order was necessary that the company might pay the sum and close the books for the income tax returns for 1928 to 1931, inclusive. The amounts owed annually were as follows: 1928, $304,830; 1929, $309,596; 1930, $279,918; and 1931, $163,230.

New Dealers Engineer Rise in All Markets

BY HOWARD WOOD.

SEN. J. R. BULKLEY
[Harris-Ewing Photo]

Inflation again seized the imaginations of traders yesterday and quotations on stocks and commodities were shoved up substantially. Simultaneously the American dollar declined in terms of European gold currencies.

The flurry had been cleverly engineered by the New Dealers. La Salle street interpreted it as a move on the part of the administration to give the markets a little "inflation whirl" just before the congressional elections.

First, Donald R. Richberg in his address here Tuesday disclosed that the administration has no present intention of working toward a balanced budget; that it intends to go on spending in excess of income, justifying the extravagance by pointing to relief needs.

Second, President Roosevelt in a conference with the press on Wednesday disclosed that prices were not yet as high as he wanted them and that further dollar debasement to jack them up further was by no means out of the question.

Third, Senator Bulkley [Dem., O.], emerged from a conference with President Roosevelt yesterday and told newspapermen that further debasement of the American dollar was a strong possibility. He said he did not regard such a move as necessary now but expressed the opinion that there would be a movement at the next session of congress to remove the 50 per cent limit on the President's present power to debase the dollar.

The expected happened. Wheat rose about three cents a bushel and other grains made substantial gains. Stocks were higher on a heavy volume of trading. That these increases were due to the inflation talk rather than to normal causes was indicated by the fact that the dollar lost ground against foreign currencies.

Thus the issue remains precisely what it was in April, 1933, when the United States was taken off the gold standard, and in January, 1934, when the dollar was debased approximately 40 per cent. The President under existing legislation has the power to debase the dollar another 10 per cent of its old value [equivalent to nearly 20 per cent of its present value].

Disclosure of the fact that the President still leans toward money manipulation, it is believed in La Salle street, will have a very definite effect upon business throughout the country.

The United States Chamber of Commerce, the National Manufacturers' association, and the bankers, through the federal advisory council, during the last two or three weeks have sought to convince the administration that what the nation needs most for economic recovery is: 1. Assurance that the administration will work toward a balanced budget; and, 2. Assurance that it will take steps toward stabilizing the currency.

The combined forces of business and finance got little. Prof. Raymond Moley, who formerly was a member of the brain trust, cheered a few of the business leaders by dining with them in Washington and listening sympathetically to their tales of woe. Rumors were passed along to the effect that the administration realized for the first time that business needed reassurance.

But when the test came the administration disclosed that again, as in the past, it would give way to pressure from the left, but not to pressure from the right.

The action of stocks and commodities in shooting skyward on the promise of further inflation looks good to the politician running for election, but it doesn't reassure the business and financial leaders, who have publicly expressed the belief that continued failure to balance the budget and threats of inflation will precipitate an economic breakdown.

Mr. Richberg in his address here on Tuesday gave the sound money advocates little cheer. He answered their criticism by impugning their motives and their brain power.

"Wherever there is the slightest understanding of the necessities faced and met by the government," said Mr. Richberg, "there must be recognition of the plain, cold fact that sweeping criticisms of the great bulk of government expenditures and sweeping demands for immediate cutting of expenses and balancing of the budget are the product either of gross ignorance or the cheapest form of political demagogism."

A delicate point ignored by Mr. Richberg is the fact that the business and financial leaders have not insisted on "immediate" balancing of the budget.

The federal advisory council, for example, said:

"That a well formulated and definitly stated program for balancing the national budget within a reasonable period" was essential to recovery.

Mr. Richberg chose to tilt a windmill rather than answer those who asked for assurance of a program for balancing the budget within a "reasonable" length of time.

Dollar Wheat Comes Back on Money Plans

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Dollar wheat was restored on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday as all grains and other commodities broke away for further sharp gains on buying inspired by the latest "inflation" news out of Washington.

The statement of Senator Bulkley of Ohio on leaving the White House that he expected a further devaluation of the dollar to take place brought an emphatic response in the grain market. Coming in the wake of the preceding day's news from the capital that the President is striving for a higher price level the senator's remarks were enough to start a mild stampede among speculators.

Grain prices were on their way up when the Washington news was flashed to the floor. In the foreign markets wheat was staging the best advance witnessed in some time.

Heavy Buying Near Close.

The bull fever was running high before the market had another shot of inflation stimulant. Just before the market closed further heavy buying attributed to commission houses poured into the market and wheat closed near the top quotations of the session with gains ranging from 2½ to 3¾ cents a bushel.

The advance carried both the December and May futures through the dollar market. December wheat closed at $1.02⅛, and May wheat ended at $1.02⅜. It was in the distant July future that the sharpest gain of 3¾ cents was scored, apparently as a result of a desperate short interest scurrying to cover their sales.

Other grains followed the market leader and corn closed 1⅛ to 1¼ cents higher, with the December contract closing at 77 cents a bushel. Oats futures improved ⅜ cent and rye advanced ⅝ to 1½ cents.

Speculative Trading Expands.

The Washington news alone probably would have been enough to give the market a good fillip and the bullish grain news added fuel to the buying enthusiasm. There was evident expansion in speculative volume and the trading was estimated to have been the heaviest in several days. The advance in silver prices, the strength in stocks, and the rise in the cotton market contributed to the grain market's activity.

In Liverpool wheat prices advanced 2 cents a bushel for the seventh consecutive day. In Buenos Aires, Rotterdam, and Winnipeg sharp gains also were chalked up. In Liverpool the continental European demand was reported to be expanding, and from Winnipeg came reports fair sales of wheat to foreigners.

The government crop report, issued after the market closed Wednesday, was overshadowed yesterday by the other news developments.

PEOPLES TRUST LIABILITY SUIT SET FOR NOV. 1

Judge John Prystalski in the Circuit court yesterday set Nov. 1 at 2 p. m. as the tentative date for a hearing of a motion to dismiss a suit brought by the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company to collect double liability from the stockholders of the Peoples Trust and Savings bank, which closed voluntarily in June, 1932. The amount sought is $5,576,041.

Some fifteen attorneys were in court yesterday to hear Judge Prystalski set a date for the hearing. The judge said he would give the defendants all the time they required to present arguments as to why the suit should be dismissed.

The Continental bank was represented by Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt. A group of stockholders, headed by Robert Olson, head of the Central Paving company, was represented by Seyfarth & Leonard.

INSURANCE HEAD ASKS RECEIVERS FOR TWO FIRMS

Receivership petitions for the Shippers Mutual Casualty company and the Premier Mutual Insurance company were filed in the Superior court yesterday by Ernest Palmer, state director of insurance, through the attorney general's office.

Both companies were formed in March, 1933, and, according to the insurance laws, should have completed their organization and deposited $10,000 each with the state within one year. This was not done. So far as is now known neither company has sold any insurance.

'FUNDS FOR HUNGRY' SOON TO PAY WORKERS PICKED BY DEMOCRATS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—Machinery for starting on January 1, 1935, the mid-decennial agricultural census, authorized last June by congress and which will give employment to about 25,000 supervisors and field enumerators, was set in motion today when William L. Austin, director of the census bureau, announced that he had asked Democratic congress members to aid in the selection of the workers. No appointees will be accepted before Nov. 15, however.

In making the announcement that he had asked Democratic advice, Austin replied to a criticism voiced by Republicans, when the bill was before congress, who charged that use of the $10,000,000 fund would be turned into a "Democratic campaign for votes."

At the time, Representative Britten of Illinois offered an amendment that would have compelled each worker to wear on his lapel a button bearing these words:

"I am a Democratic campaign workers, paid out of the funds previously appropriated to feed hungry people."

Austin said today that the Democrats were following a policy established shortly after the civil war and maintained through succeeding administrations.

About 2,000 persons will be employed in Washington, the remainder throughout the rural sections.

NO STEEL CODE CHANGE PLANNED, SAYS RICHBERG

New York, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Donald R. Richberg, policy committee chief of the NRA, expressed himself satisfied with the operation of the steel code, and said no changes in steel prices or wages were considered at a meeting of the directors of the American Iron and Steel institute which he attended today.

Reports had circulated in trade circles to the effect that action might be taken with respect to changing prices at the meeting today. It had been said that uncertainty over the NRA's future policy on price regulation had been holding up orders for steel.

Richberg asserted the code was operating without friction and there was almost no compliance problem in the industry.

SMALL INDUSTRY ASKS FEW LOANS, SAYS RFC CHIEF

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation noted today that the volume of applications from small industry for loans was surprisingly small.

The total of applications to Oct. 6 was 2,403, amounting to $90,700,000, he said at a press conference. Of these 1,495 have been rejected, 244 approved, and the remainder placed under study.

The chairman said that the apparent reason for the small total was the inability of the would-be borrowers to meet the RFC's requirements, but he did not believe those requirements should be lessened at this time.

FARM MORTGAGE ACT FOUGHT BY INSURANCE FIRM

Toledo, O., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Charging that the Frazier-Lemke amendment to the federal bankruptcy act is unconstitutional, the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, Milwaukee, Wis., today filed suit in federal court here asking an injunction to restrain Benjamin Franklin Reynolds, Fort Jennings, O., from availing himself of the provisions of section 75 of the amended act.

Subdivision S of section 75 grants to farmers on whom mortgages are about to be foreclosed a five year period during which they can retain possession of their farms by payment of a reasonable rental.

MARKETS, BANKS TO CLOSE TODAY

All leading commodity and security exchanges in this country as well as banks will be closed today, Columbus day. Some of the eastern commodity markets, including the Commodity exchange, the Coffee and Sugar exchange, and the Cocoa exchange will remain closed until Monday. Normal business will be resumed Saturday morning on most exchanges, including the Chicago Board of Trade and the New York stock market. Foreign markets will operate as usual today.

Nation's Banks Carrying Half of Federal Debt

(Statistics on page 35, column 8.)

While the twelve reserve banks' holdings of government bonds showed no change of importance during the last week, the weekly reports issued last night showed that the reporting member banks in New York and Chicago again added to their investments in such securities.

It is now estimated that the banking system of the country holds approximately one-half of the paper representing the total national debt of 27 billion dollars. Of the total owned by the banks approximately 2½ billions are held by the twelve federal reserve banks. The balance is represented by the investments of the member banks and mutual savings. The last report on the member banks in ninety leading cities showed holdings of governments of over 6½ billion dollars. More than half of the increase in the national debt during the last year, amounting to 4 billion dollars, was absorbed by the banking system.

Big Increase Since 1931.

Prior to 1931 the holdings of government bonds by reserve member banks held fairly steady around 4 billion dollars. During 1931 they began to increase and have done so with increasing speed ever since.

The new purchases made last week by the Chicago and New York reporting banks were not large compared with the total holdings. In the eastern financial center banks absorbed another $18,000,000 of governments, while Chicago banks took on $7,000,000 more. New York banks now own upwards of 2 billions of governments and the Chicago banks hold upwards of three-quarters of a billion of such securities.

The increases in investments were the only significant changes shown in the reports of the member banks in the two cities. They accounted for moderate gains in the total credit outstanding in both cities.

Commercial Loans Expand.

There was an expansion of $19,000,000 in commercial loans in New York, but this was more than offset by a decline in investments other than government bonds. Brokers' loans of the New York banks were unchanged at 725 millions.

The combined statement of the reserve banks showed that another $1,241,000 was put out last week in direct loans to industrial enterprises. This is the largest outlay made in a single week since the direct loans were inaugurated last spring. The total of such advances now stands at $3,708,000. The Chicago reserve loaned an additional $20,000 last week.

Foote Bros. Reorganization Is Requested by Creditors

A petition for the reorganization of Foote Bros. Gear and Machine company under section 77B of the amended federal bankruptcy act was filed yesterday in the federal court by three creditors with nominal claims. Assets were listed at $1,750,000 and liabilities were scheduled at $2,000,000.

GASOLINE TRADE EYES CAPITAL FOR PEACE MOVE

Sees Hope in Plan to Fight 'Hot Oil.'

ATTY. GEN. CUMMINGS.

With the conflicting groups in the Chicago gasoline price war maintaining their round, then center of interest in the trouble was transferred yesterday to Washington, D. C. Officials of major companies here saw a hopeful sign in an announcement from the capital that Secretary Ickes, petroleum code administrator, conferred with Attorney General Cummings with a view to starting immediate prosecutions against violators of production quotas in the east Texas fields.

See Another Chance for Peace.

Another hope seen by petroleum company officials here was the appointment of Ralph Horween, Chicago attorney, as executive assistant to Ickes in his position as oil code administrator. Officials here say that Ickes' duties have been too heavy to give him all the time needed in obtaining enforcement of the code.

Horween has been chief of the Chicago office of the petroleum administrative board. Among his duties will be to act as the personal representative of Ickes in coördinating the activities of the various groups engaged in administering the petroleum code.

Prices of gasoline will continue today at the levels established by the major companies and members of the Independent Petroleum Brands association Wednesday evening. Both parties to the conflict assert that while the public is benefiting for the moment, they are losing money at the prices they are forced to charge.

Declare It Is Finish Fight.

Both the major companies and the independents assert that they are in the fight to a finish. A spokesman for the major companies yesterday said that his group had not made a peace offer to the independents on Wednesday, as was reported.

One of the points at issue in the Chicago fight has been the demand of the independent companies for a price differential to offset any advantages enjoyed by the major companies through advertising. The major companies point out that early in June they agreed to a request from the petroleum administration to permit a differential of 1 cent a gallon on the regular grade of gasoline and of ½ cent on the third grade as an experiment.

The major companies assert that the independents immediately took advantage of the plan and it was found that it would not work. For this reason they determined to end the agreement and on Oct. 3 put prices into effect which would meet the competition of the independents. Then followed reductions, which resulted in the levels established on Wednesday.

Situation Elsewhere.

The gasoline price situation in other cities was reported by the Associated Press yesterday as follows:

ST. LOUIS—Prices were cut 1 cent by major firms. Regular is now 14.5 cents, this price including federal and state taxes of 3.5 cents.

ST. PAUL—Regular gasoline reduced 1 cent, to 14.4 cents.

MINNEAPOLIS—The price on regular was cut 1 cent, the third reduction since Oct. 1.

LOUISVILLE—Gasoline prices were reduced 2 to 4 cents a gallon on all grades.

MILWAUKEE—A price war has been raging for two months. Regular gasoline is selling for 14.4 cents.

BALTIMORE—A retail reduction of 2 cents a gallon was made.

DALLAS—A price war which has been going on for several weeks has brought gas to a new low, 11 cents.

NEW YORK—Two firms announced a reduction of ½ cent a gallon in tank car gasoline prices for New York, Boston, Providence, and Portland. The new price is 6 cents in New York, not including state and federal taxes.

Billion U. S. Bonds Converted; Most for Four Year Notes

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—[Special.]—When the books closed on the government's fourth Liberty bond conversion offering tonight, 1 billion 20 millions of the 1 billion 250 millions called for redemption on Monday had been turned in for lower interest bearing securities, according to preliminary reports received by the treasury from the Federal Reserve banks.

On the final day 32 millions of the bonds were converted by holders. With these included, the records showed that 424 millions of the bonds had been exchanged for new treasury bonds paying 3¼ per cent interest and 506 millions for 2½ per cent treasury notes of 4 years maturity. Apparently the treasury will be called upon to poy off holders of about 225 millions of the Liberties with cash. The saving in interest to the treasury on the exchanges is roughly 14 millions 250 thousands annually.

May Call More Bonds.

There remains outstanding about 3 billion 200 millions of the original issue of fourth Liberty bonds and the next question facing the treasury is whether to call all or part of these for redemption in an effort to cut further the interest on the public debt.

Holders of the bonds must be notified six months before an interest payment date. The first opportunity to convert the bonds would come on April 15, and if this is to be employed, announcement of the call must be made by Oct. 15.

Treasury officials have withheld information about their plans, but the more general opinion here is that at least 1 billion of the outstanding bonds will be called by Monday. As they mature in 1938 they now bear the status of short-term obligations, and at 4¼ per cent carry interest almost double that which the treasury is paying on notes of similar maturity.

The extent to which banks are participating in government financing was indicated by the marked preference for notes. Treasury officials said most of these had been sought by banks.

U. S. Draws Down Deposits.

New York, Oct. 11.—(AP)—The United States treasury sent calls to depositary banks today for repaying on Oct. 15 of $195,976,600 of funds arising from the sale of securities. Of the total, $106,110,471 was called from New York banks.

The repaid deposits will be used in connection with the cash redemption on Oct. 15 of Liberty bonds not exchanged for new offerings. The funds called for repayment represents credits given the treasury in exchange for securities sold last February.

Silver Prices Bound; Gold Sets New Peak

New York, Oct. 11.—[Special.]—One of the largest advances in prices of precious metals ever witnessed in a single day occurred this forenoon when spot silver rose 2½ cents here to 53⅝ cents an ounce, the highest since May 27, 1929, and bar gold, which has been making new highs almost daily in the London market, jumped to 143 shillings 3 pence, a rise of 9d overnight. Today's gold price established a new record level in British money and was due to a fall in the value of the pound sterling to a new low in terms of the franc and other gold currencies.

Silver has not made so large a gain in a single day since the United States dropped the old gold standard in April, 1933. At that time the white metal appreciated 3½ cents in a single day.

Follows London Rise.

The increase in price here which carried silver 3⅝ cents an ounce above the quotation at which the treasury "nationalized" all domestic supplies last Aug. 9, was mainly a reflection of a jump of 1⅛ pence in the London price for silver to 24½ pence an ounce. The London market has become the main trading center for silver.

The explanation for the London rise was two-fold. First, there are indications there that the United States treasury, which is charged by law with the duty of acquiring sufficient silver over an indefinite period to bring American metallic monetary stocks up to a 25 per cent silver—75 per cent gold ratio, would continue its large scale purchasing program which in recent months has brought as many as two 400 ton shiploads of silver here in a single week. Second, and largely because of the market implications of the treasury's program, the far eastern countries yesterday and today bought more heavily in London than they have since the United States nationalized supplies.

Path for Inflationists.

The price of silver also reflected to a minor extent the intimations from the White House yesterday that American price levels are not yet satisfactory.

The dollar lost sharply against foreign currencies in trading here today. Sterling jumped 3¼ cents to $4.93¼. During early trading the pound was quoted at $4.89⅛, a new low for the current movement, but by midafternoon the quotation had soared. Revived rumors of further dollar devaluation were responsible for the slump.

The French franc was again above parity on an advance of 4 points to 6.66 cents, making the value of the dollar in terms of francs 58.82 cents, compared with 59.18 yesterday.

Canadian dollars rose 18¾ points to $1.02⅛. The German mark closed at 40.7 cents, up 27 points. The Italian lira gained 4¾ points to close at 8.64¾ cents. The Swiss franc was 20 points higher at 32.95 cents. The Dutch florin gained 40 points at 68.47.

WORKER ATTACKS U. S. CASE AGAINST WEIRTON STEEL

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 11.—(AP)—A government affidavit against the Weirton Steel company was attacked today by the testimony of one of its signers that he could not certify to the truth of information it contained.

Joseph L. Shalk Jr., a Weirton employé testifying in the government's suit for an injunction to halt Weirton interference in an employés' election to choose collective bargaining representatives, identified his signature among more than a dozen on the document, but declared he did not read the affidavit before signing it.

The affidavit said:

"We, the undersigned, all employés of the Weirton Steel company do hereby testify and swear that we were told by our foreman that unless we voted for the company union we could take our buckets and go home. The foreman went to the polls with us, and mill police followed us up with riot clubs. We scratched our ballots in such a manner as to make them void, since we were compelled to vote."

HIGHER PRICES ON POORER MEAT PREDICTED BY U. S.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Insufficient feed supplies to maintain live stock on normal rations, the lowest ebb in live stock numbers in 35 years, and higher prices for poorer quality meat were predicted today by the bureau of agricultural economics.

In a report to Chester C. Davis, farm administrator, the bureau, after canvassing 100,000 farmers, declared that feed grain supplies would be 3,000,000 tons short of this winter's requirement and hay supplies inadequate by 1,600,000 tons.

The bureau said "the decrease in live stock numbers, as a result of greatly reduced hog production and increased slaughter of cattle and sheep this year, together with the shortage of feed crops necessary for fattening live stock, will result in a marked reduction in both numbers and weights of animals for slaughter during most of 1935."

INSULL UTILITY FEES NOW UP TO APPEAL JUDGES

Federal Judges Albert M. Anderson, Will M. Sparks and Louis FitzHenry sitting in the Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday took under advisement an appeal from a ruling by Federal Judge Evan A. Evans, who in addition to declaring that the receivership of the Insull Utility Investments, Inc. was collusive also refused to authorize the payment of additional fees to the receiver and his attorneys.

Judge Anderson, who replaced Judge Evans on the appeals bench for this hearing, indicated in remarks from time to time that he thought the fees received had been sufficient.

Attorney Samuel A. Ettelson, who originally started the litigation which resulted in many inquiries as to large fees and collusion, appeared in court yesterday to argue against the payment of further fees, amounting to around $35,000. Fees amounting to around $55,000 have already been allowed.

EDISON BEGINS DEFENSE OF ITS RATE SCHEDULE

CHAS. E. BYRNE.
[Wallinger Photo.]

The initial introduction of evidence by the Commonwealth Edison company, in defense of the reasonableness of its present electricity rates, against a rate reduction citation by the Illinois Commerce Commission, got under way before Commissioner Charles E. Byrne yesterday.

The utility, a $300,000,000 corporation, said to be the largest single operating unit of its kind in the world, was cited last May after it had refused voluntarily to revise its charges downward. The interests of 900,000 residential and commercial customers and 64,700 stockholders are involved in the investigation, which is the first ever formally directed against the corporation.

Testifies on Reductions.

First of the company witnesses yesterday was John W. Evers Jr., secretary and assistant treasurer, who introduced two volumes outlining the financial and physical development of the company. The contents included a list of voluntary rate reductions, showing that electricity charges were reduced 55 per cent between 1908 and 1933 as a result of the continuous improvements and operating economies developed by company research.

The second witness and a colorful one was Louis A. Ferguson, vice president in charge of operating, construction, and electrical departments, who is a veteran of forty-six years' service. Mr. Ferguson, who physically greatly resembles the late President Taft, spent the greater part of the morning humorously reminiscing over some of the difficulties and incidents encountered in the company's earlier history, frequently involving Samuel Insull and also Robert E. Lincoln, son of Abraham Lincoln, one of the original incorporators of the Edison utility.

How Insull Became President.

He told how, in 1892, when Insull was vice president of the General Electric company, directors of the Chicago Edison company, the predecessor organization, called upon Insull to suggest a president of the Chicago company.

"He's talking to you right now," said Insull.

Harry R. Booth, counsel for the commerce commission, objected to the witness' leisurely narration as irrelevant to the subject of the fairness of the present rates.

"I know what's bothering you," retorted Mr. Ferguson. "You might as well know now that you've got to listen to it. I think you ought to be patient. It took me a whole afternoon to recall these matters which happened over a period of forty-six years. All this relates to service and the Edison company has had no interruption of its service since 1919."

"You can't expect Mr. Ferguson to tell the history of the world in fifteen minutes," observed Commissioner Byrne gravely.

Ferguson Recalls Old Days.

In the afternoon session Mr. Ferguson related how in the old days he would saunter out to make personal contacts with prospective users of electricity. He recalled an instance when Marshall Field invited him to his store to help him choose the color of the drapes to go into a new tearoom, and while so doing, sold electricity to the merchant on an oral contract.

"We didn't sit around like the big fat stiffs we now are—I'm speaking of myself personally," said Mr. Ferguson, a rotund man with white hair and white mustache.

STORE SALES IN SEPTEMBER 4% ABOVE 1933

Sales of 540 department stores in 255 cities, as compiled by the Federal Reserve board, increased 4 per cent in September as compared with a year ago. This brought sales for the first nine months of the current year to a level only 13 per cent ahead of the corresponding 1933 period, indicating a narrowing of the favorable spread between the two years.

The Dallas, Tex., federal reserve district showed the sharpest increase in September, sales having been 35 per cent ahead of September, 1933. Sales in the St. Louis district were 21 per cent ahead, and Chicago district sales gained 11 per cent. The only three territories that reported smaller sales than last year were the New York and Philadelphia districts, where sales dipped 2 per cent, and Boston, where the total dropped 8 per cent.

Chicago Concern Awarded U. S. Contract for Trucks

Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Quartermaster General Louis H. Bash today announced the award of a contract for 17 four ton trucks to the Diamond T Motor company of Chicago at a total cost of $41,463. The unit cost of the trucks was $2,439.

CARRIERS ARGUE VALUES OF OWN TRAFIC SYSTEMS

Railway Man Declares Others Supplementary.

Supporters of railroad, waterway and motor truck transportation last night explained why their respective systems were best fitted to serve the needs of the nation's shippers in talks before the Purchasing Agents' Asciation of Chicago at the Blackstone hotel. The railroads bore the brunt of the criticism with representatives of the waterways and motor trucks attacking them.

Speaking on behalf of the railroads was Z. G. Hopkins of the Western Railway committee. Lachlan MacLeay, executive vice president of the Mississippi Valley association, upheld the cause of the waterways, and Edward E. Arkin, president of Chicago Motor Express, Inc., spoke for the trucking companies.

Declares Others Supplementary.

Mr. Hopkins maintained that from a national point of view, the waterways and highways are no more than supplementary to rail service and insisted that the railways are as important as ever to the development of the country. He asserted that the roads were taken too much for granted and that it was only when it was proposed to abandon a section of track that the public was stirred to protest. Many miles of track, he asserted, are being maintained in the public interest even though operated at a loss.

The railroads cannot select the type of trafic it would prefer to handle, he said, but must take what is offered. It maintains regularity of shipments and gives assurance to shippers that delivery will be made when promised.

Argues for River Trafic.

Mr. MacLeay asserted that the problem of the Mississippi valley is not production but distribution, especially of its agricultural, heavy industrial and raw material products. The Mississippi valley must have low cost long distance transportation to bring raw materials to its factories and to carry its products to market. In providing this type of transportation, he maintained, the Mississippi river waterway system best answered the requirements in bulk shipments.

He asserted that in discussion of the transportation problem too much thought had been given the welfare of the transport agency and not enough to the shipper. He insisted that the shipper is not concerned whether he moves his goods by rail, waterway, or truck, he wants cheap and efficient service.

Mr. Atkins pictured the advantages of motor trucks, saying that no other form of transportation could hope to compete with the trucks in certain fields. He stressed the speed of the service, mobility, and cheapness.

LESS U. S. STEEL STOCK SHOWN IN BROKERS' NAMES

New York, Oct. 11.—[Special.]—The floating supply of common stock of United States Steel corporation on Sept. 30, as indicated by stock in brokers' names, was 1,656,109 shares, or 19.03 per cent of the total issue of 8,703,252 shares. This was a decrease of 60,630 shares since June 30, when the supply was 1,716,739 shares, or 19.73 per cent of the total. A year ago the floating supply was 1,628,951 shares, or 18.66 per cent of the total.

Coupled with other indications, such as a sharp decline in brokers' loans since July, the decline in the floating supply was interpreted in Wall street as evidence of stock being withdrawn from brokerage offices and placed "in the box" for long term holding.

Foreign holdings of Steel common at the end of September were 400,726 shares, or 4.60 per cent, against 376,288, or 4.32 per cent, on June 30, and 280,589 shares, or 3.22 per cent, a year ago.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 11.—Sharply increased demand carried all classes of bonds higher in an active market today. Government securities, domestic corporate liens, and foreign issues all manifested a spirited buying urge on the part of traders and investors that was a counterpart of a strong market for stocks. Turnover for the day was $13,812,000.

Government issues again provided impressive leadership for the rest of the market. While profit taking resistance on the rise had to be met, the market absorbed offerings in vigorous fashion and closed solidly higher.

Aids Exchange Plan.

The behavior of the treasury list gave to holders of called Fourth Liberty 4¼s a strong incentive to accept the government's exchange offer before its expiration tonight. The 3¼s into which the 4¼s are convertible up to the close of business today responded to a keen demand, while called 4¼s made a similar advance.

High grade domestic corporation bonds advanced fractionally, a movement which carried a few to their old highs for the year. All the standard issues joined in the rise, including Santa Fe adjustment 4s, Consolidated Gas 5½s, Cincinnati Gas 4s, Chicago Station 4½s, Kansas Gas 4½s, Newark Gas 5s, Union Pacific first 4s, New York Gas 5s, Michigan Central 3½s, Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington 4½s, and Shell Union 5s.

German Bonds Strong.

Not the least interesting development in the balance of the market was the strong demand for German bonds, notably Dawes 7s. This market took its lead from London where, earlier in the day, the 7s advanced sharply. Interest payments to foreign holders have been arranged and only the dollar portion of the loan is in doubt. Interest is due next Monday.

Other foreign bonds were strong, notably South Americans. Serbian 8s made further sharp recovery. Milan 6½s were one exception to the general trend.

Timken Roller Bearing.

Investors' Guide: I am writing for some information on Timken Roller Bearing.—K. W. D.

Answer: Timken Roller Bearing company is the world's largest company specializing in the manufacture of tapered roller bearings. The product finds its greatest use in the automobile industry and Timken furnishes every automobile manufacturer, except General Motors, with bearings.

Recent years have been featured by aggressive development work in adapting its products to the needs of other industries. Considerable success has been achieved. In 1929, for instance, the company constructed a hundred freight cars and a special locomotive, all Timken equipped, primarily for experimental purposes. Despite the stringent economies practiced by railroads during the last five years, by March 31, 1934, there were 462 locomotives and 1,700 passenger cars equipped with Timken bearings. An even broader market is expected with the more general use of high speed light weight trains.

The company has become one of the world's leading producers of electric and alloy steel. It uses about half of its production for manufacture of its own products.

Earnings generally tend to fluctuate with the activity of the most important customers, automobile manufacturers. Net income for the first half of 1934, a period when automobile construction was booming and when industry in general was expanding, was $2,576,000, or $1.07 per share, about four times net income of $653,000, or 27 cents a share, for the first half of 1933.

Net income for 1933 was $2,173,000, or 90 cents a share, against loss of $483,000 for 1932. Net income for 1931 equaled $1.07 per share, against $3.12 in 1930.

Current position at the close of 1933 was strong, with cash assets alone about ten times total current liabilities. Capitalization is represented solely by 2,411,380 shares of no par stock on which dividends of 25 cents a quarter are currently being paid. The stock deserves a fairly good rating.

Stock Sale Abroad.

Investors' Guide: I am an American citizen and own twenty shares of International Nickel of Canada, a Canadian corporation. (1) Will it be possible for me to sell this stock and receive payment in Canadian currency? (2) Likewise, if I owned shares in a British company, would it be possible to sell and receive payment in British money?—J. M. A.

Answer: (1) Yes, by shipping the stock to a broker in Canada and requesting him to remit the proceeds of the sale to you in Canadian funds.

(2) Yes, by shipping the stock to a broker in Great Britain and requesting him to remit the proceeds of the sale in pounds sterling.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet today and no sales were reported. Store Cubas were available at 2.95c, with indications that bids of less would be accepted, but refiners continued to hold aloof.

Futures were steady, particularly the more distant positions, on increased commission house buying, the market closing net unchanged to 3 points higher. Sales were 13,200 tons.

The government report estimating the domestic production of sugar beets for the 1934-'35 crop at 7,550,000 short tons, which compared with 11,030,000 tons last year, was about in line with expectations and had no apparent influence. On the basis of the government report the trade figured the beet sugar crop would probably amount to 1,004,000 tons of refined, compared with last year's production of 1,466,000 long tons. Prices:

Sept.	1.94	1.94	1.94	1.94	1.93

In refined a better inquiry was reported for over the week-end adjournment, but prices were unchanged at 4.65c for fine granulated.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Coffee was higher today with sharp advances registered in the late trading on covering due to strength of other markets and easiness of the dollar in foreign exchange. Quiet conditions in the spot market had little apparent influence. Santos opened 2 to 5 points higher and closed 17 to 19 higher. Sales, 15,000 bags. No. 7 opened 2 to 9 points higher and closed 19 to 27 points higher. Sales, 6,000 bags. Prices:

PLAN NORTH SIDE SURVEY IN HOME REPAIR PROGRAM

Many Organizations Will Aid Campaign.

BY AL CHASE.

A house to house canvass throughout the entire north side to find what properties need repair and to acquaint the owners with the possibilities of borrowing under the national housing act program, was announced yesterday by F. J. Lapin, of 5924 North Paulina street, chairman of the Building Recovery committee for the north side.

At a meeting today members of the committee will map plans for coöperation with the Chicago committee of the Federal Housing Administration's better housing program for modernization and repair of homes.

Many Clubs Represented.

Included on the north side housing committee are representatives of the Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary and other service clubs, the North Clark Business Men's association, the Lincoln Square Business Men's association, the Uptown Business association and women's clubs and civic organizations.

A group of real estate men, contractors and builders will meet today to outline a program to be carried out at a meeting next Tuesday at the Wilson Y. M. C. A., Wilson and Hermitage avenues, in organizing for a neighborhood campaign.

Director to Speak.

The following week there will be a public meeting at the same place, at which Percy Wilson, regional director for FHA and various civic leaders, will speak. At this meeting, according to Howard J. White, chairman of the Chicago committee, various committees will be appointed and actually get the house to house canvass of the north side under way.

The Heitman Trust company announced last night that a survey it has just completed shows that of the 2,213 units operated by it, which includes stores, hotels, and apartments, 95 per cent is rented. Collections are much steadier with a trend to higher rentals, according to R. H. Droege of that concern.

I. C. C. SETS DATES FOR HEARINGS ON RAIL RATE BOOST

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Print cloths were in slightly better demands and other gray cloths showed some improvement today. Prices held steady. Finished goods were quiet. Men's wear were bought in small lots. Dress goods and coatings continued quiet. Rayon yarns for November sold moderately and spot sales were more frequent. Silk velvets were in fair call. Satins and taffetas also sold to cutters. Burlaps were quiet and firm.

MUNICIPAL BOND NOTES

A new issue of $250,000 Suffolk county [N. Y.] bonds, issued to finance emergency relief, dated Oct. 1, and due serially from 1936 to 1944, was awarded yesterday to Lazard Freres & Co., Inc., and the First of Michigan corporation at a price of 100.045 for the securities at 2.60 per cent bonds. Reoffering to the public is being made at prices to yield from 1.40 per cent to 2.70 per cent.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil was strong, closing 25 to 36 points net higher today. Sales were 235 contracts, largest in many days. Record consumption for any month and stronger tallow and greases and higher crude oil led to active covering and increased buying by refining interests and commission houses. The government report placed the consumption in September at 435,455 brls, against 402,405 in August and 238,503 in September last year. Bleachable spot nominal; October closed 8.25c; December, 8.33c; January, 8.34c; March 8.47c; May, 8.63c.

YOUTH IMMUNE TO DEPRESSION, ELDERS HARMED

Insurance Leader Cites Effect on Health.

American youth has come through the depression with health unimpaired, but the older adult population of this country cannot "take it," according to the address of Dr. Henry W. Cook, vice president and medical director of Northwestern National Life Insurance company, at the fourth session of the American Life convention at the Edgewater Beach hotel yesterday.

"During the seven years from 1927 to 1933," he said, "the mortality ratio increased from 51 to 60 per cent. Many men suffer under financial reverses a serious, often an irrevocable break in morale, especially at ages 45 and over. Some drink to excess, some speculate or become dishonest, others become despondent and some take up questionable or illegal occupations. In any case, their insurability is adversely affected.

Old Age Diseases Increase.

"Although infectious diseases of childhood and young adult life have declined strikingly during the present century, the degenerative diseases have as steadily increased. More babies outlive their expectancy, but fewer men of 40 and over do. More and more of the latter are showing on insurance examination high blood pressure, impaired hearts, albuminuria, and similar ailments."

In view of the outlook for reduced return on life insurance investments, due to the plethora of cheap money, and the unfavorable outlook for reduced operating expenses, Dr. Cook urged that the high standards of insurability set by the companies be not relaxed, since the companies will have to look more and more towards mortality savings for profit.

E. M. McConney, vice president and actuary of Bankers Life company, deplored the recent tendency to "harass insurance companies" by heavier taxation and attempts to impair their investments.

Loss Falls on Policyholders.

"The resulting loss by such procedure," he said, "falls on the ordinary citizen who already is struggling to make some provision for his family so that they may not become a charge upon the community. Such losses do not fall on the life companies as corporations, for the companies are only the aggregation of their policyholders, but they fall upon the policyholders in the form of lower returns on their policies, less safety for their dependents and even, possibly, entire loss."

Mr. McConney pointed out that the life insurance companies do not represent the savings of "opulent magnates," but are the properties of the small, everyday policyholders.

HOG PRICES SINK AS SUPPLY RISES; CATTLE ADVANCE

Swine Average Is Lowest Since Aug. 15.

Hog prices sank again yesterday as receipts increased at some of the principal packing centers. The run at Chicago at 17,000 exceeded the advance estimate, and compared with 12,332 the previous Thursday, while the receipts at the eleven leading markets totaled 62,000, an increase of 10,000 over a week ago and 14,000 more than a year ago.

Packers were slow in starting buying. The bulk of trading occurred on the late afternoon rounds and showed fully 10 cents loss compared with the average of Wednesday. Only a scattering of sales of selected lights and a few sows held in line with the previous session. Selected 230 to 250 pound butchers cost packers a top of $8.40, including the $2.25 processing tax to the federal government, which left $6.15 for the farmer.

Average Lowest Since Aug. 15.

Of the $7.65 to $8.35 paid for the bulk, farmers obtained $5.40 to $6.10. Packers' droves averaged $8 including the tax, the lowest average since Aug. 15.

Buyers were not satisfied with the action of the wholesale pork trade, and smaller interests in the hog market were particularly cautious. The price of fresh pork has not changed materially in several days, but offerings have been light.

A report that one of the large packers had agreed to fill a huge British order for hams on a price basis that would return only $5.50 to the farmer for his hogs has been construed as extremely bearish by some in the trade, but a representative of the packing house explained that the contract was for "pork legs" from underweight hogs weighing 110 to 150 pounds which now are returning the farmers only $3.75 to $5.25.

Cattle Prices Move Up.

The cattle market staged an about-face, ending several days' decline. Prices rose 15 cents to 25 cents on slightly reduced receipts, with the clearance the best in several weeks. Some plain quality stock was rather slow in some instances, but generally the improvement included all branches of the market. Many buyers took the lower priced stock, determined to hold down live costs despite the generally higher prices.

Few of the well fattened steers arrived and these sold quickly, mostly in small lots, at $9.00 and above. No full carloads brought more than $9.10, paid for weighty beeves, although two prime heavy steers sold at $10.25. The run of steers consisted largely of the kinds bringing $6.00 to $9.00.

Lamb prices were elevated 15 cents to 25 cents, with the undertone to the trade decidedly better than it has been. Selected natives to city butchers and packers reached $6.75, this price also getting the top grades of range lambs for the packers. The latter bought the bulk of natives at $6.65 and below.

PRICES OF LARD FUTURES ADVANCE 2½ TO 5 CENTS

Strength in grains and in cottonseed oil, the latter selling at a new high for the season, was largely responsible for a higher level for provisions yesterday. Weakness in hogs and reports of a slower cash demand checked the bulge but the close was at net gains of 2½ cents to 5 cents on lard, while bellies were unchanged to 25 cents higher. Cash lard closed at $9.27; loose at $9.32 and leaf at $9.37 while bellies remained at $13.35. Prices follow:

Inflation talk was the dominating influence in cotton yesterday. With increased speculative and trade buying prices advanced sharply and, while the finish was slightly under the best figures, gains of around $1.25 per bale were recorded at the close. At the extreme the market showed nearly $2.50 per bale above the lowest figure on Wednesday.

The continent and the far east were also aggressive on the buying side at times. Hedging pressure was light a good part of the day and selling came mainly from profit taking longs. Closing trades were at net gains of 22 to 25 points in Chicago and 18 to 27 points in other markets. Spot cotton closed 25 points higher, with New Orleans 12.75 cents; Galveston and Houston, 12.70 cents, and New York, 12.65 cents per pound. Prices follow:

BUTTER AND EGG FUTURES ADVANCE ¼ TO ⅝ CENTS

Butter and egg futures moved higher on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, losing part of opening gains, but closed ¼ to ⅝ cents higher.

Inflationary talk and the upturn in stock and grain prices brought in buying of butter and eggs. Butter remained rather quiet, although December eggs struck 21⅝ cents, the year's high, but dropped back under profit taking later. Toward the close buying in eggs showed a tendency to improve. The four markets reported a net into storage movement of butter. The egg withdrawals totaled nearly 28,000 cases.

of the many advantages of living here is the 15 minute train service to the Loop. No crowded, strap-hanging cars. Go downtown in comfort via North Western Railroad.
When a cold keeps you in bed a trained masseur and light therapy operator is sent to you; hot lemonade goes to your room; everything possible is done to make you comfortable and put you back on your feet. It's just one of those extra things, including full membership privileges, use of gym, pool, etc., that you get when you live here. 1-2 rooms, modern, some furnished in true Colonial style. Cafeteria, barber shop. Parking space. Intersting activities.
